COX WINS BLOW THEN GETS JOL

Circuit Court, Enjoins Judge From Pushing Case but Latter Fights Back.

TRIBUNALS ARE IN SNARL

When Writ From Higher Bench Is Served on Jurist Latter by Prosecuting Attorney Files Serious Charges.

CINCINNATI, O., March 22.-Within an hour after the Circuit Court by a majority decision, given by Judges Peter S. Wing and S. A. Smith, had enjoined Judge Frank W. Gorman from proceeding with the trial of George B. Cox on the charge of perjury, Prosecuting Attorney Henry T. Hunt late to-day filed an affidavit charging both of the above judges with "bins and prejudice," and asked that they be com-dice," and asked that they be compelled to vacate the bench.

The hearing of the motion will go before Chief Justice Taggart, of Wooster, O. The affidavit was filed on behalf of Judge Gorman and the prosecutor.

This new move in a contest between judges and lawyer which promises to get warmer every minute, was a blow to Cox's lawyer, who counted on the Circuit Court's injunction against Gorman as a victory.

The Circuit Court's injunction was designed to prevent Gorman from tak-ing up the case until the Circuit Court ing up the case until the Circuit Court decides a mandamus proceeding against Prosecuting Attorney flunt, which endeavors to compet to rule as to whether an affidavit by Cox alleging that Judge Gorman is "blassed and prejudided" is sufficient to remove the case from Gorman's court. Judge Gorman took exception to the injunction in open court today and decided that he would wait until temerrow morning before announcing whether he would obey it. Before the injunction was granted, Judge Gorman had given notice that he would rule on the motion to quash the indictment against Cox at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It was just seven minutes

They went to sleep for two hours, but about I o'clock they were sick again, and twitched and rolled a great deal. She said she did not think the boys were very iii. She had raised six children and did not call a doctor. She pave them more mustard and water.

Doctors Arrive Too Late.

When she heard Mrs. Sherman Drew, who keeps the hotel, stirring in her room, the second one from hers, at 7 o'clock this morning, she asked her to call a douter and Dr. Herbert C. Lleser responded at once. He arrived at 7:30 o'clock, and saw at once that the boys were dying, so had Dr. J. M. P. Chalmers summoned. They applied atimulants and washed the stomach of the mants and washed the stomach of the younger lad, but they were too late.

William died about 8 o'clock and his younger brother died less than an hour afterward. Coroner Knapp took charge of the bodies and ordered the postmortem examination, when informed by the dectors that the death of the boys was caused by some poison.

Absence of Convulsions Noted.

The doctors said they believed death was not caused by ptomaines, but resembled the effect of morphine or some form of oplum. The boys' eyes were affected and they were drowsy when the doctors reached them. Had the poison been ptomaines, the victims would have had convulsions and they would have had convulsions and they would have been affected more severely and sooner than they are said to have been! It was reported that H. Jurgens had eaten noodles at the same place last night and that when he arose this morning he was unable to talk. When asked today if he had been affected by them he said. "No, I was not sick from them, and I ate a whole lot of them." Others also ate noodles there last night but no bad effects have been reported. The doctors said they believed death

It provides that each political district shall have local option on woman's suffrage. If the City of Chicago, for example, votes for it at a referendum, the women there will have a vote on city officers. If a county indorses it, all women in that county may vote for county officers. If the entire state approves it by a referendum vote, they will have the right to ballot for state officers.

The Senate voted Tuesday, 21 to 20, to indefinitely postpone the bill. Then Mrz. Lee O'Neil Browne's Speech on Libel Bill Disappoints.

4 AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

One Urging That All Newspapers and Presses Be Burned by Sheriff Is Rejected as "Word of Mouth" Suggestion.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 23.-Lee O'Neil Browne's speech on his libel bill roved a disappointment in the House today, when the measure was called up on the order of second reading, and advanced to third rending. Early in the orning word went out that Browne's bill was coming up and in consequence visitors throughout the Capitol assem-bled in the Hull of Representatives expecting to hear a rousing speech. Four amendments offered by the judiciary ommittee were adopted without com-

Representative Rapp offered two amendments which were voted down on a viva voce vote. One made libel by "word of mouth" subject to the provisions of the bill. The other added a new section directing Sheriffs in every county to assemble all newspapers, presses and newspaper plants in the public square at the county seat and burn them.

Representative Piercy offered an Representative Piercy offered an amendment adding a new section of the bill providing that in any trial, civil or criminal, brought by any public official elective or appointive, or by any candidate, the truth of the matter published shall be a bar to recovery in civil suits and to any conviction in any criminal action. The amendment was tabled.

The bill was then ordered engrossed
