REFERENDUM AND INITIATIVE PASSES

Direct Legislation Bill Not Amended by Washington Lower House.

MEASURE BRINGS DEBATE

Opposition Centers Against Part of Proposed Law Giving People Right to Initiate Legislation, but Fails.

OLYMPIA Wash, Feb. 14 .- (Special. -When the House took up the Initia tive and referendum bill this afternoon It was at once apparent that the mea-sure would be passed, though not with-out a hard flight with the conservative members of the body. Although the majority committee report recommended numerous changes in the bill, amount-leg to 20 amendments in all, not one change was made and the bill was passed by a vote of 73 to 12. In appointing a special committee to consider the bill. Speaker Taylor named members who were not all genious workers for direct legislation, and when the bill with the suggested changes came to its third reading, the mem bers who signed the minority repart, which advocated no amendments, insist ted that the bill go through as originally drafted. Beach of Mason, McArdie of Jefferson and Ghent of King vigorously protested against the minority report and in their speeches on the question they repeatedly referred to the Oregon system, declaring it was not giving the satisfaction the people of that state had expected.

Bill Result of Hard Work.

"This bill is a compendium of all measures introduced in this Legislature on the subject of initiative and referendum," said Representative Teats of Tacoma, one of the authors. "It is the result of hard work by brainy men in this and other states for 16 years. It is complete and perfect in every de-tail and should not be amended, even vision for people to initiate legislation that has never been submitted to the Legislature, said Representative Sims of Jefferson.

Work should be carried on because of its state-wide importance and a favorable report will be submitted by the committee.

The ways and means are that this its committee in the committee.

bill provides for the referen-said Foster of Scattle, "theredum." said Foster of Seattle, there-fore I see no reason why proposed leg-lating about he initiated by the peo-ple. It may be all right to allow the Legislature to pass on measures and then refer such action to the people, but I do not see why the people should take up matters that the Leg-lature never has a chance to con-siter."

Our object is to get the initiative "Our object is to get the initiative and referendum into the hands of the people in the way desired by the friends of the system." replied Representative Todd of Whitman. "The objections that have been raised to allowing the people to initiate laws not passed on by the Legislature are set forth by enemies of the new programme."

The motion to adopt the first com-

Although this vote was taken on a comparatively unimportant amendment standing alone, it was considered by all as a test. The announcement of sil as a test. The announcement of the result was received as an assurance that the friends of the measure had a good working majority and that the other 19 amendments would not the other 19 amendments would not could adopt the minority report, but that under his interpretation of the rules amendments could later be offered, one by one.

The Speaker said that he could see no way of shutting off votes on amend-ments when the bill was on third readments when the bill was on third read-ing, even if the minority report were adopted. On Denman's motion the mi-nority report was adopted. This meant the defeat, for the time being, of the 20 committee amendments offered as a majority report. However, amend-ments followed singly and were voted down as fast as presented.

Beach Criticises Methods.

In the discussion of the amendments offered singly, Representative Beach, of Mason criticized the friends of the seasure for their attitude in trying to adoption of the introfity report.

"I must say it is a due machine well colled and sill on the track," said Heach.
"I can't say that the gentleman from Spokane (Dunman) is very generous. He has just now epoken for a motion in an effort to keep us from amending this bill. The other day when we had the first bill of this programme under dis-cussion he stood on the floor and tore his hair because he said we were going to choke off debate and try to smother these bills in a hurry. Now he is the one that wants to smother the others. think we should have full oppor tunity to discuss amendments as this is one of the most important bills before the House. If he had his way, we would the House. If he had his way, we would regret the hurry. Los Angeles and the State of Oregon regret their action already. This bill touches on some maiters affecting the percentages included in a hill we have already passed. How many times are we going to have to decide that question? Are we going to tag some of this initiative business onto every bill? They also say that the people about take up legislation before the general assembly considers it.

