HUNGARIAN HELD TYRANT

Memorial to Leaders of Washington Birthday Celebration Asserts Apponyi Was Responsible for Killings.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.-Decided apposition has been raised by Bohemian, Siovak and Polish editors and citizens of Chicago to he invitation extended Count Albert G. Appenyl, ex-Hungarian Minister of Elication, to speak on "Universal Peace" at the Washington birthday celebration

A memerial was presented today to Chairman Alexander A. McCormick of the Union League Club's special committee in charge of the celebration, signed by the editors of all papers in Chicago printed in the interest of Slavic people, asking that the invitation be withdrawn. The protest was received with surprise by Chairman McCormick and came almost simultaneously with a message from most simultaneously with a message from Count Apponyl regretting the Hungarian's inability to accept the club's invitation to speak. Count Apponyl said other engagements would prevent his being in Chicago to take part in the celebration.

The memorial says:

"We, the editors of the Slavic dailies and weeklies, printed in Chicago, as representative of Chicago citizeus of Slavic erigin, in approving the plan to celebrate the memory of George Washington, by a mammoth meeting at which all citizens of foreign birth are to be invited, deem it our duty as liberty-loving citizens to object to the presence of Count Albert G. Apponyl at that meeting.
"Our protest is based on the following facts: Count Appenyl, as Minister of Education, was responsible for the fuzilized at Cerrova, where so many Stovak peasants died innocently. His report in the Hungarian Parliament made after the massacre, that there is peace in that village," rather entitled him to be the propagator of the peace of death than of the high idea of universal peace."

Widow Says She Did Not Know Husband Cut Off Daughter With $500 Until His Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(Special.)
—The scene of the fight made by Hazel Kline Taylor to have the will of her father. Simon Kline, of Corvallis, Or., set aside on the ground of undue influence, was shifted to San Francisco today. With Charles J. Schnabel, of Portland, and Henry G. W. Dinkelspiel acting as attorneys for the contestant, the deposition of Mrs. Emma T. Kline, the widow, was taken before J. D. Brown, a notary public. J. F. Yates was present to represent Mrs. Kline.

This is the case in which the will of Simon Kline practically desinherited Hazel Kline Taylor, who was given $500 out of an estate that is estimated by Mrs. Kline at $75,000 and by her daughter at $150,000, because the daughter married a Gentile. In 1902 she wedded J. E. Gift of Vacaville, from whom "The invitation was extended after a committee meeting at which representatives of nearly all European races in Chicago were present and no delegate from the Slovaks expressed any objection when the name was presented."

The reasons assigned in the memorial, copies of which also were forwarded to Theodore Roosevelt and Andrew Carnesie, are, briefly, that the Count is medical tyranny, and, as Minister of Pducation, led the opposition to Slovaks in that kingdom."

The widow, in the deposition, says sho knew nothing of the will until after the death of her husband, and when asked if she approved of the disinheriting of her daughter, said that she had nothing to do with it, and merely accepted what her husband had done.

She denied absolutely that she purposely absented herself from the Corvallis hearing, and said she did not know why he disinherited his daughter, although she said that "Hazel continuously disappointed her father."

She admitted that the letters received by Simon Kline from Mrs. Reinstein, the marriage broker, relative to Hazel's actions in the East, disappointed Mr. Kline, but could not say to what extent. She also said that in spite of what had happened, the members of the fam-

Secretary Scouts Idea That Reciprocity Will Lead to Political Union-Broader Market Will Keep Down Living Cost.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 .- Though the people of the United States and Canada are substantially homogeneous people. with "deep moral and racial reciprociwith "deep moral and racial reciprocities," the benefits of the proposed commercial reciprocity with Canada "ought not to be endangered by the fear of relations too cordial and conceivably dangerous to the great Canadian loyalty to England," is the opinion expressed by Secretary of State Knox in an address at a banquet given by the Chicago Association of Commerce tonight.
Mr. Knox and James J. Hill joined in Annexation Not Probable.

Mr. Knox declared that, while migra-ions proceeded as constantly and as recly between Canada and the United States as between two states of this country, and while the two peoples have been welding together for two centuries. "there is not the slightest probability that this racial and moral union will involve any political change or answering or absorption."

will involve any political change or annexation or absorption."

