From Yuma to Chicago Average of 35 Miles Hour Is Made and Six Hours Cut From Running Time of Golden State Limited.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Charles G. Gates, son of John W. Gates, dangerously ill with blood poisoning and hastening to consult a New York expert, broke all railroad speed records between Yuma, Ariz., and New York City today when a special train in which he had made the journey drew into the Grand Central Station tonight at 10 o'clock, having completed the trip in 75 hours.

Physicians met him at the station and were told by his attendants that he had stood the trip well.

Mr. Gates' train, which consisted of his private car "Ranger" and a baggage coach, left Yuma at 5 P. M. on Thursday and reached Chicago this morning at 4:15.

Twenty Minutes Lost.

He lost 20 minutes at the first street yards while his car was being switched from the Rock Island to the Lake Shore tracks and then continued his flight east.

Mr. Gates was in bed all the time. L. D. Henneman, Western passenger agent of the Lake Shore, was on hand to greet him.

A timetable of the journey follows: Left Yuma Thursday at 5 P. M. (Mountain time). Left El Paso at 7 A. M. Friday. Left Kansas City at 5 P. M. Saturday (Central time). Left Chicago at 5 A. M. Sunday. West of Kansas City Mr. Gates' train was delayed for considerable period by trouble on the lines ahead, but between Kansas City and Chicago particularly good time was made.

The Rock Island's crack train, the Golden Gate Limited, was made the journey from Yuma to Chicago in 68 hours. Mr. Gates' train covered the distance in 75 hours. His average speed for the trip from Yuma to Chicago was 35 miles an hour.

Gates in Cheerful Mood.

Although confined to his bed in one of the five special cars, Mr. Gates was in a cheerful mood when the train arrived here and in good condition.

MRS. BALDWIN ASKS SEPARATE PLACE FOR TRIALS.

Twentieth Century Girls Not Like Those of Former Days—Lodging-House Problem Vexes.

Portland needs a women's court, where women may be tried without being taken before the rabble which hangs in the police court, craving the sensational. This was the sentiment of Mrs. Lois G. Baldwin, expressed in her talk at the Unitarian Church last night. She said the city also needed a women's hotel, and that the Y. W. C. A. may lease the building on the southwest corner of Seventh and Taylor streets for the purpose.

Four years ago the Larabee Milling Company objected to a demurrage charge of $59 on some cars of grain switched to its mill at Stafford. The Oregon National Guard refused to pay the charge and the Missouri Pacific refused to set cars on the company's track until the charge was paid.

"The twentieth century girl is very different from the girls I used to know. They are impatient under their parents' restraint. It is astonishing to me some nights when I stand at the corner of Third and Morrison streets, to see the scores of little girls of 13 and 14 who come into the city to attend the moving-picture shows or the theaters.

"We are to have censorship of theaters, the censor to be appointed by the Mayor. It is astonishing to me some nights when I stand at the corner of Third and Morrison streets, to see the scores of little girls of 13 and 14 who come into the city to attend the moving-picture shows or the theaters.

"There are now no public dancehalls in this city. At one time there were five. During the year we made 201 special investigations. Sixty-three lodging-houses were reported to be harboring immoral girls, and a third of these the condition of the lodging-houses was very bad last year, 55 of them being pitfalls."

BOYS TOLD: START RIGHT

DR. DYOTT SEES MORAL IN 45-STORY SKYSCRAPER.

Foundation Must Be Laid Unless Character Is to Be Shaped, Says Minister.

Dr. Luther R. Dyott talked to 100 boys at the First Congregational Church last night. He did not preach; he just talked, and the boys were interested.

"I began by asking them if they knew what book in the Bible had only one chapter. He then quoted the 20th and 21st verses of Judges, and asked them to repeat the chapters within him. The talk was upon character building. No animal requires as much time to get ready to live as human beings do, he said. They spend a third of their lives getting ready to live. A third of that time is spent by the boys, he said, in thinking about the wrong things they can do when they are alone."

At these affairs there will be speaking in which the life of the leader of the revolutionary forces will be extolled and delineated to the enlightenment of the banqueters. One of the most interesting will be the joint affair conducted in the University Club dining hall by the Sons of the Revolution and the members of the Patriotic Club. Heretofore these societies have held separate banquets, but this year it was decided to hold them jointly.
