Bills Prepared to Let Homesteader Take All Nonirrigable Areas.

COMMUTERS GET CHANCE

Clause of Homestead Law Now Nullifled to Be Made Effective and Agricultural Land Taken Out of Forest Reserves.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington, March II.—Representative A. W. Lafferty has prepared, and next week will introduce several bills intended to open up to settlement some of the attractive public lands that are now beyond the reach of the homesecker, either because of restrictions imposed by law or by reason of executive orders making them unavailable for entry. It is Mr. Lafferty's purpose to call these bills up in the public lands committee as soon as he can get a hearing, and he has hopes that favorable action may be had at the special session. had at the special session had at the special session.

The bills in question, while general in their terms and applicable to all the West, will operate to make available several million acres of public land in Oregon, says Mr. Lafferty, and, if passed, he believes that many homes can be established in his state within the next two years which otherwise will be located elsewhere.

All Non-Irrigable Land Opened.

The most important bill drawn by The most important bill drawn by Mr. Lafferty amends the enlarged homestead set by making it applicable to all nonirrigable agricultural public land. Under the present law the Secretary of the Interior designates the land that can be entered in 220-acre tracts. The Lafferty bill removes this provision, and will make all the remaining public land in Eastern Oregon subject to entry in double the quantity that can new be taken, except on the that can now be taken, except on the areas designated by the Interior Department. In effect, this bill amends the homestead law by permitting the entry of $20 instead of 150 acres by Non-Timbered Land Restored.

Next in importance to the bill just mentioned is a joint resolution directing the President to eliminate from the forest reserves of the West all non-timbered land and to restore the same to entry under appropriate laws. The resolution also directs the restoration resolution also directs the restoration to entry of all lands now included in the withdrawals for reclamation projects where there is no immediate prospect of the land being used for reclamation purposes. There is quite an area of land tied up in Oregon in this way today, and as there will be no money available for new projects (except the West Umatilla) for the next elv or seven years Mr. Lafferty is anxeix or seven years, Mr. Lafferty is aux-ious that the land shall no longer be withheld from use, but shall be made withheid from use, but shall be made subject to entry.

A third provision of the resolution directs the restoration to entry of all excessive lands now included in withdrawals made for the protection of power sites. The land restored, in each case, is to become subject to home-

Commutation Made Effective.

The third measure amends the commutation clause of the homestead act (section 2301, R. S., U. S.) and authorestead entryman after he has eided upon, cultivated and improved his ciaim for the period of 14 months, regardless of what his intention may have been at the time he made his homestead entry. The Department, by recent rullings, has made it impossible for a settler to commute by raving the for a settler to commute by paying the $1.25 an acre where the special agents could show that the settler intended so to do before, or at the time of, making his homestead application. This ruling of the Department practically repealed the commutation clause and creative parrowed the concernations of greatly narrowed the opportunities of settlers to acquire lawfully title to small tracts of the public domain.

TWO SUITS TRANSFERRED

Federal Court to Hear Railway Contract Cases.

George Perry's suit against the Utah Construction Company for $11,484.15 and John Morandas' suit against the L. R. Wattis Company and the Utah Construction Company, were trans-ferred yesterday from the Lane County Circuit Court to the Federal Court in Portland.

Morandas is administrator of John Thalasines' estate. He is suing for $7500, Thalasines having been killed when assisting to move a steam shovel between Natron and Klamath Falls. He was employed by the Wattis company. but the Utah company was the contractor constructing the railroad. The accident happened June 20, 1916.

Perry says he took work as a sub-contractor on a railroad line in Flumas County, Cal. The Utah concern owed him 185,184.39 for work done, he said, but paid only $55,012.74; this sum representing the amount the Utah company paid Perry's laborers and for merchandise and materials he used. He demands the balance of $11,151.66, and $532.50 for constructing a crib or a wagon road near the railroad.

RADICALS PACK COUNCIL

OPEN LABOR MEETING CAP-TURED BY SOCIALISTS.

Recall May Be Invoked to Depose Officers Regarded as Harmful to Union Cause.

