SENATE GIVES HAY STATE LAND BOARD

Washington Legislators' Try for Ross' Scalp Provides Excitement.

TWO GRILL BILL AS TRICK

Opposition to Measure Creating Three Appointive Commissioners Call It Scheme to Give Governor More Power.

GLYMPIA, Wash, Feb. 8.—(Special)—
Standing solid in the administration line-up, with the exception of two Senators, the Senate today passed the bill creating an appointive heard of three Land Commissioners, the vote being 17 to 26. It was the first time that politics played a prominent part in the Senate this sension and each of Governor Hay's friends went down the line to get Land Commissioner Ross' scalp except Stewart of Cowiliz and Stevenson of Garfield, of Cowlitz and Stevenson of Garfield, who insisted upon fair treatment to the present incumbent. Both denounced the bill on the ground that it was another step to place more power in the hands of the Governor, in face of the people's demand for direct Bitter opposition to the measure was made by Ruth of Thurston, Eastham of Clark, Ridstrom of Pierce, Huxtable and Hutchinson of Spokane and Stevenson, all declaring that the bill could accom-plish softhing save to place the Gov-ernor in a position to give his personal friends fat berths in the event that the bill becomes a law. They maintained that such a mode was against the wish of the people and that Senators who were apporting if could not vote for it with

No Attack Made on Commissioner.

Allen of King, Fishback of Lewis and Jackson of King led the debate for the hill and were concurred in by Nichols of King, Brown of Whatcom and Espey of Pacific. Although reference was made repeatedly by Allen and Fishback to the report of the legislative investigating committee, they refreshed from making any strack upon the Land Commissioner, notwithstanding Hutchinson's attempt to draw them out. Both were members of the Commissioner

They confined their argument's principally to the statements that the State tant department and that the duties involved upon it were too numerous and onerous for one official and one assistant to manage properly. For that reason they said that the office should be in the hands of three Commissioners, so that each department of the office could be looked after to better advantage, pleading that large sums of money could be saved to the state annually.

Political Scheme Charged.

"I know what this bill is intended for," exclaimed Eastham. "It is simply designed to build up a political machine

Talk about the iditative and referendum, why, if we keep up this lick, the people will rise up in one body and demand that they be heard on these matters. This is one of the most victous and damnable measures that was ever brought up before this Senate. This bill was designed to get one man's scalp in an uniter-handed one man's scalp in an under-handed

Allen of King Explains,

Allen of King explained that he had sand irregularities in cruising of timber found irregularities in cruising of timber lands and as a result, prospective buyers had been able to purchase these lands at prices far below their real value. He said that the state had suffered from the acts of dishonest cruisers. He contended that if more officials were in the Land Department, a closer check could be kept on this feature of the work lie dealed that the bill was directed against Commissioner Ross. Both he and Fishback said they did not question the integrity of the Commissioner.

did you find any crockedness in the Land Commissioner's office? asked Hutchinson. The question was put to

"Well, I found something wrong with the crutsers," replied Fishback. "I do not believe Mr. Ross did anything wrong, but his connection with a land deal in Cowlitz County may have been ill-advised, when, I am told the company in which he is interested purchased some state land."

Thus known the contests was refer.

"I have known the cruisers you refer to for many years," retorted Eastham and they are as square and honest men as I have ever met. This is all rot about the state not getting its money's worth for the timber lands that were Accusations Are Decried.

Buth said that the accusations that large amounts of money had been inst by distonest cruisings were not well founded. He maintained that when the timber was cruised several years ago, different methods were used then, and that if cruisings were made of the same timber now, if kept intact, would show a double amount of commercial timber, as the people had learned its value and had become less wasteful. "I insist, gentlemen, that this bill should not merit our attention at all," continued Ruth. "There is no demand on the part of people for the creation of more offices, and especially appointive offices. Furthermore, the scheme pro-posed by these men will fall of its purpose; it will hamper the work of the office and make affairs more compil-

In the midst of the debate Stewart arms and asked for an indefinite post-ponement, hoping to deprive Allen of making the closing speech. Some of the Scoators thought that this privices should be granted, and Allen was opparently piqued and refused to speak until the question was put to a vote. The motion was lost, 16 to 27.

Piper immediately gained the floor and said that maximuch as Allen had been preparing the speech for two years, the Senate was sufficed to hear it now. Allen said he had nothing streams.

more to add, except that he still insisted that the bill would, if enacted into law, be the means of simplifying the work of the Land Department.

