SENATE VOTES ON LORIMER TODAY

Warring Factions Agree on Plan to Wind Up Business of Session.

TARIFF BOARD COMES NEXT

Illinois Senator Almost Sure to Win. Reciprocity May Still Compel Extra Session-Tariff Board Not Off Rocks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 .- The agreement of the Senate, reported shortly after 6 o'clock tonight, to vote at 1:30 P. M. tomorrow on the resolution to unseat Lorimer of Illinois and to make "unfinished business" of the bill to cre-ate a permanent tariff board, materfally improved the legislative situation. This improvement does not by any means wipe out the probability of an extra session of Congress, but it gave a ray of hope which was selzed upon eagerly by the advocates of Canadian storm clouds, which hung The atorm clouds, which hung menacingly low through an all-night session last night, lifted materially late today and, when the adjournment was taken shortly after 6 o'clock P. M., until 11 o'clock to morrow, there was a promise of a further clearing of the legislative akies. After a day of constant search for a basis of agreement, the pro-Lorimer Senators, most the pro-Lorimer Senators, most the pro-Lorimer Senators. of them opposed to the tariff board, and the pro-tariff board Senators, most of them opposed to Lorimer, "got to-gether" in a modus vivendi which cleared the situation and obviated the impending danger of another night ses-

So there will be a vote tomorrow afternoon on Lorimer's case and there is little reason to doubt that it will sus-tain Lerimer.

Tariff Board Likely to Win.

The tariff board bill is at least in materially improved position. The vote of 53 to 21, by which it was made the unfinished business, would indicate that, should it come to a vote, the bill would be passed by a substantial majority. Some go so far as to say it will receive the entire Republican to will receive the entire Republican vote of the Senate.

Hale gave notice he would attempt to put five appropriation bills through the Senate tomorrow afternoon and evening. These are the agricultural, the postoffice, the diplomatic and consider the fortifications and the millisular, the fortifications and the m'll-tary academy supply measures.
As a part of the arrangement clean-

As a part of the arrangement cleaning up the situation it virtually was agreed that the proposed increased rates on postage on the large magasines would be dropped from the postoffice bill, ending the possibility of a fillbuster on that measure. It also was said some other seriously controverted items in appropriation bills likely to cause delay would be eliminated.

If Hale's programme is carried out to-If Hale's programme is carried out to-morrow, and there is every reason to believe it will be, the Senate will be left with only the sundry civil, the naval and the general deficiency appro-priation bills to dispose of. Several speeches on divers topics were sandwiched in among the confer-ences. Stone spoke for two and a half hours against Lorimer, whom he criticised for not testifying before the investigating committee instead of reserving his defense for the Senate. He went into a detailed analysis of the #### Young Digs at Bourne.

Young, of Iowa, followed with an attack on the reciprocity bill from the farmer's standpoint. He made several witty sallies, saying that there were members of Congress who never saw farms except when they passed through the country in automobiles or limited "Formerly all hats went off to the farmer," said Mr. Young, "but now his toll is unappreciated. He is looked upon complacently. He is mainly thought to live in Kansas and to wear whiskers."

He called the agreement a calamity and placed the blame on the insurgents, who, he said, "took the commercial lives of their constituents into their hands and went forth to battle, as I think, for their personal ends."

Young referred to the speech of Bourne, of Oregon, last night, assail-ing President Taft, and saying he had tried to coerce Senators and Representatives through political patron-

"My friend from Oregon," said "My friend from Oregon." said Young. "decisimed against the great political boss and proclaimed the death of political liberty. He didn't say just when this death was to occur. I want to tell him that we have today the greatest political liberty in this country since the landing of Columbus.

"Why, Mr. President, we have 57 different varieties of Republicans alone—and the returns are not all in yet. The Democratic varieties will be discovered after the new Congress meets."

after the new Congress meets.

Upon the conclusion of his speech, which frequently provoked laughter. Young gave way to Senator Gronna, who spoke on reciprocity. He complained that the farmers had been excrificed to other interests, that the sarrement had been negotiated in the dark and that there was an implied threat in the demand that it be passed. Speaking in support of the tariff board bill. Newlands said he would not object to any appointments the President might make, since he had ap-pointed White, Lurton and Lamar to the Supreme Court.

Lawyer Denounces Mrs. Turnbull as Adventuress.

CLAIM CALLED MONSTROUS

Even if Anita Turnbull Were 'Lucky' Baldwin's Legitimate Daughter, She Is Only Entitled to $10, Contends McEnerney.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28.-The claim of Miss Anita Baldwin Turnbull, of Boston, to a daughter's share of the late "Lucky" Baldwin's millions was subjected to a violent verbal attack to-day by the atorneys for the estate. A motion was presented, asking Judge Rives to direct the jury to deny the young petitioner's claim to $2,500,000 of the estate, and the lawyers began a three days' argument in support of the began the argument on behalf of the heirs of Baldwin, and Bradner W. Lee, who drafted the will by which the old turfman expressly cut off with $10 bequests all claimants excepting his three daughters, Clara Stocker, Anita Mc-Laughrey and Rosalda Selby, followed.

Claim Is Called Monstrosity.

"A grotesque, incomprehensible, legal monstrosity," was McEnerney's char-acterization of the claim made by the girl's mother, Lillian Ashley Turnbull, that she and Baldwin had been married contract in San Francisco March 5,

McEnerney reviewed the evidence, pointing out the fact that the alleged marriage rested upon Mrs. Turnbull's unsupported word alone, and then, turning the attack upon the woman direct, he added:

"Now is the time and this the opportunity for this court to serve notice upon the adventuresses of the country to adopt a new system and let married men alone, when planning raids upon their estates after their death,"

Ten Reasons Are Given.

The motion for an instructed verdict gave 10 reasons, the most important of which were:

That no marriage ever took place between Mrs. Turnbull and the turf

That the evidence disproved Mrs. Turnbull's sworn statement that she and Baldwin entered into a contract of and Baldwin entered into a contract of marriage in March, 1893.

That Miss Anita Turnbull, the 17-year-old claimant, was not therefore a legitimate daughter of Baldwin.

That even if it were decided that she were his daughter, Baldwin purposely cut her off, "and all other bogus theirs," by incorporating in his will a provision that "$10 and no more should be given to such persons as may be adjudged, by a court, heirs at law."

Attorney Lee argued that, even if the court should deny the motion for an instructed verdict and Miss Turnbull were recognized as Baldwin's daughter, she could receive only $10 and not $2,500,000.