Why, we ask! They any because $ per cent of the people want it. Gentlemen, there are is members of this liouse representing Liousop people. Early that enough to allow the Legislature to initiate a law itself? They say every man who offers an amendment is opposed to the principle but this thing is a posed to the principle but this thing is a good deal like the county local option matter. They said they were giving us a county unit bill but as a matter of fact they were giving us a county unit bill, a township unit and other kinds of units all to their own advantage. There are several ways in which any bill can be drawn. Because a man wants to amend this bill, it is no sign that he is an enemy to the principle."

"Replying to statements made about the expense of this system. I want to read a statement from the newly-elect-ed Governor of Oregon," said Repre-sentative Denman. "Governor West sentative Denman. Governor West said the total cost of the printing, etc., of 32 measures in 1910 was less than ten cents for each voter who received his instruction in this manner. He says

What politics has that man West?" asked Beach. Demman was not inclined to answer directly, but Beach held him to the point, Denman started to reply by mylog. "I want to answer in this way." Beach forced the question and Denman finally said: "I presume he is Well, that's what I thought; that's

"Well, that's what I thought; that's all I wanted," repiled Beach.
"I know I have great temerity in taking issue with one of the gentlemen representing the brains in the authorship of this bill," said Heach, referring to Teats of Pierce. "He certainly exhibited great modesty when he said this measure is a perfect one. It is behibited great modesty when he said this measure is a perfect one. It is beyond all expectations I ever held as a member of the Legislature. In fact, this is the first and only perfect child ever horn in the Legislature of Washington. The Whitman County Representative said there were 30 Republicant in this House. One lest vote cans in this House. One test vote showed only 26. I would like to dig up those other four."

Ghent of King said that in the future the Legislature would be a mere figure head. "We follow Oregon," said Ghent, "and I expect that Idaho and Montana will follow us. This seems to be the way things go now. Because of a compensuilen act worked up in Oregon under the initiative, the Oregonians say that there will be an exodus of 50 per cent of the state's industries if the measure is not repealed.

The vote on the final passage showed a considerable increase, resulting in 79 to 12. Noes: Heach, Byerly, Drissler, Poster, Ghent, Groff, Martin, McArdle, McMillan, Sims, Stevens, W. E. Webster—total 12. On motion the bill was ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Dr. Withscombe Appeals to Committee to Save Fund Granted by Government.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. (.—(Special.)—Dr. James R. Withy-14.—(Special.)—Dr. James R. Withy-combe, of the Oregon Arricultural Col-lege, made a successful plea before the ways and means committee for an apgriation of $10,000 to carry on the propriation of $10.000 to carry on the central experiment station work. He declared that the state must give some-thing for this or the $30.000 appropriation from the Federal Government will be forfeited.

Dr. Withycombe said there are nine departments having this work in charge and it is one of the most valu-able to the state of all the things acmplished at the school that for the last five years the college has been unable to publish bulletins or reports from the experiment station because of lack of funds.

There seems to be a general sentiment among the legislators that this work should be carried on because of

The ways and means committee decided to report favorably on $20,000 annual maintenance for the hatcheries south of the Columbia River, but killed the request for establishment of a hatchery for Youngs River, for which $10,000 was asked. The committee will report favorably on $1250 for the Mc-Loughlin Home at Oregon City.

Commissioner Ross, of Washington, Attacks Legislative Body's Findings.

RESENTMENT IS EXPRESSED

Condemnation Caused by Only One Man, Says Criticised State Agent. Newspapers Are Scored. Timber-Cruiser Defended.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 14 .- (Special.)-The biennial report of E. W. Ross, State and Commissioner, was made public inday. Its feature is an attack made on the report of the special legislative con mittee which was made public last April, but to which the Land Commissioner did not reply until today. He directs his attack against Senator H. O. Flahback, of Lewis County, the member of t he Land Commissioner. Ross says:

"The report is essentially the report of one man, Senator Piebback, although another, Senator P. D. Allen, of King, at one time, claimed a large measure the glory. I have hesitated long before issuing any public criticism of the work and report of the committee and I do not now approach the task with an feeling of personal plane or malicious animoseity, but I do wish to be under stood as coolly and deliberately enter taining a feeling of resentment against what I believe to be wrong and I will not stuitify myself by pretending or attempting to conceal my true feelings, do not now intend to criticise the me bers of the committee who took no p in the work but who merely joined the report as a matter of form."