Buth changed his vote from negative to affirmative upon seeing that the bill would carry, and then served notice that he would move to reconsider the bill at another time.

Previous to the consideration of this

Previous to the consideration of this bill the Senate passed a bill taking con-trol from the Land Commissioner's office of the state funds and putting it in the hands of the State Treasurer. The bill provides that the funds must be invested without delay and to draw at least 2 per cent. The Senate indefinitely postponed the bill providing for an appropriation of $5000 for the relief of the Chinese famine sufferers.

The House indefinitely postponed the bill which provided that the Supreme Court could declare no act of the Legislature unconstitutional.

Governor Hay today issued a proce-mation appealing for aid for the famine sufferers in North China. The appeal asks the people of the state to send supplies to the Seattle Commercial Club, which will forward them to Chica, and money contributions to the National Red Cross headquarters at Washing-

Legislators Pass Peirce Measure Opening Rogue River for Commercial Fishing Purposes.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 2 .-(Special.)-By a vote of 22 to 15, 11 absent. the House today passed a bill by Repreentative Peirce repealing the initiative law passed by the people last November and throwing the Rogue River open to commercial fishing. Fouts, Bryant. Chatten, Clemens and Cole, mem-bers of the Multnomah County delegation elected on a platform embracing the initiative and referendum, Statement No. 1 and other of the people's laws, voted for the repeal of the initiative measure which was adopted by a ma-jority of over 18,000 votes.

Thompson, in arguing for the bill, eaid the people undoubtedly had made a mistake in passing the initiative measure since it put out of business an industry at the mouth of the river that represented an investment of $250,000. Four wild that while he firmly believed in the said that while he firmly believed in the initiative and the referendum, he was convinced that a serious injustice had been done to the owners of the cannery operating at the mouth of Rogue River since in its operation the law would amount to a confiscation of that property. Cole called attention to the fact that the owners of the cannery had been for 20 years operating a private hatchery with which the stream was annually restocked with the result that the nually restocked with the result that the mually restocked with the result that the pack was increasing every year.

Bucharian admonished the Legislators not to interfere with the law as it was adopted by the people and in sarcastic vein extolled the fritiative and the referendum. Westerlund made a strong talk against the bill but the odds were against him. He said that the flahing in Rogue River, under the provisions of the Peirce bill, would be controlled by the monopoly owning the cannery at the the Petroe bill, would be controlled by the monopoly owning the cannery at the mouth of that scream with the result that the 30.000 people residing along that stream and its tributaries would be un-able to get any fish. He said the can-nery people controlled nine miles along one side of the river and 14 miles on the opposite side with the result that by the use of science and other fishing more it for the Governor, who wishes to be the dominant factor in it. You gentlemen who are supporting this bill are not setting in good faith. I am decidedly opposed to such a proceedure."

President Pauliannes cautioned the Senator to refrain from impugning the motives of the supporters of the bill and the Sepacker gave way to Huxtable who made the senational speech of the tag.

The vote by which the bill passed foilows:

MALARKEY'S BILL

Hot Debate Precedes Passing Public Service Commission Measure.

JOSEPH LEADS OPPOSITION

Drafter of Proposed Law Riddles Initiative Bill to Give Portland Own Commission-Weaknesses and Fallacies Shown.

(Continued From First Page.) the Wisconsin law, of which its framer said it is a copy, and in a number of sections pointed out omissions from that law.

One of these, he said, was the changing of the word "action" to "suit" which, under the procedure in this state, places the case before the judge instead of before the jury.

"This bill from the time of its birth."

he said. "had the eyes of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company and public service corporations upon it. Now it les worth little more than the paper it is written on and an increase in the salaries of the commissioners." Kellaher interposed when Joseph closed and asked Malarkey if he under stood him correctly in averring that Kel-laher's statements were untrue.

Statements Held Untrue.

"Yes, all the statements you have made in reference to this bill have been untrue. I declare that you have not acted in good faith. You have trespassed on the Senate and treated the Senators unfairly. You have been false in everything you have said concerning this Keliaher saked the Senate why President Jossiyn, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, places his stamp of approval upon the bill.

"It is a round bill to fit a square hole," he said. "You ask us to place these regulations under the State Railroad Commission. Why is it that the Baker rate case set seven months ago never been disposed of? Why were rate cases heard in the O. R. & N offices in Portland? These have never been decided because J. N. Teal come in with his intervenor and if this bi becomes a law it will never be effective because this same Teal will come in again and again and the people will never

'We know how our present Mayor of plugged the keyhole, and what for? To gives away $1.25,000 worth of streets. Portland will be in a most damnable plight if this bill passes and the people will never get redress. The telephone companies and all of them are 'kangaroo-ing' against us."

