Gatch Testifies Bank Officials Deceived Him, Though Knowing Existence.

CASH PUT INTO ORCHARDS

Accountant at Work on Books, but Government Representative Kept in Dark—Robnett Is Also Accused of Forgery.

BOISE, Idaho, April 18.—(Special.)—Clarence Gatch, of Salem, Or., National Bank Examiner, declared today in the trial of Frank W. Kettenschach, president of the Lewiston National Bank, and alleged defaulter, that the bank officials had deceived him as to the existence of the $137,000 shortage on his first examination of the institution.

The disclosure came as the climax of a narrative of the events leading up to the bank's examination. Gatch did not find the big shortage, but did find a shortage of several hundred dollars which the officials promised to account for. Yet, the examiner said, he was suspicious and so reported to the Controller.

While at Vale, Or., he was called back to Lewiston. Kettenschach took him into the directors' room and told him of a shortage of $137,000 had been discovered but that amount of money in actual cash had been transferred from the Idaho Trust Company, a Kettenschach bank, to the Lewiston National.

When Kettenschach said he suspected Clarence W. Robnett, the bookkeeper, and Bert Chapman, teller, the examiner demanded the arrest of both. Kettenschach demurred and would do nothing until he consulted his attorney. He swore to complaints later.

Gatch said he then found that Richard had been working on the books while he was there before to find the shortage and the examiner demanded to know why he had not been informed. Richard said he thought Kettenschach had told him.

John E. Gulick, sales agent for Robnett's Spokane Orchards Company, into which $30,000 of the money is said to have gone, said that Robnett told him he could not leave the bank because he had told Kettenschach he would remain until to shortage had been made up. Gulick said Robnett had transferred $20,000 into the orchards company. It was in drafts or gold and currency sent by mail. Robnett also deposited to his account $980 in the Lewiston National. Bank officials forged his name to checks to draw on it, the witness said. This was also bank money.

FRIEND OF LABOR IS DEAD

Edward A. Moseley Was Author of Bills for Sale Travel.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Edwin A. Moseley, Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission and originator of much labor legislation, died here today after a continued illness, aged 55 years.

The immediate cause of death was heart failure, superinduced by acute kidney disease. Funeral services will be held Thursday and the body taken to Newburyport, Mass., for burial.

As an intimate friend and personal adviser of Presidents, Cabinet officers, Representatives, Senators and other public officials during the last quarter of a century, Mr. Moseley accomplished notable results, particularly along humanitarian and philanthropic lines.

He was recognized as an authority on all measures designed to insure the safety of railway employees and travelers, and was instrumental in securing the enactment of laws requiring the use of railroads of safety devices. In recognition of these services he received the thanks of the Legislature of Massachusetts and of practically all the great railway labor organizations.

The Interstate Commerce Commission practically suspended all business today.

BERKELEY TO GET $750,000

Cowell Makes Rich Bequest to University—Law May Interfere.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—In the will of Ernest V. Cowell, which was filed in the Probate Court here yesterday, the University of California is given three bequests of a total value of $750,000. The bequests are for a hospital, a city gymnasium and an athletic stadium, each to cost $250,000. Cowell, who died here on March 13, left an estate of about $1,000,000.

Doubt is expressed as to whether the bequests to the State University will stand, as the state laws provide that not more than one-third of an estate may be diverted from the regular channels of inheritance. It is said to depend on the good will of the heirs whether the whole of the $750,000 will go to the university.

DUNIWAY'S HEALTH BETTER

State Printer Will Return to Salem From California.

SALEM, Or., April 18.—(Special.)—Willis S. Duniway, State Printer, will return to Salem in a few weeks. This announcement has been made by his close friends here and is received as an indication that his health is rapidly returning. He left for California shortly following his re-election and at that time he was suffering severe disabilities.

Reports received from California in Mr. Duniway's own handwriting during the past few days are most optimistic and there is every reason to believe that he is well on the road to recovery.

HALSEY PIONEER IS DEAD

Martin V. Koonitz, Banker and Merchant, Came to Oregon in 1852.

ALBANY, Or., April 18.—(Special.)—Martin V. Koonitz, one of Linn County's oldest and best-known merchants, died Saturday at his home in Halsey. He had been in the mercantile business in Halsey continuously since 1876 and at the time of his death not only owned a large general merchandise store, but also conducted a big warehouse business and was president of the Halsey State Bank.

Born in Gallia County, Ohio, May 23, 1827, Mr. Koonitz crossed the plains in 1852. The trip was marked by unusual hardship. He settled with his father in Linn County and attended Santiam Academy at Lebanon.

