

ANNUAL ELECTION ROUSES CLUBMEN

Multnomah Members to Turn Out in Force to Choose New Directors.

NEW HOME PLANS ADVANCE

Elks Donate Quarters for Meeting on February 14—Big Campaign to Add Names to Membership Rolls to Be Commenced.

What promises to be the most interesting annual meeting ever held in the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club is scheduled to take place at the lodge rooms of the Portland Elks on the night of February 14, and at that time it is expected that almost the entire membership of the amateur organization will attend.

In addition to electing five new members of the board of trustees the clubmen will ratify the plans for the new home of the club, the erection of which will soon be under way, and the meeting will be in the nature of a grand rally, with the motto "A Bigger, Better and Grander Multnomah Club" as the slogan of all of the wearers of the winged "M" insignia.

Temporary Quarters Serve Ends.

The temporary quarters have served the purpose of keeping the clubmen together, for it affords them a place of meeting where they have been enabled to come in contact with each other, but the loss of the big gymnasium has curtailed the regular athletic exhibitions usually held at the organization. However, this drawback will only increase the interest of the clubmen in the future events to be held upon the completion of the new quarters.

As soon as the annual election is over and the new board of trustees elected officers for the ensuing year plans will be discussed for the "opening" programme of the new quarters, for the spirit of every member of this famous organization is for the making of the new home, and the members at the new club one of the memorable events in the history of Portland.

With this idea in view the members of the club are individually and collectively considering the ticket placed in the field by the nominating committee, and this time the clubmen will vote almost as a whole upon the offering. In the past elections Multnomah has usually had from 100 to 300 out of a membership of nearly 1400 present at the annual elections, and this year indications point to at least two-thirds of the club membership being present at the election on February 14. It is on account of the interest being shown in the new quarters arranged with the Portland Lodge No. 142 of Elks for the use of the lodge-rooms of that organization on election night, for the Elks' temple is commensurate enough to accommodate the entire membership of the Multnomah Club.

Plans Generally Approved.

The present board of trustees has done nobly in the matter of providing for the plans of the new quarters, and not a word of censure has been heard relative to the plans officially sanctioned. Every detail has been arranged carefully and the plans arranged in the time required by the directors have been submitted by Architects Whitehouse & Foulhoux and accepted by the board of trustees. With the acceptance of the plans the board has advertised for bids on the construction of the building and a number of bids have been received and will be opened at a special meeting of the board to be held Thursday.

When the contract is let the work of construction will start immediately, and it is hoped to have the new structure opened in July or August, which means that work will be rushed to completion at the earliest possible moment.

OREGON MAY ENTER MEET

Student Wrestlers Plan to Be in Amateur Championships.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—It is probable that the University of Oregon will have two or three entries in the Amateur Athletic Union championship wrestling meet to be held in Portland next March under the auspices of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club. Many of the best amateur mat artists in the country compete each year in this big tournament. Last year the meet was held in Chicago.

Trainer Hayward is developing material at the university which is considered high-class and it is his intention to reward those most efficient in the art with the permission to represent the university at the big Portland meet.

DUGDALE "STUNG" FOR $150

Player Bought from Kansas City Says He Will Not Report.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Orvall Woodruff, whose release Dugdale purchased from Kansas City when he was east a few months ago, will probably not report to Seattle and Dugdale has thus been "stung" for another $150.

Woodruff writes from Cincinnati, his home, that he has decided to go into business with his brother-in-law and will not play any more baseball. He may be bluffing at that, but Dugdale is taking no chances so he has picked up Dugdale from the St. Paul club to play third base. Dugdale must be a good performer for Manager Tighe says he would just as soon have him as Woodruff and he has seen both men play.

Jeffries Can't Box in Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—Jim Jeffries, who is due to arrive here on February 1, accompanied by Barney Oldfield, will not be permitted to carry out his plan of giving boxing exhibitions, according to a report that comes from the office of the Governor of the Federal District. Bars have been put up against prizefights and pugilistic exhibitions all over the country.

WASHINGTON SUFFRAGE LEADER WHO VISITS PORTLAND

MRS. MAY ARKRIGHT HUTTON.

AID PLAN ASSAILED

Mrs. Hutton, Suffragette, Says Oregon Needs No Help.

WOMEN URGED TO WORK

Spokane Fair Sex Leader Says Equal Rights Will Be Granted as Soon as Weaker Sex Asserts Demand for Votes.

Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton, of Spokane, president of the Washington Political Equality League, visited Portland on the morning of Jan. 29, and on the afternoon of that day she addressed the Washington Equal Suffrage Association, last night held at the Washington Hotel, where she outlined the movement of outsiders to assist women of Oregon to obtain the voting franchise.

