NORTHWEST GROWTH BIG

Comparing Population of 8 Years Ago With Conditions Today, Oregon and Washington to Have Astonishing Prosperity.

SPOKANE, April 7.- "With the pastage of one generation there will be, I firmly believe, four cities on the Pacific Coast, each with over a million population, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Port-

This is Theodore Roosevelt's view of the future of the Pacific Coast, as ex-pressed today to various reception comwho He mittees from Washington towns who bearded his train to greet him. He added, however, that he was more con-cerned as to the growth of the farming districts, as the cities would take care of themselves. Also, he said, he had been gratified by the progress made over the whole Pacific Slope, but particularly in the states of Oregon and Washington. Mr. Roosevelt founded his prediction as to the growth of four great cities by the Pacific Ocean on a comparison of what he saw eight years ago, when he traveled from end to end of the coast as President of the United States, with what he has seen and learned during what he has seen and learned during his present tour over the same ground as a private citizen.

Roosevelt Grows Enthusiastic.

During his many train-end talks today he expressed amazement at the progress made in eight years. He had expected, he said, that he would see a wonderful change for he had always believed that the Far West would de-velop rapidly; but what had actually been accomplished far overreached his expectations. He grew enthusiastic over the prespect of the years to come.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived in Spokane late tonight, but the lateness of the hour did not diminish the enthusiasm with which he was received. A great throng blocked the streets about the depot when his train pulled in and cheers greeted the first appearance of the ex-President. He held an informal re-ception on the depot platform, then was hurried to his hotel for a night's sleep, preparatory to the ceremonies of tomorrow, of which he will be the cen-

Washington extended Mr. Roosevelt a continued ovation today as his train awapt through the Inland Empire. More than a dozen times he was called to the roar platform of his car to talk to throngs which cheered to the echo his setrines of good citizenship. At each ctown elaborate preparations to well him had been made and at several points his talks developed into real addresses.

Result of Great Work Shown.

Mr. Roosevelt was given the oppor-tunity to see for kimself today much of (the results of the National irrigation policy for the establishment of which he worked during his years in the White

With Senator Poindexter and later Governor Hay, who boarded the train at Peaco to tell him of the facts and figures, Mr. Roosevelt learned at first hand what the bringing of the water to the land had meant. He did not fall to talk of conservation and reclamation at every town where he spoke. For the most part, however, Mr.

For the most part, however, Reosevelt devoted his attention to views on good citizenship, what he him-self atyles "sermons," and to warnings, that the progressive governmental measures, recently adopted, must be ex-ercised with justice to the great corpora-tions as well as to the people if they are

WINS POINT GRANITOID

Street Committee Favors Pavement for North Front Street.

If the Council upholds the recommen dation of its street committee, made pesterday afternoon, North Front street from Tooth to Sinteenth streets will be the first street in Portland to be paved with granitoid. The railroad tracks in the center of the street will not be paved for a while, as the Northern Pa-cific Terminal Company is not ready, but 29 feet on each side will be paved

There have been several attempts to granitold pavement in Portland, it being a new material here. It is said to be a good pavement, and undoubtedly will have a chance here, as Mayor Simon and the Executive Board are favorable to all possible competition in paying. If the Council orders this rk done as recommended, bids will be called for and it will soon be known what figures the company will give.

False Rumors Circulated in Washington Town Regarding Crash Are Soon Stopped.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 7 .- (Spedal.)-That the Vancouver National Bank, of this city, would have a "run," was either thoughtlessly or maliciously irculated here several days ago. The bank officials, when they heard of it, took it as a joke, but they soon noticed that quite a number of the business men of the city were excited, and this resuited in small withdrawals, although rious. The run was stopped absolutely today.

The rumor spread like wild fire, but to pacify the patrons of the bank and to restore complete confidence in the in-

Chief Justice Eakin Grants Permission for Quo Warranto Proceeding.

EARLY HEARING PROBABLE

Initiative Is Taken by Governor's New Appointees-Formality of Trial in Lower Courts Is Avoided by Action.

SALEM. Or., April 7.—(Special.)—Chief Justice Eakin, of the Supreme Court, today granted privilege to file suit in the first instance before that body by que warrante proceedings to determine by what right the old members of the Port of Portland Commission are helding their office.

M. G. Munly, of Portland, appeared before the Chief Justice to ask permission of that body to start the proceedings with the court taking original jurisdiction under the judiciary amendment which was passed by the people at the last election. District Attorney John H. McNary, of this district, has joined with the attorneys for the Governor's appointees as a representative of the state. C. A. Gray, Robert D. Inman, James Maguire, M. O. Collins and H. M. Esterly, appointees of the Governor, are bringing the que warrante proceedings. ranto proceedings.

Importance Is Recognized.

The Supreme Court decided that this one is of great importance to the City of Portland, tnasmuch as it is vital that the commission be placed on a sure and active working basis, and as a result decided to take original jurisdiction. The judiciary amendment pro-vides that it is discretionary with the court whether it shall allow cases to be filed in the first instance before the Supreme Court in habeas corpus, quo warranto and mandamus proceedings.

The complaint recites the conditions that have surrounded the Port of Portland, showing the various acts of the Legislature and praying that the court determine just the status of that body. Early Hearing Promised.

Supreme Court Clerk Moreland said today that the court would hear the case as soon as possible. "Realizing case as soon as possible. "Realisting the importance of the action," he said, "the court reached the conclusion that it should expedite the proceedings as much as possible and consequently agreed to take original jurisdiction and in setting a hearing for the case will also hear it as soon as possible, as it undoubtedly means much to the City of Portland.

District Attorney McNary said that he would have appeared for the old board, had quo warranto proceedings been started by that body. "My only object in appearing in the case lies in the fact that it is brought in this district and I shall appear for the state," he said. "The people of Portland wish to see this case decided as quickly as possible and that is the only object of the suit, as I understand it—to determine who are rightly members of the commission. MUCH DELAY TO BE AVOIDED

Issue to Be Decided Without Aid of Circuit Courts.

By appealing to the State Supreme Court, Judge M. G. Munly and the newly appointed members of the Port of Portland have stolen a march on the old members of the Port. Negotiations with the Southern Pa

Negotiations with the Southern Pacific have been completed so that the state receives a material reduction in the freight rate on fuel oil and the Board will replace wood fuel with this class of oil. The saving, it is estimated by the Governor, will be equivalent to $1 a cord if wood were used. As there are 7000 cords of wood used annually at the heating plant of the asylum, practically $7000 a year will be saved in this manner.

At the present time the institution is paying about $7000 a year for eggs, besides those obtained from the chickens owned by the institution. North of the asylum buildings is a 40-acre or chard which will be converted into a chicken ranch and it is the plan to secure enough chickens so that eggs for the entire institution will be supplied by the asylum chicken ranch. The farm will be placed in charge of one man who will be assisted by patients.