In 1857 he taught a country school in this country for nine months and then went to Eastern Oregon engaging in logging near The Dalles. In 1859 he took up farming, which he continued for six years. In 1863 he went to Montana and engaged in a general merchandise business and trading with the Indians and travelers, freighting his goods from Umatilla to Silver City.

In 1869 Mr. Koonitz returned to Linn County and has since made his home in this county. In 1871 he began clerking for Jacob Thompson, a pioneer merchant at Halsey, and five years later established a store of his own in that city. He helped organize and incorporate the town and served as city treasurer 12 years.

Mr. Koonitz is survived by his widow and two children: Clyde H. Koonitz, who was associated with his father in his business enterprises, and Mrs. Edith Drinkard, also of Halsey.

BULLET ENDS MAN'S LIFE

Unidentified Man Shoots Himself at North End Rooming-House.

An unidentified man committed suicide in a room at 104 1/2 North Sixth street, some time yesterday or the night before, by shooting himself in the right temple with a .38-caliber revolver. The body was not discovered until 9 o'clock last night, when J. F. Reise, one of the proprietors of the rooming-house, forced the door after repeated knocks during the day had failed to bring a response.

The man rented the room of G. Setford, one of the proprietors, about 9 o'clock Monday morning. He was not seen about the place afterwards. The position of the body indicated that the man sat on the bed when he shot himself and fell back on a pillow. No shot was heard.

The sum of $5.25 was found on the body and a card of an employment agency was found torn up under the bed. The man was 45 or 50 years old, of medium stature and very well dressed.

Patrolman Klingel, who was sent to the rooming-house when the suicide was reported, summoned Deputy Coroner Leo Giesch, who removed the body to Dunning & McEntee's morgue to hold for identification.

ANCIENT CITIES ARE FOUND

Americans Find Remains in Guatemala of Cultured Race.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Edward L. Hewitt, director of the School of American Archaeology, has just returned to New York from Quirigua, Guatemala, with a glowing report of the American researchers there. The diggings at both Quirigua and Copan, he says, have laid bare ancient cities of surpassing splendor which flourished long before the Christian era.

The American archaeologists are in complete possession of the ruins of Quirigua. There they have found sculpture as beautiful as any that Egypt or Assyria ever boasted and hieroglyphs even more interesting, but they can scarcely be read. Only the system of reckoning time has been deciphered, and the real history is carved on blocks which no man has yet been able to translate.

Close study of the masterpieces of antique genius thus far unearthed seems to show a close cultural resemblance between this civilization and that of the races farther north, but there is not enough resemblance to prove that there ever was an actual connection of North and South America before the fall of Rome.

THREAT ALMOST FATAL

Hoquiam Woman Tries to Frighten Husband, Spills Acid on Face.

HOQUIAM, Wash., April 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. A. Judson, wife of a shipbuilding worker, employed at a local mill, came near causing her own death yesterday in an attempt to "bluff" her husband, who had come home intoxicated and was causing a disturbance, she said. She sought to frighten him by threatening to commit suicide. The woman raised a bottle of carbolic acid to her lips, but in some way its contents went farther than she anticipated, and a quantity of the liquid was spilled into her mouth and over her face.

The doctors say that none of it went into her stomach and that she will survive, but the woman is badly burned.

BRIGANDAGE RUNS RIOT

ROVING BANDS POSING AS REBELS ROB AMERICANS.

Citizens of United States, Particularly in Durango, Are Victims of Mexicans.

EL PASO, Tex., April 18.—One of the very serious situations in Northern Mexico at present is the brigandage in connection with the revolutionary movement. In several instances bands operating as revolutionists have been committing depredations on the property of Americans, other foreigners and natives without regard to its character or ownership.

This is particularly true in Durango, where Luis Mora and a band of men have been robbing the mines of Americans. Last week American Consul Agent Caruthers at Torreon received a deputation of American mining men from the state and accompanied them to the Mexican General commanding the district to protest against the outrages.

Mines have been visited almost daily, some of them two or three times in a week, the places robbed and the officials and employees ill-treated.

A big plantation near Torreon belonging to St. Louis men was robbed and the crops practically destroyed. The manager was shot twice, apparently because he did not have any money to give to the bandits.

An American mining man in Sinaloa, just over the line from Durango, lost a prospecting outfit, including his mules, last week and almost starved before he could reach a place where he could obtain food.

The rest of the country is left unprotected and robbers operate almost under the eyes of the authorities.

The Soto family, rich and prosperous, was driven last week from a ranch near Parral because its members protested when a band of horses and cattle was taken. The ranch was then taken as the headquarters of the raiders. All these robbers pose as insurrectors, and while many of them are shot on their depredations, more often they escape.

Deputy Coroner McPeace today began an investigation of the death, and in connection with it Clancey and Referee Daniel Buckley were arrested, charged with manslaughter.