"I believe in home rule," declared Mrs. Hutton. "The women of Washington obtained the ballot without outside assistance, influence or money. I believe the women of Oregon are equally capable of taking care of themselves. The women of Oregon will have the ballot when they make the proper effort themselves, and not until then. Outside assistance does not always reflect the sentiment at home, and for that reason, I believe in home rule. It is more satisfactory, more effective."

Mrs. Hutton arrived in the city yesterday and is staying at the Portland Hotel. She has been in Olympia for several days, lobbying in behalf of an eight-hour day for women and just came from Chehalis, where she investigated conditions and charges of brutality at the girls' reform school.

"The problem at the reform school is a difficult one," said Mrs. Hutton. "The officials admit that they administer corporal punishment when all other forms of discipline fail. While I think this method of punishment is a relic of barbarism, yet I would not condemn unless I had a remedy to offer. I frankly admit I do not know of a remedy. When a big, strong girl stands up and says 'I won't and mean it, what are you going to do about it?' The officials tell me that corporal punishment is the only remedy."

Mrs. Hutton was not inclined to talk politics. She said she came to Portland on a business mission and that there is nothing significant in the fact that Mrs. DeVoe is to arrive today for consultation with Oregon suffragists on the campaign that has already been launched to carry a bill for equal suffrage.

"The women of Washington are tired out with the two years' campaign we have been waging," said Mrs. Hutton, "and we want a rest. The Washington Political Equality League did a great deal of work in its own way and 1600 speeches were delivered last Fall under its auspices. As soon as we obtained votes our convention adjourned sine die. We have now organized with the Nonpartisan League, for the purpose of studying political questions in a proper manner and questions of interest to women."

"As everyone knows, the Washington women asked assistance from no outsiders. We conducted the campaign ourselves and I believe that is the secret of our success. Our organization has made no effort to tell the women of Oregon how to conduct their campaign, nor are we going to do so. We think the Oregon women are capable of taking care of their own affairs."

Going still deeper into the woman suffrage question, Mrs. Hutton declared that she does not believe in women holding offices at this time.

"We should make haste slowly," said Mrs. Hutton. "That is an old expression but it fits our cause just now. I think women should now devote their time to studying political questions and let the men hold offices until they become better acquainted with political, social, economic and industrial problems. Now that the ballot has suddenly come into our possession we should be careful how we use it. Women should study public questions, scatter the various political parties the same as men and become informed, while the men hold office. Let them cast their ballots for the political party in which they believe and for men they think are suitable candidates, instead of getting panic-stricken and running for office."

"The field of women has been broadened by equal suffrage and there are golden opportunities for the women of Washington to do a world of good for women with their ballots. For instance, we are talking all the time about conservation of coal and timber and the natural resources, but do you hear any talk about conservation of our girls? Conservation of girls. There is a field for women and we can do much along conservation in this line with our votes. That is why I have been staying in Olympia, lobbying for the passage of a bill prohibiting the employment of women more than eight hours. Physicians tell me that a girl who is employed in a position that requires her to stand and holds that position for two years cannot become a mother. Is this condition of affairs race suicide? It certainly is, and the women can remedy it by studying these questions and using their ballots to elect men and carry measures that will abolish such a system.

Among some of the new things Mrs. Hutton brings to the surface of the woman suffrage movement is the announcement that she is a Socialist, or nearly one.

"One of these days this country is going to wake up and find that more than half the people are Socialists," she declared. "Socialism is coming and it may be coming faster than many suppose. However, I do not believe in organizing a women's party nor dictating to women to what party they should belong. Let them find party affiliation the same as men."

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive cure for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

STOCKING TO GET PLACE

Acting Postmaster in Tacoma to Have Permanent Position.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Advice from Washington are that Frank L. Stocking, now acting postmaster, will be named as postmaster at Tacoma, succeeding Henry I. Votaw, who died recently. Representative McCredie, who has the naming of the postmaster, has not yet filed his recommendation, but will probably tomorrow and Stocking is understood to be his choice.

An assistant postmaster under Votaw, Stocking has practically been postmaster for the past two years owing to Votaw's falling health. There has been a lively scramble for the position, chief among the contestants being ex-Postmaster Cromwell, Alex R. Fulton, Immigration Inspector, Clinton Snowden and several others. As there are no charges against Stocking and the office shows a clean record, coupled with the support of many business men, Stocking's appointment is expected to be confirmed without question.
