WOMEN ARE SCORED

Miss Pankhurst Denounces Jury Duty Shirkers.

WESTERN INCIDENT BASIS

Suffragette Thinks Chicago Police Are More Intelligent Than Those of London and She Does Not Expect Arrest.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Miss E. Sylvia Pankhurst, one of the leaders of suffragettes and in the "votes for women" fight in England, today in emphatic terms censured the group of Western women who recently refused to serve on a jury when called upon to do so, declaring they were not entitled to the franchise if they considered their privilege to vote so small a matter as to refuse to do their duty.

"By refusing to carry out the principles involved in the matter of jury duty," said Miss Pankhurst, "the women made a great mistake and have contributed much to furthering the prejudice with which the suffragists' cause is viewed by men in all parts of this country. We've never had the privilege of serving on juries in our country, but I am positive that if any of the exponents of the suffrage cause in England were called for that duty, they would serve with pleasure to show that their judgment was as good as the men's."

"Do you expect to be arrested in Chicago, or are you merely feeling your way?"

"Oh, as to that," replied the young woman from London, "I anticipate that the Chicago police will display more intelligence than the London police does. I do not expect to be arrested. Certainly, I shall do nothing to warrant arrest. I have never done anything of that sort, you know."

Miss Pankhurst is touring the United States to advance the cause of woman's suffrage and plans to meet prominent women who have taken up the crusade for feminine voting. In addition to suffrage, she is interested in prison reform, because she has been in prison and does not hesitate to say that she may be in prison again.

Borah Says Direct Election of Senators Is Cure.

DEADLOCKS ON INCREASE

They Unite With Bribery as Fruit of Present System—Lorimer Scandal in Illinois Glaring Example of Evil Results.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—"In some 14 instances states have gone without full representation in the Senate because of deadlocks in the Legislatures," said Borah, of Idaho, in the Senate today, supporting the resolution providing for the popular election of United States Senators. "In other instances," he said, "bribery and corruption and scandal have attached to the sessions."

"It is not alone that direct and open bribery sometimes prevails; but that which is equally bad more often prevails—bills and measures are traded upon or killed; the public interest is sacrificed, or actually bartered away; patronage and office enter into the deal and the whole affair becomes a disgrace and is of itself sufficient condemnation of the present system."

The Senator specially cited the contests in Pennsylvania in 1900; in Maryland in 1904, and in Missouri in 1905.

"Prior to 1872," he declared, "we had but one case of alleged election bribery connected with a seat on this floor. Since that time we have had 10, to say nothing of a number of investigations before State Legislatures which never reached this body."

Illinois Is "Horrible Example."

Borah referred to the present Senatorial investigation of the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois as an illustration of the "vice of the system under which we now elect Senators."

"If there is any state in which the present system might be fairly tested," he said, "it ought to be in Illinois. No commonwealth is better fitted in tradition, in pride of history, in the jus-

...and manhood of her people, to meet and discharge the duties which properly pertain to the state. Yet her prominence now and during the last year is not due to her industrial prowess, but to that scandal and shame which has been fastened upon her by reason of a Senatorial election."

Borah concluded with an appeal for a popular vote and the "open forum upon which beats the fierce light of public opinion."

Supplementing Borah's speech, Clapp said that by making the Senatorial question an issue in legislative elections the people of the country already had taken into their hands the election of Senators to as great an extent as the Constitution would permit them. This course he accepted as an indication of the popular will and he predicted that if the opportunity should ever be given them, they would manifest their interest in an unmistakable way.

"If they get their chance, no power on earth can prevent them from adopting the popular election system," he said. "The impetus is absolutely irresistible and why should the Senate need to stem a tide so clearly in the interest of popular government?"

Ecuador Evades Hague Tribunal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Ecuador prefers to make another attempt to settle her long-standing boundary dispute with Peru by direct negotiations instead of through appeal to The Hague Tribunal, as suggested by Argentina, Brazil and the United States. Advice received by the State Department indicate that Ecuador is demurring to the suggestion. Peru already had indicated its willingness to submit the boundary controversy to The Hague for settlement.