Socialists packed and captured an open meeting of the Central Labor Council in the Labor Temple last night. When the formal programme, arranged by the conservative members of the Council, had been carried out, Tom Lewis, a Socialist street talker, was called for. Lewis immediately entered into a discussion of Socialism but his utterances were too vitriolic for the utterances were too vitrolic for the less radical members of his audience, who arose in large numbers and left the hall, leaving the meeting in the hands of the Socialists. Before the meeting adjourned, not a man actively identified with organized labor, as it is represented by the Central Labor Council, remained in the hall.

Council, remained in the hall.

Among those leaving the hall was Will F. Daly, president of the Council. Virtually all of the other officers of the organization are Socialists and they held forth without interruption. A movement has already been initiated to the conservative members of movement has already occal intracted by the more conservative members of the Council for removing the Socialists from the present official control of the Council. To accomplish this the re-call probably will be invoked, as the desirs of friends of organized labor to place the organization in less radical hands is so great that the movement will not be deferred until the regular election of officers several weeks hence. The formal programme last night included an illustrated address by Mr. Daly, president of the Council, or Unions Do Things." He gave a history of the Union Printers' Home at Colo-

PENDLETON MAY DECIDE TO MOVE CLOCKS AHEAD HOUR.

Through Life We Are Creatures of Hands of Dial," Declares Plan Promoter

PENDLETON, Or., March 31 .- (Spe cial.)-The "conservation of daylight" movement, announcement of which was made in The Oregonian yesterday, has created no little stir and there is some hope of its general adoption by the business men and citizens here.

The idea is to have all Pendleton clocks turned shead an hour so that people will get up an hour earlier in the morning, have an hour of extra daylight for recreation in the evening and ent to hed an hour earlier at pight and go to bed an hour earlier at night and go to bed an hour earlier at night without being aware of the fact.

Through habit we are creatures of clocks and all our actions are regulated by the hands upon the dial," said President Leon Cohen, of the District Fair Association and head of The People's Warehouse, who is the prime mover in the new scheme.

He would have the change of time made during the Spring, Summer and early Fall months only, and insists that after a few days no confusion or inconvenience would result from the innovation. He further believes people venience would result from the innovation. He further believes people would live longer, and be happier as well as better because of the extra hour of daylight for the recreation which would be afforded.

The movement was first started in Pendleton by Mr. Cohen last Spring and though it met with much favor at that time it failed of general adoption. The local high school, however, adopted the plan with much satisfaction to pupils and instructors.

Son of Victim Declares Contract Nurse Holds for Treating Father Forgery-She Is Cool During Entire Course of Inquiry.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 31 .- The Coroner's jury in the case of Gillett Whealy, the reputed wealthy Welling-ton, Kan., man, who died here suddenly last Saturday morning, returned a ver-dict today that the deceased came to his death as a result of a large quantity of morphine having been adminis-tered by persons unknown.

A woman claiming to be the contract

A woman claiming to be the contract wife of Whealy testified she heard the latter snoring loudly and failing to arouse him, summoned a physician, who pronounced the man dead. The woman's actions aroused suspicion and she was placed under arrest. The officials are continuing their investigation. ontinuing their investigation.
It was learned late today that, according to the authorities, the name of the woman being held is L. Bertiss Gillett.

The woman has been a hospital urse in New York, Chicago, San Fran-isco, Yokohama and Hongkong. She cisco, Yokohama and Hongkong. She holds a contract to be paid $20,999 within a specified time. The son of Whealy says the papers are forgeries. During the Coroner's hearing the woman was very cool. Cross-examined, she evaded many direct questions, but gave the names of places she had visited, also professed to be an ex-real estate dealer in Western land and to have made a study of irrigation problems.

The woman is being held pending further investigation, but no charge has been filed against her.

MONTH JUST ENDED HAS RAIN-FALL OF .63 INCH.

Record of 1885 Equalled-Last Day Warmest Ever Recorded at This Stage of Year.

With the exception of the record for the month of March, 1885, the month closing yesterday was the dryest ever ed in Portland. According to the records of the United States Weather, the total precipitation was but 0.63 of an inch, which is exactly the same amount of rainfall had for March 28 years ago. Yesterday, the last day of the month, was not only clear, but it was one of the warmest days ever recorded for March at this station, the maximum temperature being 751 degrees.

