HELLO THEATER—(Seventh and Taylor streets)—Victor Morley and Benson.
BAKER THEATER—(Seventh and Morrison)—The Baker Stock Company in "Hilly."
HUNGARLOW THEATER—(Twelfth and Morrison)—"A Gentleman From Mississippi."

representatives from all of the push clubs in Southeast Portland and of those in North Portland. The proposed structure will cost $1,400,000. The hold issue will be submitted to the voters at the coming election.

YEON REALTY MEN'S HOST

Example of Builder of Tallest Structure Is Commended.

Members of the Portland Realty Board and friends were entertained yesterday afternoon in the Matory Yeon building by J. B. Yeon, the owner. About 30 accepted Mr. Yeon's invitation to inspect the building and were shown about several floors, finally gathering on the roof, where a group picture was taken.

W. M. Killgusworth, president of the board, made an address felicitating Mr. Yeon on his public spirit in erecting such a splendid structure and pointing to him as a model for others who have made fortunes in Portland and Oregon to follow.

COURT UPHOLDS "DECOYS"

Women Convicted on Testimony Given by Policeman.

Use of policemen as decoys to secure evidence of certain violations of the law was bitterly denounced yesterday in the Municipal Court by Judge J. B. Morrison. He held that the testimony of a policeman who had acted as a decoy was sufficient to convict several women of keeping and occupying a disorderly house.

AUTO STOLEN BY PROXY

Stranger, Pleading Incapacity, Induces Boys to Drive Machine.

"Can either of you boys drive an automobile?" asked Albert Templeton of Orin Chevrons and Fred Stagg in front of the Medical building, Tuesday night. They were drinking too much, and I am afraid I can't drive home.

All innocent of the fact that the car by which he stole it was the property of the Medical building. He was arrested and taken to the police station and all officers were cautioned to keep a watch for it. It fell to Patrolman Cameron to spy the car standing in front of a North End saloon, inside of which Templeton was prolonging his homeward progress.

REVIVAL BEGINS TODAY

Chicago Evangelist to Open Campaign in Presbyterian Church.

Rev. John Balcom Shaw, evangelist and pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Chicago, will deliver his first lecture in Portland tonight at the First Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Alder streets. He will meet this afternoon with the Presbyterian clergymen of the city in the office of the city auditor.

VAGRANCY IS NOT PROVED

Judge Holds Residence in Questionable Place Not Evidence.

Acrimonious remarks passed between Municipal Judge Taxwell and Deputy City Attorney Sullivan, in Municipal Court yesterday, when the court refused to listen to Sullivan's contention that the act of residing in a house of ill-repute made one a vagrant. Paul Moritte was the defendant on trial. He was arrested last Saturday night by Patrolmen McCarty and Wellbrook. In company with three notorious women, at East Third street and Hawthorne avenue. He paid $5.

GOWNS TOO MANY

Trunk Overflows So Actress Holds Role.

STUNT PROVES SUCCESS

Idea Seizes Yama Yama Girl, With Whom to Think Is to Act and Chorus Profits by Her Lack of Practicability.

BY LEONE CARL BAER. "Old clothes to sell! Old clothes to sell!" The cry came from one of the prettiest models imaginable and a pair of wonderful topaz-colored eyes gleamed mischievously while their owner, the Yama Yama lady at the Heilig, proclaimed the fact that she was holding an auction.

It was after the matinee yesterday afternoon, and the brand new wardrobe trunk an expressman had just left in Miss Clifford's room was the motive for the enforced sale. Having a new trunk, Miss Clifford immediately sold her old theater trunk and after it had been carted away, she found to her dismay that the resplendent new one would not hold all her clothes by several. So she sat down and cogitated rapidly. With Miss Clifford to think is to act.

A fat idea grappled with her and she seized it. Soon her walls were hung with pretty gowns, bits of dainty lingerie, an evening wrap, a handsome white fur muff and scarf hung over a chair, bonnets, veils, shoes, gloves, even bolts and bolts of cloth were laid out so as to show their best points advantageously.

Blue Kimono is Attire. "Thought I'd do it all up brown while I was at it," smiled the auctioneer, as clad in a trailing blue kimono, she planned Miss Clifford's wardrobe. She planned Miss Clifford's wardrobe. She planned Miss Clifford's wardrobe.

Miss Clifford Confesses. "Isn't that these things are really old," continued the head sales person, as she smilingly exchanged her pretty things for hastily written I. O. U.'s, but you see, I've got to have room in my trunk for the clothes I really need and want, so I'd better give up the oldest ones first. All the girls in the company are clever needlewomen. Somehow it seems to be a necessary part of their equipment for chorus work to be able to sew and remodel. I'm no shining example of domesticity, but I can put on hooks and eyes—yes, or a patch if it's needed."

The sale lasted half an hour. When the last garment had been examined, and held up for careful measurement against the gown of the would-be purchaser, only the lovely white fur remained. "Well, guess I'll raffle 'em off," said the danseuse. "I'll run the chances from one to let-me-see—Bessie, was cognate again. A knock at the door of her dressing-room broke the commercial agitation going on inside her pretty head.

