FARMERS DECRY CHANGE

MUTUAL INSURANCE LAW IS SATISFACTORY NOW.
Fire Relief Association Also Favors Good Roads and Text Books Made by State.
The Farmers' Mutual Fire Relief Association of Oregon went on record yesterday at its annual meeting in Logans Hall, Grand avenue and East Washington street, against any change in the present insurance laws of the state and against the bills pending in the Legislature. Herman Leeding, the secretary, declared that there was no demand for any change and that whatever change was made would be expensive to the mutual insurance companies. H. W. Sussall, president, also spoke against proposed insurance legislation. A resolution expressing the sentiment of the association will be sent to Governor West.

The association adopted a resolution favoring the proposed legislation on the school book question. It was set forth that the present method of handling the school book question in Oregon is "wrong, inequitable, and a heavy burden on the taxpayers," and, as the proposed plan is to permit the printing of the text books by the state, the association declared itself in favor of the change.
In the interest of good roads in Oregon the association adopted unanimously a resolution favoring the employment of convicts. It was declared that the present method of farming out the convicts in the penitentiary was wrong and tended to bring convict labor into competition with free labor.
Secretary Leeding's financial report showed that in 1909 the association had $2,485.59 in insurance on the homes of farmers in the state. Last year there was written $988,212, in new business and renewals, making a total of $2,345,115. By expiration of policies this amount was reduced by $259,641 to $2,085,474. The income including a balance of $1199 was given as $563,34, and the expenses $328,15, leaving a balance of $235,19 on hand.
President Sussall said that the association could now issue policies above $2500, as the association had now $8,000,000 in insurance, but that the directors had decided to adhere to the $2000 limit for the sake of prudence.
The following directors were elected: H. W. Sussall, five years; Fred Gronow, four years; Andrew Brunger, three years; A. J. Fanno, two years; C. H.

BLANCHARD, ONE YEAR. WITHIN 10 DAYS THE DIRECTORS WILL MEET AND ELECT A PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY-TREASURER.

FENDER REBATE OFFERED

Makers Make Price of $62 When Full Equipment Is Taken.
Through City Auditor Barbur, the American Automatic Fender Company offered to compromise its price of fenders with the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, which recently applied to the City Council to add it in getting low rates for the device. The offer of the company was made through its attorney, S. B. Huston. When the Nelson automatic fender, which is manufactured by the American Automatic Fender Company, was chosen by the Council for streets of this city, the manufacturers agreed to furnish the fenders to the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company for $62.50 each. When the company later wanted to buy 300 of the fenders at that price, the manufacturers said that if fewer than the entire number needed for the city was to be purchased, the price would be $75 each. The compromise offered by Mr. Huston is as follows:
"We hereby submit the following as a modification of the prices heretofore quoted: Five hundred fenders, $250 each; 200 fenders, $75 each, with the proviso that when a subsequent order is given for the equipment of the remainder of the air cars of the system of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, the entire number, including the 200 first purchased, will be sold for $62 each."

SCIENCE IS SECOND HAND

Oregon to Benefit by Experiments Made in Washington.
In explaining why Oregon has no representatives in certain fields of agricultural endeavor from the United States Department of Agriculture, Senators Bourne and Chamberlain, in a joint letter to C. C. Chapman, manager of the promotion committee of the Commercial Club, say that representatives of the department detailed to the State of Washington are working along lines of experimentation which will be of benefit to Oregon.
No explanation is given why Washington happens to have the representatives instead of Oregon. The inference from the letter is that Oregon should be satisfied to receive the benefit of the researches of the department scientists second hand.

IMPULSES IN CONFLICT

MR. COTTON POINTS TO FLAWS IN LEGISLATION.
Damage Verdicts Unchanged, Criminal Cases Subject to Review, Under New Tendency.

Personal reminiscences of the "other fellow," given by T. B. Wilcox and William D. Wheelwright, an address in behalf of railroads and frowning upon adverse legislation by W. W. Cotton, a discussion of advertising values by H. M. Haller, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and one on "Our Water," by Ernest W. Hardy, were features of the noonday luncheon of the Portland Ad Club yesterday.
Mr. Wheelwright told the life history of Mr. Wilcox, and Mr. Wilcox gave the biography of Mr. Wheelwright. Many amusing incidents were told.
Mr. Cotton, general counsel of the Harriman system in this section, pointed out that "ad" men could be of value by educating the masses in the direction of legislation which would favor the investment of capital in railway stocks and bonds.
"The efforts to restrict the earning power of railroads by reducing freight rates," said the speaker, "and by fixing the physical valuation of railroads, permitting only a certain per cent on that sum, to my judgment, is the one danger point of this country. It destroys the attractiveness of the investment, for it possibly insures a return for the money in good times and leaves the investor the care of himself in bad years."
"The initiative amendment, recently adopted, provides for a verdict which shall be unchanged, regardless of the facts in personal damage cases, while in criminal cases the sentence may be changed by the court of final resort, no matter what the crime or the fact. It is this feature of contrary impulses which may give our laws a reputation objectionable to investors."
Harvey O'Bryan acted as toastmaster, while David N. Mossesohn, president of the club, presided at the business session. Committees were appointed for the ensuing year.
Picture Men Want More Time.
Owners of a number of moving picture shows conferred with Mayor Simon, Fire Marshal Roberts, Fire Chief Campbell and J. F. O'Shea, chairman of the fire committee of the Executive Board, yesterday in the Mayor's office. A request was made for more time in which to allow the shows to conform with the new building ordi-

