

CAPE OF ICE 5 HOURS

Steamer Tahoma Held at Big Eddy Until Shifting of Cargo Releases Her.

CAPTAIN TAKES CHANCE

Sudden Burst of Speed Ahead Lands Vessel on Frozen Body Which Looked Soft—Boat Is Backed Into Deep Water.

Held in the ice five hours and only escaping after a difficult task that involved shifting of its freight and all sorts of maneuvering was the steamer Tahoma at the Big Eddy. The plight of the craft was narrated yesterday by Captain Buchanan, of the Oregon River Transportation Company, for which the vessel is operating pending overhauling of the J. N. Tow.

"I saw the Columbia blocked with ice from the Big Eddy to Covington's Point, and there is considerable ice in coves floating in the river," said Captain Buchanan. "It was thought that the Tahoma could get through the Big Eddy without much trouble, and on seeing the ice pack the captain assumed from his appearance that it was soft. He signaled for the heavy steam and took a flying start, which landed the Tahoma on the ice. By changing the position of the vessel's heavy freight and backing hard it finally slid into the water.

High Bridge Is Time-Saver.

Since the completion of the Hawthorne-avenue bridge steamers of the Oregon City Transportation Company have been unable to pass beyond the particular straits only on an occasional. That was when the freshet of a week ago reached its highest point. There are other steamers that reach the upper harbor without signaling for the Hawthorne lift, and more of them could avert such delay. It is said, if their masters would ascertain the clearance.

SPORTING BRIEVITIES

TOM WILLIAMS and his cohorts down California way are "literally" sweeping and waiting and gnashing their teeth for the California legislature has tied the "tin-can" to their bang tail game. The handwriting was on the wall some years ago, but Tom and his pals failed to notice it.

Tommy Tennant has returned to San Francisco after playing winter ball in the South, but Tommy did not play by signing up for 1911. Tommy believes in taking his time in money matters, and he is diplomatic in not saying whether the figures suit him or not.

The reason Hapless Hogan has been so quiet this winter is that he is waiting for the Chicago Nationals, manager of the Chicago Nationals, from whom Hapless expects to receive several players. With a couple of embryo "Cubs," Hogan is confident he can land the bunting this season.

Lou Mahaffey, the former first baseman of the "champs" of 1901, and later an umpire, has left for Mexico, where he is to help a friend install a big manufacturing plant. Mahaffey is a rough and has had a rough contract, according to Portland friends.

There ought to be considerable excitement around the Armory Sunday afternoon when the Portland Beavers wintering here meet the Spaldings, champions of the indoor baseball League, in a game of indoor ball on the Armory floor. Buddy Ryan, Bill Rappa, Greg, Steen, Case, Ort, Fisher and Menor of the champion Beavers, are scheduled to play against the Spaldings.

Commenting on Bill Steen's anxiety for the season to open the San Francisco Globe says "Bill was not such a guide he will find that Steen worked in about twice as many games as any San Francisco twirler except Henley."

Jack Grant's popularity as a referee is again shown, for he has been asked to referee the bout between Jack Lester and Denver Ed Martin scheduled to take place at Tacoma next Wednesday night. Grant is one of the best referees on the Pacific Coast, and his judgment as third man in the arena can always be depended upon.

TRAINING QUARTERS WRECKED

Storm Demolishes Covered Track at University of Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The winter training quarters of the university athletes, consisting of a covered track, track and vaulting and jumping sheds, were destroyed by a storm early yesterday morning. To this covered track, however, several of the best athletes of Dan Kelly, Oliver Huston, Nelson, Gammons and other famous Oregon athletes. It is said the wooden pavilion was covered with snow and not with "greenhouse" will be built to shelter the aspiring freshman athletes from the winter elements.

BEAVERS PLAY INDOORS

Buddy Ryan Has Team for Game with Spaldings.

Professional Nine to Challenge Entire Northwest—First Match Next Sunday.

Buddy Ryan has finally gathered together his crowd of Beavers who are to play indoor baseball for the present winter, and last night he met with the manager of the G. Spalding team, which recently won the indoor championship of the city, and the two clubs will cross bats at the Armory Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Ryan has decided to call his team the Beavers, and if they are successful against the Spaldings Sunday they will challenge any indoor team in the Northwest. The Beavers will have all the Portland champions, including Williams, in the lineup, and Jimmy Adams, of the Vancouver Northwestern League Club, and Al Lerch, of the Tri-City League, will help him. Ryan is practicing and Bill Rappa and Gus Fisher, who have been stopping his shoots, say he throws like a cannon ball.

The Spalding team has made an enviable record at the indoor game this winter, for that club has won 11 out of the 12 games played, and won the championship of the indoor league by a wide margin. Henderson, the cleverest of the local indoor baseball pitchers, will be in the box for the Spaldings against the Beavers, and he is confident of being able to fool Buddy Ryan's sluggers who won the Pacific Coast championship at the outdoor game.

The team will line up as follows: Ryan, pitcher; Position, A. G. Spaldings, Gus Fisher, C. C. ... B. Beagle, Van Gregg, ... P. Pembroke, Eddie Miller, ... M. Masir, Jimmy Adams, ... W. Beagle, Pearl Casey, ... C. Conroy, Bill Steen, ... C. McNeil, Red Ryan, ... M. McNeil, Al Lerch, ... M. McNeil.

RATES TO BE LOW

Railroads to Reduce Fares in Tourist Season.

MANY VISITORS COMING

Local Officials to Ask Special Charges for Rose Festival, Esperanto and Christian Church Conventions.

Reductions in passenger rates to the Rose Carnival in June, the Christian Church convention in July and to the Esperanto congress later in the year, as well as the usual concessions to colonists and tourist traffic will be sought at the annual meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association at Chicago, to attend which William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Company, will leave Portland this morning.

Mr. McMurray also will make efforts to secure the customary routing of California tourists through this city and to have stopover privileges granted them that they may visit Portland and other points in Oregon.

Special Work Outlined.

He will direct his energy especially toward securing this concession for delegates to the National Education Association and the National Sunday school convention which will be held in San Francisco during the coming Summer. The same of both organizations will have made application to have their tickets issued with liberal stopovers in Portland.

It is likely that reductions in rates will be granted for the Rose Festival on all lines entering Portland as well as on all connecting lines west of Chicago. The general Portland to annual card of both organizations will be issued by the Pacific Coast line, and the railroads realize that this is one of the greatest revenue-producers in which they have the opportunity to increase.

The Christian Church convention, which is scheduled for July 4 to 12, will attract at least 10,000 visitors to the city, according to the estimates of local officials of that denomination. A temporary auditorium will be constructed to accommodate the visitors, who will come from all parts of the United States. A reduction for this occasion virtually has been promised.

The third special event for which Mr. McMurray will ask low rates is the North American Esperanto Congress, the date for which meeting has not yet been set. Several thousand delegates are expected to attend this gathering.

No Trouble Foreseen.

No difficulty is anticipated in securing the usual colonists and tourist rates through co-operation with the Eastern roads. This reduction annually has resulted in the advent of thousands of people to Oregon and has been the means of causing many of these visitors to become permanent residents. In this connection Mr. McMurray will have the combined support of the passenger agents of all other roads entering the Northwest.

One of the principal items of business in which the entire Pacific Coast is interested is the plan to secure rates for the special excursion fares. An effort will be made to have such rates apply to all points west of the Cascades as well as to the west bound tourists.

The sessions of the passenger association will open next Monday, and may continue through the entire week.

In return for the concession which the Coast roads will ask some of the lines