"It is an ethnological fact that political units of the English-speaking people never lose their autonomy." said Mr. Knox. "Like bees, they give off their swarms, who set up for themselves independently, but they do not make political combinations among themselves Since the Revolution there has been almost undisturbed peace and amity between the two countries, and however governmental changes may have been bruited in the past, it is amity between the two countries, and however governmental changes may have been bruited in the past, it is probably more true today than ever before that the weight of sentiment and opinion, both in Canada and the United States, while desiring closer relations in all other respects, is crystallized in abelief that the present political separation is desirable and will lead to the best development of each nation and to better and more satisfactory relations between them.

Countries One for Defense.

"In the higher atmosphere and broader aspects of the situation it is certain that, if there should be any great world movement involving this continent. Canada and the United States would as a matter of course, act in the most perfect concert in defense of the common rights of a common blood and civilization."

Declaring, however, that the reciprocity proposition was "economic, not political," Mr. Knox asserted: "The United States recognizes with satisfaction that the Dominion of Canada is a permanent North American political unit She also said that in spite of what had happened, the members of the family still loved Mrs. Taylor.

"The deposition suits me." said Schnabel. "I did not expect that the witness of the other side would be favorable to us, but her evidence is so contradictory to what testimony has been taken that I think it will help our case."

Mr. Schnabel and his wife left this afternoon for Los Angeles, where they will remain for a week.

Larger Market Folls Monopoly. Mr. Knex said of the reciprocity

Mr. Knox said of the reciprocity agreement:

Recognising the condition which exists in our own country and without undertaking to define the causes which have led to the increased cost of living, the agreement seeks to give our millions of wage-enroing consumers the benefit of drawing upon the surplus food supplies nearest at hand, it saeks, by providing for the frosen possible interchange of commodities across a political boundary which, when it comes to production and commerce is an artificial boundary, to prevent those manipulations and those speculative fluctuations in prices which are harmful both to the producer and to the consumer. It may be stated as an axiom that the more street in movement of producis the less chance there is of decreasing the leartimate profits of the producer and of increasing the cost to the consumer by artificial scarcity.

While a reciprocity agreement limited to natural products would be beneficial, nevertheless in order that such an agreement should include manufactured commodities also. This, too, is done. Rates are mutually reduced on a large variety of manufactured. This list would have been ever larger had the Dominion reached the stage of Industrial development in which she foll that she could include a greater number of articles.

asher in the Fall of 18th, through a newspaper advertisement insarted by the latter requesting that some aged couple adopt her. She said Miss Ashley afterward came to her home in Westminster, near Boston, and later on helped in housework for which service she was paid.

The witness said that while Miss Ashleiv lived with her she never informed her that Colonel Albert Pope had filtreated her. She said that Miss Ashley explained to her the possession of money, with which she took trips to the South, by saying that she goj it from an "old, old man, who lived up the Hudson, and who wanted to marry her."

Mrs. Thompson said that "Lacky."
Baldwin had lunchson at her house in 182, and that afterward Lillian told her that Baldwin, whom she said was married and had grown children, wanted to adopt her. The witness denied that she had ever received a letter from Miss Ashleiv saying that Baldwin had married her or entered into a contract of marriang with her.

The deposition of Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker, Baldwin's daughter, was read at the afternoon session. Mrs. Stocker was unable to attend, being ill as a result of an automobile accident. maif hour to the eyes such spared to you many years in consequence.

Nothing gives the eyes such complete rest as the habit of closing them occasionally for a minute or two. In threatened cases of eye-strain I have sometimes advised no other cure and the patient has recovered his normal sight.

Where one uses the eyes constantly, especially for close work, as the woman who does fine sewing, embroidery or painting, the relief to eyes of lifting them from the work and closing them while one slowly counts twenty-five cannot be overestimated.

Another rest is to change the point of vision from time to time. Look away from what you are doing and gaze blankly into space. Do not attempt to concentrate on anything, merely look out of the window or into a distant corner of the room.

ing for which no appropriation has been made and for which Congress has fixed no limit of cost. There is no way of teiling how much money Congress will give for this building, and there will be no appropriation this session for building there, or elsewhere.

Until Congress has agreed upon this minor detail, the Treasury Department would have difficulty in getting plans, for architects would have nothing on which to base their sketches except the dimensions of the site. Nobody knows dimensions of the site. Nobody knows whether Congress will appropriate $500, 900, $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 for the Portland Postoffice, and therefore, the Sen-ator's request for the preparation of plans will probably have to be tabled until Congress fixes the price.
