Manufacturers' Association
"Made-in-Oregon" Exhibit

THIS great Industrial Exposition at Meier & Frank's opened the eyes of thousands yesterday to the immense scale on which manufacturing is done under the "Made-in-Oregon" banner.

Few people have any idea of the multitude of products manufactured within the state—of the wearing apparel, the food products, the everyday necessities which are made by Oregon people, with Oregon materials.

At great expense, both to ourselves and the Manufacturers' Association, these exhibits have been arranged. The big fourth floor of our Main Building fairly hums with activity—right before your eyes dozens of young women are engaged in the making of shirts, overalls, etc. Men are weaving bed springs, making tents, mattresses, etc.—besides all the big showings of finished products.

And in the show windows, too, overalls are being made. One window shows the production of coffee from the native tree to the packages in which it reaches the consumer. And there are many others too numerous to mention.