"My wife told me about them furs—she says," the rest spoken very low, interrupted by a smiling, "Why yes, to be sure," from Miss Clifford. A rapid exchange of furs and another I. O. U. "He wants them for his wife." Explained the worst saleslady I ever met, "and while of course I didn't get near what they're worth, still I've made the sale. They were very soiled anyway," she added, as if a quail had seized her feminine soul. Then the general outcry for which Bessie Clifford is known far and near asserted itself. "Anyway his wife looked lovely in those furs. I'm not a bit sorry I sold 'em."

WOMAN SWOONS AT PLAY Immediate Surgical Operation Found Necessary by Physicians.

Momentary excitement was created at the Baker Theater, Tuesday night, when Mrs. Thomas Taylor, a prominent woman of Aberdeen, fell in a faint, in the midst of one of the acts of "Billy." She was carried out of the theater and sent hurriedly to St. Vincent's Hospital. Dr. Oughlan was called and found that an immediate operation was necessary.

Mrs. Taylor had for some time been suffering from an affliction of the mastoid bone, which suddenly became acute while she was at the play and caused her to swoon. The operation brought immediate relief and she is recovering.

Gambling-House Is Raided. Early last night Patrolmen Shaffer and Johnson, working in plain clothes, raided a Chinese gambling house at 514 Second street. They arrested Joe Jung, J. Mack, Chong Yung, Hong Low, Sam Lit and Ah Sing. Joe Jung was charged with conducting a gambling establishment. He was released on depositing $100 cash bail. The others were required to deposit $50 each. This is the second time within a month that the premises at 514 Second street have been raided. On the previous occasion Judge Taxwell fined the proprietor $25 and the others $15 each.

C. K. HENRY HOME AGAIN Los Angeles Booming; San Francisco Joyous Over Fair.

Charles K. Henry has returned from a three weeks' trip to California, having spent the time in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and San Francisco.

"Los Angeles is booming," said he, yesterday, "and more than 1000 tourists a day are arriving. The city has a tremendous asset in its oil fields, which are adding greatly to local capital."

"I was in San Francisco the day the news came that Congress had acted favorably on the city's claim for the Panama exposition, and the way the people celebrated was immense. A great many business concerns felt that their

ARTISANS TO SEE PLAY

Fratern Order to Give Theater Party at Baker Monday.

It is just a year since the United Artisans gave their first theater party, at the old Baker Theater, when the Baker Stock Company was playing "Merely Mary Ann." It proved so enjoyable that the Artisans voted to make it an annual event and have just completed arrangements with Manager Baker for the second party, which will take place at the new Baker Theater next Monday night, when the Baker Stock Company will present the powerful business drama, "The Great John Ganton."

The Artisans comprise one of the strongest fraternal orders in the West, having a membership in Portland of nearly 600, and this year 20 of the assemblies will participate. Monday will be Artisans' night at the Baker.

The order has bought 500 seats and announces that any member of the order in the city desiring to attend the performance can secure any number of seats he wishes by calling at the supreme office, 521 Beek building, on or before next Saturday.

"LINCOLN" IS DINNER TOPIC

George A. Knight to Be Principal Speaker Saturday Night.

George A. Knight, well known as an orator, will be the principal speaker next Saturday evening at the Lincoln dinner to be given in the Commercial Club rooms by the Republican Club. Mr. Knight gives California as his residence, although his home is in San Francisco. His subject at the dinner will be "Abraham Lincoln." Judge George T. Reid, of Tacoma, is scheduled to talk upon "Lincoln, the Self-Reliant Man." Judge E. I. Norbury will deal with the "Boys of '61." Dr. Andrew C. Smith will respond to the subject "The State of Oregon," and Robert Treat Platt will discuss "The Future of Oregon." The music is to be furnished by the Republican Club Quartet. Those desiring to secure their tickets should call at the Commercial Club headquarters, 327 Board of Trade Building, or from George T. Willard, at the Northern Pacific passenger office, northeast corner of Third and Morrison.

$40,000 RAISED BY ELKS

GENERAL CANVASS OF CITY TO BE MADE NEXT WEEK.

Committee to Secure 1912 Convention of Order to Meet Friday to Make Arrangements.

With $40,000 of the proposed $125,000 fund for entertaining the Grand Lodge of Elks here in 1912 already guaranteed, the 1912 convention committee of the Portland Lodge, No. 145, of Elks will meet Friday night to decide on final arrangements for the general canvass of Portland to be held next week.

All of the members of the convention committee and the subcommittees named last week are urged to be in attendance at this meeting, for it is desired to make a thorough and consistent campaign in as short a time as possible, and every committee will be expected to be present Friday night and to follow the lines of the campaign to be mapped out that night.

The Portland Lodge has headed the subscription list with $25,000, and the Hoteliers' Association has added $10,000, which, with the $5,000 voluntarily contributed by a member of the order, swells the fund now guaranteed to $40,000. This leaves only $85,000 to be raised by a canvass of the city, and the Elks are sanguine over the prospects of raising this sum during the next few days. The meeting of committees is to be held promptly at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Elks' lodge room.