Newspaper Attacks Resented.

He then refers to attacks on him made falled in its work by not clearing up the ld rumors and exspicions, but added them. The report continues; "To this there were a few exceptions and some of the papers, upon sober con-sideration, endeavored to correct the mistake editorially. Many still gloat over the alleged 'discoveries' and point the finger of scorn at the writer of this stricle. One notable case is that of a daily paper published east of the mountains, recently found insanely clamoring for the blood of the undersigned through the process of impeachment."

He then takes up the report of the committee section by section and pre-cents his side of the case, urging that times have changed and that timber and land values have advanced. After defending his cruisers, who were at-tacked by report, he declares that the state has handled its lands at current values and points out that the North chargest railroad commission before the Railroad United Un that today they are worth $7,000,000.

The report shows that during the period covered October 1, 1908, to September 20, 1910, the receipts of the were $3,932,646.39, an inceding blennium and 132,72 per cent more than in the next preceding blen-nium. The report shows that out of

Mr. Ross urges certain legislative reforms, such as a complete cruise of the timber and more stringent regu-lations for the leasing and sale of the state's resources.

A considerable portion of the report deals with conservation. He concludes with the following attack on the Federal conservation policy:

"A recapitulation shows that the loss of the use of school lands annually of the use of school lands annually amounts to $666,650; that the taxes upon reserved lands would amount to $3,796,720, and that the annual income

FIGHTS MEASURE

Lawgiver Says It's Unconstitutional, Fear of Referendum Caused Omisbut Friends of Measure Interpret Statute Differently - Majority Likes Plan.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem. Or., Feb. 14. -(Special.)—A majority of the House committee on revision of laws favors

Speaker Rusk's second-choice bill and purpose in presenting the original bill will probably return the measure to the House temorrow with a favorable report. Opposition to the measure has already developed, not from an unexaiready developed, not from an unexpected quarter, however.

W. S. U'Ren has raised a question as to the constitutionality of the proposed law, contending that it violates the state constitution, which, he insists, does not contemplate that an elector shall be required to specify other than a first choice of candidates. Friends of the bill, however, have also consulted the section of the constitution referred to by U'Ren, who bases his contention on a portion of who bases his contention on a portion of the amendment recently adopted by the people and covering the subject of pro-portionate representation. This provision

"Every qualified elector residing in his precinct and registered as may be required by law, may vote for one person under the title for each office."

Friends of the Rusk bill find authority for second-choice expressions in the same section of the constitution which provides that:

Provision may be made by law for the voter's direct or indirect expression of his first, second or additional choices among the candidates for any office. For an office which is filled by the election

REFERENDUM DEFECT IS SEEN

Governor to Return Salary Bills, Petitions Required Too Large. STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 14. (Special.)—Governor West outlined his position on the defective salary bills in a message which he sent to the Senate and the House today, as

There have been passed by, or are now before, the Legislature a number of bills providing for an increase in the salary for certain county officials. These bills, or most of them, carry a referendum, provision requiring a petition for referendum to be signed by at least 15 per cent, and in cerstitution are hereby further reserved to the legal voters of every municipality and district, as to all local, special and municipal legislation, of every character, in or for their respective municipality and district.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that these provisions of the Constitution fix the rate for referendum petitions in all cases, except in towns and cities, at 5 per cent, and that the salary bills now in my hands should be recalled and, together with those now before the Legislature, should be amended by reducing the numbers of signatures required to 5 per cent of the legal voters of the several counties.