For more than five weeks dry weather has obtained in nearly all districts of the Northwest, there being very little rainfall since the latter part of February. While there is nothing to indicate that the dry period will be broken immediately. Weather Forecaster Edward A. Beals is of the opinion that the "dry spell" will continue much longer. As the mean rainfall for March is 5.03 inches, it is apparent that Portland is inches, it is apparent that Portland is shy of rain to the extent of 4.60 inches. In contrast to the drouth of the March just passed, the greatest amount of rainfall ever recorded by the local bureau for the corresponding month was had in March, 1872 25 years ago, when there was a total of 12.76 inches.

Between March 3 and the last day of the month there were no cloudy days, being a stretch of 2 days of clear weather. There were in the month only six days that were partly cloudy, one cloudy day and two days when there was slight weather, vegetation is growing rapidly, many kinds of fruit trees are in bloom and crops of all kinds are making fast progress. It has been an unusually favorable Spring for farmers to prepare the soil and plant their crops. The early Spring work is about completed in most districts and good rains are now hoped

March Weather Conditions at Astoria Near Record Mark.

ASTORIA, Or., March 11.—(Special.)

March, 1911, while not a record-breaker so far as weather conditiona-are concerned, has been an exceptionally pleasant one and has disproved the old adage that "when March comes in like a lamb it goes out like a lion." in like a lamb it goes out like a lion."
According to the records in Weather Observer Gilmore's office the rainfall during the month was 2.85 inches, or 6.16 inches less than the average for the corresponding month of previous years, which is 9.05 inches. On one day, the 24th, during the big gale that raged off the coast, the precipitation was 1.52 and but for it the month would have the defeat Warch since the have been the driest March since the records have been kept here. There records have been kept here. There have been three years in which the rainfal during the month of March was less than it was this year. In 1867 the rainfall was 2.56 inches, in 1884 it was also 2.56 inches and in 1885 it was 1.55 inches. The three years which had the handless that the large temperature sainfall during the month of heaviest rainfall during the month of March are 1859, when it was 21.32 inches: 1873, when it was 18.55 inches, and 1875, when it was 28.60 inches.

ALBANY, Or., March 31.—(Special.)— The month just closing has been the driest March this part of the state has driest March this part of the state has experienced in 26 years. The rainfall at Albany this month was 36 of an inch and according to the records of F. M. French, United States weather observer at Albany, this is the lowest rainfall recorded here in the month of March since 1885, when the official record was 31 of an inch. The unusual dryness of March, 1911, is shown by the Government record of rainfall at Albany for the month of March for the past eight years as follows: 1903, 2:92 inches; 1904, 2.30 inches; 1905, 5.88 inches; 1906, 2.62 inches; 1907, 4.42 inches; 1908, 3.86 inches; 1909, 1.81 inches; 1910, 1.63 inches.

BRIDGE QUARREL MAY END

Court Decision May Solve Difficulty of Aberdeen Residents.

ABERDEEN. Wash, March 31.—
(Special).—With the decision to be handed down within a day by Judge Mason I. Irwin of the Superior Court at Montesano on the question of the validity of the tax levy fixed by the City Council, final settlement of the long squabble over the building of a new bridge across the Wishkah River to North Aberdeen is expected. The old bridge was condemned and a new one was imperative. Some others wanted a new site; some were for a wooden bridge; others for a steel bridge. In the meantime the district has been served by a ferry.

the meantime the district has been served by a ferry.

The United States War Department refused to grant a permit for the use of the old site and Anthony Damiteo brought injunction proceedings to prevent removal. Now the council, disgusted by the litigation, which finally extended itself to a question of the legality of the tax levy for the whole city, has given the North Siders one week in which to quit their quarreling. Failing, the ferry will be discontinued. So property owners of the second ward, which includes North Aberdeen, plan to get together next Monday night and consent to removal.

The Mount Hood company agrees to pay half the cost of the constructing reservoirs in the Little Sandy basin, not to exceed $50,000. These are to be constructed above the intake of the company, and will permit the river to flow through the reservoirs, to pure water. The city has the first right to the use of the excess water for domestic or municipal purposes. Besides this, the company will pay to the city a tax of 2½ per cent of gross earnings for power sold in the city and 1 per cent for power transmitted through the city for sale outside. A provision for 25 per cent tax on power sold to competitors is included as a check on future consolidations.