MACADAM BOULEVARD PLAN

Clatsop Wants Fine Auto Road From Portland to Seaside.
Edward C. Judd, County Judge of Clatsop County, who was present at the meeting of the Oregon Good Roads Association in the Beck building Tuesday night, said Clatsop County citizens want a macadamized automobile road from Portland to Seaside by way of Clatskanie, Mist and Astoria. A meeting of the commercial bodies of Clatskanie is to be held today.
L. R. Webster, ex-County Judge of Multnomah County, returned from Salem last night in time to attend the meeting of the association. He is hopeful of the passage of all five of the good roads bills, and particularly of what is known as the state aid bill, which was introduced in the House by Representative Bigelow, of Multnomah.
Phil S. Bates was appointed by the association to lobby for the five bills at the Salem Legislature. J. S. Beall sent word to the association that he intended the appointment of Mr. Bates to lobby for the association, and that if the association did not see fit to pay him for his time, Mr. Beall would do so. Judge Webster will also remain in Salem to see the bills through.
A good roads' day is to be arranged for, and a special train will be chartered to take the members of the association to Salem.

WOMAN DRAGGED BY AUTO

Driver of Machine Says Heavy Veil Caused Accident.
Caught between two automobiles at Washington and East streets, yesterday morning, Miss Clara Smith, living at 504 Knott street, was knocked down and dragged the width of the street by an automobile driven by a son of H. W. Manning, proprietor of the Manning Lighting Company, 228 Washington street.
Miss Smith, though severely shocked, was not seriously injured, and was taken to her home by the driver who had struck her. Her clothing was torn.
Young Manning declared that he was going about eight miles an hour. He said that Miss Smith started across the street with her head muffled in a heavy veil, narrowly missed being run down by another automobile, and was struck by his machine before he could avoid the collision.

CANNERY MEN PROTEST

CLOSING OF ROGUE TO FISHING MAY BE RUINOUS.
Hume Interests Would Make Compromise With Members of Fish Protective Association.
MEDFORD, Or., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—In order to effect a possible compromise with the members of the Rogue River Fish Protection Association, who favored an initiative bill closing the Rogue River to commercial fishing at the last election, Herbert Hume, nephew of the late R. D. Hume, and manager of the Hume estate, and Ivan Humason, of Portland, who recently purchased the interests of several of the heirs, arrived in this city today.
They base their contention that the river should be reopened, on the ground that its closing has meant practically the confiscation of their canneries at the mouth of the river.
"We are willing," said Mr. Humason, "to stop fishing for steelheads and only fish for salmon. The latter are valueless to the sportsman. We are willing to shorten the season and to live up to any requirements necessary rather than to allow our plants, which mean an investment of several hundred thousand dollars, to remain idle."
"We will turn our Elk Creek hatchery over to the association to be used as a trout hatchery, if they will accept it, and instead of refrigerating steelheads for the Eastern market, we will assist to protect them."
"We will agree to anything within reason and are of the belief that had the people of Oregon known when they voted the river closed, that they were ruining an established industry and three thriving communities, Gold Beach and Wedderburn, they would have looked at the matter differently."
Members of the Fish Association say that before they passed the initiative measure all their efforts to protect the steelheads were laughed at by the late R. D. Hume, and charge him with having defeated the measure when first presented to the Legislature.

ROADS TOPIC AT BANQUET

Automobile Club to Discuss Important Function Tonight.
The members of the Portland Automobile Club will be regaled tomorrow night at a banquet at the Commercial Club, and more than 250 of the 500 members have accepted invitations to be present.
The banquet arrangements are in the hands of a committee consisting of Julius L. Meier, M. C. Dickinson, Frank Branch Riley and W. B. Mackay. The banquet is to be marked by addresses by prominent officials and citizens, as well as by members of the club, and the chief topic of discussion will be good roads, the subject of the utmost interest to all automobile owners.
Governor West, County Judge Cleaton, Theodore B. Wilcox, C. S. Jackson and others will address the gathering on road building and the means to secure it. Interspersed with the speaking there will be motion pictures of the automobile races held recently at Palm Beach, Fla., and other places.
