Foreseeing Certain Defeat in First Joint Ballot, Smith Releases Friends From Pledge-Martine but One Vote Short.

This was within one vote of a majority of the total membership of both houses and it was freely predicted Mr. Martine would easily have had a majority in tomorrow's joint meeting. TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 24 .- The con

HOG RAISING IS URGED

D. O. LIVELY SAYS OREGON IS NEGLECTING OPPORTUNITY.

Farmers of State Told They Can Make Large Dividends by Promoting This Industry.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—That a big opportunity is being overlooked by the farmers of Oregon in their failure to produce meat animals, was the opinion of D. O. Lively, general manager of the Portland Stockyards, expressed in a lecture to the short-course students here this week. Mr. Lively said in part:

"Millons of money are annually sent into the Missouri Valley states for hogs, sheep and cattle, as well as for dressed meats with which to supply the meats with which to supply the need of the Northwest for meat. This supof the Northwest for heat the sup-ply could more economically be pro-duced in Oregon. The belief that meat animals cannot be produced without corn is fallacious. Other grains and grasses which flourish here are capable of producing meat animals at a great-er profit than occurs to producers in corn states.

"During the year ending September 30, the hogs sold in Portland brought an average of $10.35 per hundred. There an average of $10.35 per hundred. There is little cause to fear that people will lose their appetite for pork, mutton and beef. Chopped alfalfa is good stock feed, but not adapted to the appetite of the American neople, and meat will continue to be the popular food it now is.

On Monday of last week the Portland On Monday of last week the Portland stockyards handled $90,000 worth of stock; had them bought by noon and weighed and paid for by 3 P. M. This could be duplicated any day and every day were the animals forthcoming.
