DEMONSTRATION OF "PARAWAX" AND HOWARD "DUSTLESS DUSTERS"

CRUSADE IS FELT

Dairymen Ask Authorities to "Let Up" for While.

DR. WHEELER SAYS "NO"

Battle to Eradicate All Impure Milk and Cream Leads to Formal Meeting Being Called for March 9.

Seeking relief from the rigid enforcement of the dairy and milk inspection laws of Portland, a number of milk and cream dealers met informally in the office of City Health Officer Wheeler yesterday and discussed for two hours the effect on their business that has resulted from the activities of the staff of inspectors and chemists employed to eradicate impure milk and cream. A formal session of the interests concerned, including dairymen, creamerymen and the health officials, will be held at the Commercial Club March 9.

Ever since Mayor Simon's aid was enlisted in the pure milk crusade, he has been firm in the battle to eradicate all impure milk and cream from this city, and members of the Board of Health are equally as determined to back up the City Health Officer and his staff in their work. The result is that many arrests of offenders have been made, a large amount of milk and cream has been confiscated and destroyed and hundreds of milk cows have been condemned.

this establishment, he said, should be plainly labelled as such, which fact would result in forcing the dairymen to dispense with this class of milk and to improve their herds and the conditions of their dairies until they were able to supply all their trade with first-class, pure milk and cream.

Plan Is Success in Europe. Such a system, Dr. Wheeler explained, has long been in vogue in Denmark and Sweden, as well as in other dairying countries, and, he said, has worked with success. The dairymen present expressed the belief that such a plan would be worked here.

W. C. Day, one of the prominent creamerymen of the city, declared that something must be done in the interests of the dairymen, or the trade is going to be ruined. T. S. Townsend, of the Townsend Dairy, spoke likewise. All of those present sought temporary relief from enforcement of the law. Dr. Wheeler, at the suggestion of one of the dairymen, promised to mail to each dairymen information as to the tests of cattle the herds within the territory supplying milk and cream to Portland. If tests prove that portions of the herds are infected, the facts are to be mailed to the other dairymen, so that they will have protection from purchasing any milk from the herd reported against.

MYSTERY CLOUDS MURDER

Witnesses Refuse to Give Details of Bonelli's Shooting.

Investigation of the assassination of Dominic Bonelli, at 675 Hood street, Sunday afternoon, was brought to an absolute standstill yesterday through the refusal of those at the scene of the murder to give the detectives any information upon the subject. Detectives Mallet and Craddock brought Dominic Coradino, his son Frank, and Joe Paganekero into the city yesterday and subjected them to a searching examination. They were willing to tell of everything up to the moment of the shooting, but at that point they stopped and merely shrugged their shoulders when asked who did the murder.

PORTLAND BEATS SOUTH

DR. WETHERBEE FINDS LOS ANGELES UNDER BIG DEBT.

Visitor to Metropolis Declares It Excels Home in Many Things but Is Behind in Others.

Because Los Angeles has an indebtedness of $18,000,000, a 25-mill tax rate and is tied to the Owens River project for $30,000,000, Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, who returned from a visit in the Southern California metropolis yesterday, announced that Portland, in prospects and civic pride, is far in the lead of the City of Angels.

"When in Los Angeles," said Dr. Wetherbee, "I made a comparative study of the city with Portland. One thing with which I was struck forcibly was the amount of its manufacturing. Los Angeles, I really believe, produces only one-third of the amount we produce every year. It has not the field for distribution. In connection with this I found in my talks with the factory-owners that they lean heavily on the fact that they have fuel oil at their doors and were able to produce cheaper than anybody else. I investigated this and discovered, owing to the piping of oil to Port Richmond on the sea, that we are able to buy fuel oil in Portland at the same price as a manufacturer can buy it in Los Angeles.