Fenders Called Meatchoppers.

Calling the present fenders on the streetcars of Portland "meat choppers" and the Taxpayers' League the "Tax Dodgers' League," Kellaher made fur-ther allegations that interests are behind the bill.

"It has been alleged that the pro-posed initiative bill for Portland will cost the city $50,000 a year, but Joe Teal didn't know, when he told Louis Goldsmith to get busy, that the bill would not cost the people of Portland could get no more in it unless you enlarged the size of it. And who did you find supporting it before the committee? None other but the Mayor of Milwaukle, the creation and creature of Josselyn."

McColloch asked a few questions in McCollock asked a few questions in connection with different phases of the bill, which were explained by Ma-larkey. Malarkey responded to the at-tacks made by Joseph and Kellaher. During the morning there were a num-ber of keen situations when Joseph and Malarkey and Malarkey and Kellaher. OIL BILL IS VETOED BY WEST Maiarkey and Maiarkey and Kellaher were standing close together, shaking hands and pencils at each other and it was necessary at one time for President Selling to order the Sergeant-at-Arms to preserve order.

Reasons for Attack Are Cited.

"The sole reason for the attack or this bill," stated Malarkey in closing the debate, "was because the name of Dan J. Malarkey is attached thereto. That is the reason why my friends, the conspirator on the left (Kellaher) and the conspirator on my right (Joseph), have taken their stand and this shows the venom and the victousness of the opposition. Seldom have I heard men speak in such ignorance and their ignorance is only exceeded by their utter disregard for the truth. I waited ulter disregard for the truth. I waited all the afternoon yesterday, while this bill was being read section by section, for either Kellaher or Joseph to make some criticism, to say one word which would indicate some of the alleged jokers in the bill and neither of them spoke. They were not acting in good faith and when they say the bill is wrong they are false and they know they are false and they are wasting the money, and trifling orders that they receive from the ihrone in an attempt to do some one a political injury. These men have set themselves up as the self-appointed spokesmen of the people of Portland, but there are five men in this delegation beside these two that also consider themselves somewhat associated w. with the people of Portland and they all stand firmly for state-wide regulation. But these two, regardless of what they believe, intend to vote against this bill.

Commissioners Not Infallible

"Why should Portland and Portland P

"Why should Portland elect three commissioners? Are not members of the City Council elected by the same electorate and are they infallible? One of the main troubles in Portland is, according to rumor that in many cases is well justified, that members of the Council have in many instances been dominated by the public service cor-porations. If these commissioners are elected is there reason to believe they will be different than members of the Council?"

Here he showed the fallacies in the initiative bill as proposed for the City of Portland. He showed that the bill from start to finish is an open confrom start to finish is an open confession that Portland cannot govern public utilities without the aid of the state. He showed that in the first instance the bill calls upon the Governor to appoint three commissioners and that the City of Portland has no right nor authority to demand such of the Governor. He showed that, under the terms of the bill the people of Portland are attempting to legislate for the people of the state; that the bill attempts to dictate to Circuit to the middle."

Courts and Supreme Courts and that from cover to cover it is filled with provisions not only impossible but un-

"And here let me show you a copy of the Weekly Doughnut." continued Malarkey, holding in his hand a copy of the Optimist, with a flaring lithograph of Kellaher on the front cover. "Here we have a long culogy of Fight-ing Dan' Kellaher, of his honest eyes and of his speeches in the Legislature which make the welkin ring, but which no one else has ever heard. And on the back page of this we find an adthe back page of this we find an advertisement of his East Side grocery and family liquor store. Who is behind this Doughnut? Somebody with money and somebody with an object.
"It costs money to produce a paper like this and send out free copies by the thousand and I would like to know whose money it is that is back of it

Dimick asked to correct a statement made by Kellaher that Mayor Streib, of Milwaukle, is the creation of President Josselyn, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, stating that the Mayor of Milwaukle had been responsible for fighting that company in rate cases to the highest court in the Controversy Grows Bitter. Kellaher in explaining his vote took occasion to make another attack on Maiarkey. "If there was ever con-spirator born of woman in the State of Oregon it is Dan J. Maiarkey." Here of Oregon it is Dan J. Maiarkey." Here he showed a copy of the Portland city charter and said that Maiarkey had succeeded in slipping a joker into the charter which had tied the hands of the Council and has never allowed the Council to go back and review a franchise. "In three words he bound and gagged the Council," he concluded.

