TARIFF DEBATED BY JACKSON CLUB

Single Tax Suggested as Revenue Producer When Duties Are Removed.

AUDIENCE TAKES PART

Speakers Warned Not to Take Too Much Credit for Democratic Victories-Tom Johnson Only Real Free Trader.

Advocates of the single tax predominated in the debate at the Jackson Club smoker last night in the convention hall of the Medical building, when the question was "Free Trade versus Tariff for Revenue Only." The debate Tariff for Revenue Only." The debate extended to the audience. The debating teams consisted of H. D. Wagnon, singletaxer: H. E. McKay, free trader, and A. D. Cridge, single taxer, for the free trade side. On the "revenue" side were F. G. Whitten, Dr. A. G. Bettman and G. W. Alen. The speakers from and G. W. Allen. The speakers from the audience, who seemed to think that the debate was getting upon dangerous ground and desired to stem the tide, were J. Hennessy Murphy, J. B. Carr and C. L. Daggett.

H. D. Wagnon opened the debate and canrenged the spinion that any sort of expressed the opinion that any sort of tariff was a "vicious, barbarous rob-bery perpetrated upon the common people." There is no system," said the speaker, "which has been devised by man which is more cruel, more effective in the creation and festering of crime than the tariff. We Americans are fools. It is admitted by all economists of recognized worth. As certain as fate unless we atop in this march of creating millionaires through the aid of the robbing tariff the end will be marchy and ruin to our Republic."

Johnson Only Free Trader.

A. D. Cridge declared that there had only been one real free trader in the United States Congress, and that was Tom Johnson, of Cleveland. He introduced the only real tariff measure in the bill which read: "All tariff duties imposed are hereby repealed," said Mr.

R. E. McKay said the tariff took the money out of the pockets of the poor to make millionaires. He could not see the justice in a tariff, he said, which protected the manufacturer and brought the foreign laborer over to this country duty free to take the jobs of Ameri-

The debaters favoring tariff for revenue said that the Democratic party had allis National platforms. No National plank could be found in the entire history of the party which declared for free trade. The point was then raised by the opponents of free trade: "How are we going to raise revenue to conduct the lossermant without leaving traces." Government without levying Import du-

"Democrats did not win the last election," said the speaker. "De not take too much credit to yourselves. All that

Single Tax Advocated.

H. D. Wagnon closed the debate and was interrupted by several points of order and by G. W. Allea, who declared that the speaker was insuling the intelligence of the Democrats present by indulging in personalities. Mr. Wagnon replied to the question how revenues could be raised by declaring that single tax was the only true and ideal method and that he believed that it would come in the near future.

"Democrats who come here with apolo-gles to Republicans," said the speaker, "and defend the existence of the tarif, "bould join the Republicans in their iniquitous and damnable scheme of robbing the people."

Mr. Wagnon was frequently interpripted. It was announced that Henry George, Jr., of New York, would soon come to Oregon and that during his stay here he would give one of his talks upon free trade, although the other speeches would be upon the single tax.
