DECISIVE VICTORY WON BY FEDERALS

Mexican Rebels Driven From La Colorado After Day of Hot Fighting.

HERMOSILLO IS NOW SAFE

Battle Opens on All Sides of Town, Continues in Streets-Mines Are Famous, Owned by Americans and Pay Rich Dividends.

AGUA PRIETA, Mexico, March 23, via Douglas, March 23.—Immediate danger of an attack upon Hermosilio seems to have been averted for the present by defeat of 500 rebels yesterday at La Colorado, a mining camp which they had taken without trouble a few days ago.

A battle that lasted all day terminated in the retreat of the rebels. The government report places the number dead at eight. The rebels concentrated from the south, evidently planning a function with Juan Cabral's band of 250 marching from Carbo. A Federal force commanded by Luis Medino Barron, chief of the rurales in Sonora, with four under efficers and 240 mes. left Hermosillo for the south to retake the town, which has a population of 2000, many of whom are Americans.

Fight Continues All Day.

La Colorado is 10 miles southeast of Hermosillo. The Federals arrived in the morning. The country about is fiat, and as the attack was made in the open, there was soon spirited fighting all around the city and later in the streets. After nine hours of fighting the rebels withdrew from the city, leaving it again in the hands of the Federal forces.

It is reported from Guaymas that the Southern Pacific has demanded damages for all bridges destroyed in Sonora and that if they are not allowed by the government all train service from Nogales south to Tepic will be stopped. Many bridges have been burned between Coral and San Blas, in the State of Sinalos.

Mines Owned by Americans.

La Colorado, which is now playing an important part in the Mexican revolution, is an historic gold mining camp. It is but two miles from Minas Prietas, making the two practically one city, its principal mine is owned by Mitchell. Gates and other officials of the fillinois Steel Company, of Chicago. It has an output of several hundred thousand dollars a month and has a record of $12,500,000 in one year. It is on a narrow-gauge railroad that runs between Torres and Minas Prietas.

"If, in the conversation, I referred to the desirability of reforming our electoral lesislation, it was as one of the various measures which, in my opinion, it would be advisable to adopt, and not as one of the things that are at present being considered by the Government."

Mr. Limantour denied that he spoke of antagonism between the people and the administration and lack of accord between the governing element and the governad, adding:

"I referred only to the disorganization and the certain inquietude which I have found in the public spirit and which contrasts with the enthusiasm and the absolute confidence in the future which still existed four months ago, the second arrived it was planned to attack the city.

which still existed four months ago, when we celebrated our centennial."

The minister's fourth point follows:

"When you asked me what was the truth respecting the alleged negotiations with the rebels and the concessions that the Government was tions with the rebels and the concessions that the Government was disposed to make them. I said to you that there had not been any negotiations so far as I knew, and that the only determination reached up to the present time has been of a up to the present time has been of a concession.

Some days ago warning was given to General Laque, in command of the Mexican garrison, by the American commander, that the crossing of armed men would be considered a hostile act.

Relations between the United States and Mexican customs officials here are daily becoming less harmonious. Previous to the taking of the Hic Grande ford by the insurgents, that point was designated by the Mexican officials as the port of entry. When the insurrector captured the ford, the Mexican officials acught to open another crossing, but the American customs officers objected and have since disarmed gendarmes who attempted to cross the river at other points.

CASAS GRANDES, Mex., March 20, via El Paso, March 23.—Some action by the State Department at Washington, toward the protection of the Americans in jail here is eagerly awaited by the prisoners. Of 17 prisoners classed as insurgents, two are Germans, one is an Italian and 14 claim to be citizens of the United States.

The men are apprehensive that they will be kept in jail indefinitely and will not be given fair trials until after the war. All appeals to the Federal officials for the names and addresses of the men have been fruitless, it being stated that a week ago an official report had been sent by Colonei Cuellar to Mexico Oliy and that, as soon as conditions permit, the prisoners will be marched to Chihushna City to be tried for sedition.

LOS ANGELES, March 21-(Special.) For some months now the American Por some months now the American public has been kept informed, or misinformed as the case may be, of the doings of a little band of revolutionists on the south side of the Mexican boundary line. Not the least important feature of the news has been the almost daily reports of the smuggling of arms, men and ammunition through the lines of United States troops to the insurgents. Money and food supplies have gone through also, although the American authorities would have you believe otherwise. And all of this, or at least a very large part of it, has been done under the direction and according to the plans of a little group of writers and newspaper workers, with their headquarters at 113 ½ East Fourth street, Los Angeles.

Ricardo Fiores Magon, his brother, Enrique Fiores Magon, and John Kenneth Turner, the author of a series of, articles on Mexico that attracted wide attention, are the leaders of the little group. With them is Antonio I. Villereal, a well-known leader of Mexican anarchists, and L. Guiterrex De Lara and Mrs. De Lara. These and one or two others make up what they have called "La Junta del Partido Liberal Mexicano" (The Junta of the Mexican Liberal Party.) They also edit and publish the revolutionary paper "Regeneracion." This is done openly, although every effort has been made by the Mexican and even the officials of the United States Government to stop them. public has been kept informed, or mis-

Finance Plans Brew.

Still another plan is being worked out in those rooms. It is no less than to finance insurrectionary movement in the north of Mexico, dictating its management so as to harass Mexican troops without open warfare, with the goal of forming an independent state of the states of Chilanahus, Sinalos, Senora of forming an independent state of the states of Chihnahua, Sinaloa, Sonora and Baja or Lower California, under one government and that a socialistic one, and eventually turning this new nation over to the United States. The head-quarters of this great scheme are in Chicago, but the main directing point is there in those dirty upper rooms.

There is a fear even among the most optimistic of these revolutionists, and all revolutionists are optimistic by nature, else they could not be revoluters, that the plan of federation of states will be balked even if the revolution goes through, for there is conflict of opinion among the insurgents themselves.

Founded long before the actual out break of hostilities, the Junta has been steadily pouring a stream of men, money, arms and munitions of war into big supply depots hidden away in North Mexico. Not even the spies employed by President Diaz and the American Government have been able to trace these, so shrewdly has the work of forwarding them been carried on by the Junta. The plan employed has been easy. The shippers of the contraband selected some little station in California near the border and shipped the arms and ammunition in big packing boxes, marked mining machinery, to that point. There the stuff was taken to the warehouse of some sympathizer, opened and repacked into smaller bundles, that could be carried on the backs of burros, and so across the line into Mexico. So well has this work been done, that Mexicall, a month age without supplies of that kind, now has pienty to fight off an army.