Maiarkey responded that the last remarks of Keliaher were characterisnarks of Kellaher were characteristic and further displayed ignorance and venom on the part of that Senator. Miller in explaining his vote objected o all the personalities that had been blowed and urged the President to take steps for their discontinuance in the future. Wood declared he believed the bill would result in keeping capital away from the state and Abraham, who originally voted in favor of the bill, changed his vote.

The vote stood as follows: Yeas-Albee, Barrett of Umatilla, Barrett of Washington, Bean, Bowerman, Burgess, Calkins, Carson, Chase, Dimick, Hawley, Hoskins, Lester, Locke, Malarkey, McColloch, Merry-man, Miller, Norten, Nottingham, Oil-ver, Parrish, Patton, Von der Hellen, Selling

ELECTIVE BOARD SURE

LEGISLATURE TO PROVIDE FOR PORT OF PORTLAND.

Emergency Clause to Be Stricken Out and Special Temporary Commission Named.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 9. -(Special.)-Enactment of Representa-tive Bigelow's bill providing for an elective Port of Portland Commission, approved by the Multnomah County gation tonight at a hearing before which a delegation of Portland citizens appeared. President Selling objected to the emergency clause attached to the measures and, with this removed, the desired legislation will be assured.'

Judge M. G. Munly was the principal speaker and strongly advocated the bills. He urged the retention of the emergency clause for the reason that with it stricken from the bill, the three months that must intervene pending the calling of the referendum on the measure would prevent the election of new Commissioners at the approaching city election elected by the people and qualify. There is little doubt but that the emergency clause will be stricken from the bill that the five Commissioners who will named therein will serve until July, 1913, or following the regular blennial city election in June of that year. The other bill preacribes the manner which the members of the Commission shall be nominated in the primary elec-tion and elected in the regular city election. The question of fixing the salaries of the Commissioners and their officers, if any salaries shall be paid, was left to the determination of the delegation in the consideration of the bills.

In addition to Judge Munly, the following Portland men appeared before the delegation on the same mission: F. S. Myers, J. N. Monteith, Charles F.

Machen, A. Rosenatein, Edward A. Mc-Grath and A. L. Sauvie.

W. H. Chapin, William Killingsworth, J. O. Rountree, H. W. Goddard and S. N. Steele, representing the Portland J. O. Rountree, H. W. Geddard and S. N. Steele, representing the Portland Reality Board, formed another delegation appearing before the Multnomah County legislators. They came to present arguments against the bills repealing the Torrens registration law and the mortgage tax bill. On reaching here they learned that the House committee on judiciary had reported unfavorably on the mortgage tax measure while five of the seven Senators said they were of the seven Senators said they were opposed to the modification of the Torrens law in any way. As a result the hearing lasted less than five minutes and the realty men returned to Portland tonight entirely satisfied.

Inferences of Political Motives Repudiated - Bean-Calkins Proposed Law Finally Passes Senate as Substitute.

SENATOR FIGHTS FOR BILL

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 2. (Special.) - First real blood was an drawn for the administration today when Bowerman's bill, providing for the purchase of state supplies through a public commissary, went down to defeat and the Bean-Calkins bill, a child of Governor West, was adopted by the Senate as the proper measure to guide the destinies of the board in this important branch of administrative af-fairs.

mportant branch of a splendid fight for his bill, repudiated all inferences that he may have political motives in introducing the bill, and declared that his motives were actuated solely by a desire to protect the taxpayers of Oredesire to protect the taxpayer his motives were actuated solely by a desire to protect the taxpayers of Oregon and do away with an old system which had developed flagrant abuses and was costing the state $100,000 annually in excess of what it should pay.

Plea for Board Made.

Abraham also supported the bill. Miller spoke strongly against the Bowerman measure and alleged that politics entered into its inception. Norton favored the Bowerman plan. stating that any business house buy-ing supplies under the present system would soon go into bankruptcy. Mc-Culloch entered a plea to give the new board a chance to adopt its own plan and take custody so that it could give an account of its, own stewardship. A test was taken when a vote was required on whether the Bowerman bill or the Calkins-Bean bill should take precedence in final passage. The vote stood 14 to 14 on this and Selling vote stood 14 to 14 on this, and Selling decided in favor of the administration incasure.
