STUDENTS TO CONTEST

LIVESTOCK JUDGING MADE INTERSTATE EVENT. Corvallis and Pullman Will Send Picked Teams—Show Designed to Develop Industry.

Two classes, each consisting of 10 picked students, from Oregon and Washington, will be pitted against each other under the direction of Professor Ermine Potter of Corvallis, and Professor W. T. McDowell, of Pullman, at the First Annual Pacific Northwest Livestock Show to be held in Portland March 20, 21 and 22 at the Union Stockyards.

These students are selected by a process of elimination from the classes of animal husbandry. They will judge the livestock on exhibition and make their marks on prepared blanks. Upon these marks J. L. Bush, of Denver, expert judge of livestock, will decide as to the winners of the prizes offered to the class and individual students making the best record.

Considerable interest has been aroused and the students are fired with the enthusiasm of the contest. Professor Linfield, of Roseman, Mont., holding the chair of animal husbandry in the Montana Agricultural College, has written that he will be unable to be present with a class, but he will attend himself and watch the contest on between Washington and Oregon.

The livestock show is given under the auspices of the Pacific Northwest Livestock Association. The purpose is to bring direct assistance to the movement of attractive settlers to the Coast and to show that the Northwest is not directly dependent upon a fruit crop for its existence. It is contended by the promoters that the settler in the East does not appreciate the value of the Coast as a stock-raising country and particularly that portion of the Northwest which has a mild climate with enough cold weather to produce the right kind of meat.

The programme for the livestock show, just issued, is: March 20, 1 P. M.—Students' judging contest; 4 P. M.—Lectures. March 21, 10 A. M.—Judging carlots of cattle; 11 A. M.—Judging single steers; 12 P. M.—Judging carlots of swine; 2 P. M.—Judging hogs in pens of five; 3 P. M.—Judging sheep in carlots; 4 P. M.—Judging wethers, single animals.

March 22, 9:30 A. M.—Fat cattle; 10 A. M.—awards of killing contest announced; Judging draft horses in harness; 1 P. M.—registered cattle.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS TODAY.—The Portland Women's Club meets this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Women's Woodcraft Hall. The address will be given by President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon.

OREGON MECCA IN 1920

New York Publisher Will Retire Then and Enjoy Life Here.

"Oregon in 1920" is the motto that inspires in all his endeavors Casper Wistar Hodgson, a widely-known magazine writer and publisher of Yonkers, N. Y., who is in Portland yesterday.

He is here to see the place, which Mr. Hodgson has set for the termination of all active work and of his coming to Oregon to live. Although he is a native of California he prefers the state to any other for home life, comfort and the enjoyment of his declining years.

His wife is a native of Salem and, too, he eagerly desires to live. Although he has not yet selected their location it is likely that Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson will choose to live on their farm near Salem, as both are fond of nature and an eagerness to live in rural communities.

Mr. Hodgson has made an enviable reputation as a publisher. During the recent war he produced a map of the Philippine Islands which Government engineers pronounced the best work of the kind ever issued. He is a frequent contributor to Sunbeam Magazine and during his stay in Portland is making that office his headquarters. Above his desk, as well as above the mantel in the living room of his home, he has the figure "1920" carved on a piece of Oregon fir to remind him that that is the year in which he is to quit all other work and start enjoying life in its fullest measure.

LIBRARY MAY BE BUILT Montavilla Men and Women May Divide Cost of Undertaking.

Montavilla may buy a lot and build a library building so that a permanent branch library may be established in that suburb within a year. H. B. Dickinson addressed the people at the library entertainment in Grebel's Hall Wednesday night particularly on this point.

He said that the men of Montavilla ought to be able to buy a lot and build a building. He did not expect that this could be done at once, but he strongly urged that the project be undertaken.

If the people of Montavilla, he said, would provide the lot and building the City Association would establish a permanent branch in place of the present reading-room now maintained by the citizens.

There was a large attendance and the suggestion was received with much enthusiasm. Steps will be taken at once to start the movement for this permanent library. The entertainment netted $24.

BONCI'S BEAUTIFUL VOICE Wins Greatest Ovation From Enthusiastic Houses in San Francisco.

Triumphs in San Francisco have now come to be judged entirely by the standard set recently by their beloved Tetraxini, and an artist is welcomed with ovations or cheers which are now measured by the Tetraxini record. It is a triumph then, of great degree, that the famous tenor Bonci has gained there, for one of the critics says: "The abandonment of our approval could be compared only with that of a Tetraxini triumph."

Bonci was greeted there by the largest house ever assembled to greet an artist who is making his initial bow to that captious public and he has been the real musical sensation of the recent season there. The great tenor comes to the Hellig next Wednesday evening for a song recital, and the seat sale for it will open Monday morning at the box office. The Bonci concert is under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman.

TO CLOSE OUT THE BUSINESS. Owing to ill-health and his many other interests, Mr. Hovenden, of the Hovenden Piano Company, will retire, and is offering pianos, player pianos, phonographs, organs, etc., at actual factory prices. See their advertisement in this issue.

HOVENDEN PIANO CO. To Close Out the Business.

YE OREGON GRILLE. Messrs. Davis & Glyn, comedian singers, are still entertaining the patrons of Ye Oregon Grille with their clever impersonations. A crowded house greets them every evening at dinner and after theater. All this week.

Sealy-Lowell Co. Grocers, Bakers, Tea and Wine Merchants

We are rearranging our stock. We are moving into the Stark-street portion of our store now occupied by M. J. Jones, the butcher, and we hope by this time next week to be settled in our new quarters, which will be the largest, best lighted and best arranged grocery store in the Northwest. Our object in making this move has been to concentrate our sales force and bring them in closer contact with our customers, thereby saving a great deal of lost energy and that way facilitating the assembling of our goods, getting out orders and taking care of our enormous trade, which is growing every minute.

FRENCH PASTRY The quality of our French Pastry is so good and the demand so great that we have found it necessary to bring another high-class French pastry baker from San Francisco, who arrived here today and will take charge of that portion of our baking business, and if half that is said about him is true, the ladies of Portland may justly look forward to a revelation in that line of pastry.

DEMONSTRATION The ladies are invited to stop in and see the demonstration given by the Standard Oil Company of Para Wax. Its uses are many. We have decided to continue our sale on Prunes at the same prices prevailing last winter. We still have a large quantity of Fancy Apples, Florida Grape Fruit at popular prices. What Every Woman Should Know Don't Be Tempted by the Easy Terms and Dollar-a-Week Plans

Any store that does a credit business has accounts which are never paid. Those that do pay their bills not alone have to help pay those bad accounts, but are also paying extravagant prices and enormous profits which credit stores have to charge to protect themselves against so many bad accounts. The big expense of an office and collectors comes out of the profits, which you also have to pay for. As we buy and sell for cash only, having none of these bad risks and office and collectors' expenses, we sell you better merchandise for considerably less money than any other store in this city.
