Be Practiced.

Electors of Portland in the municipal Electors of Portland in the municipal primary nominating election two weeks from Saturday, May 8, will have a large field from which to select nominees to be voted for in the city election on June 5. With 15 nominations to be made, 56 Republicans have qualified as candidates for nomination, while only nine Democrats have compiled with the necessary provisions of the direct primary law for participating in the primary election.

direct primary law for participating in the primary election.

The time in which candidates could file nominating petitions and have their names placed on the official ballot expired at 5 o'clock yesterday. Republican voters will choose their nominee for Mayor from three candidates—Gay Lembard, A. G. Rushilght and J. E. Werlein. George H. Thomas is the only Democratic candidate for this nomination in this party.

Out of 57 Republicans filing announcements, only one failed to file a nominating petition within the prescribed time, and his name will not appear on the primary ballot. He is J. T. Wilson, who was presented by the Municipal Assectation as a candidate to succeed Councilman Kubli in the Eighth Ward. A suspicion prevails that Wilson is being reserved as a posto succeed Councilman Robert Plighth Ward. A suspicion prevails that Wilson is being reserved as a pos-sible independent candidate against Kubli, abould Kubli be successful in the primaries.

Democrats Full to Qualify.

Two Democrats, who early filed declarations of their candidacies, did not comply with the law and file nominating perfitions. Accordingly, their names will be missing from the official ballot in the primaries. They were John A. Jeffrey, for City Attorney, and George W. Lawhorn, for Councilmanat-Large.

Names May Be Written In.

In the primaries the Democrats will not have regular candidates for the following offices: Auditor, City Treas-urer, City Aforney, Municipal Judge and Councilmen-at-Large, Candidates for these vacancies can be nominated by the Democrats in the primary elec-tion by writing the names of their party choice on the ballot. This prob-ably will be done, particularly in the City Attorneyship. John A. Jeffrey, who had filed a declaration as a can-diate for this possipation, was out of diste for this nomination, was out of the city yesterday when the time for filing nominating petitions expired. His friends intend to endeavor to nominate him for the office by writing his name in the ballot at the primaries.

Democrats are not good advertisers, at least not a single candidate of the minority party has contracted for space in the official pumphlet which will be issued by the city in the pending cam-paign. Of those taking space, Councilman Rushlight, candidate for Mayor, has deposited a check for $60 in payment of three pages. WILSON CAUSE OF DISPUTE

Entertainment of New Jersey Democrat Not Decided.

When Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey and possible Democratic candidate for President, is in Portland May 18-19, he should be a much-entertained guest. Several days ago the Portland Commercial Club made tentative arrangements for receiving and entertaining the distinguished visitor. I lating conditions.

Officers of the Jackson Club are try ing to locate Governor Wilson and im-press upon him an urgent invitation to accept the club's hospitality and press upon him as urgent invitation to accept the club's hospitality and become its exclusive guest during his two-day sojourn in Portland.

Some friction developed among the members of the Commercial Club when the plans for Governor Wilson's entertainment were under consideration. It arose from a disagreement as to whether or not certain men prominently identified with the "Oregon system" should be permitted too prominently to figure in the programme. This feeling was finally compromised when it was decided that the Commercial Club should look after the welfare of Wilson on the first day of his visit in Portland and then turn him over to others desirous of paying him honor.

The tentative programme as arranged by the Commercial Club contemplates meeting Governor Wilson on his arrival, entertaining him with a sight-seeing tour of the city, a noon-

Bobert E. McKay, secretary of the Jackson Club, and other officers of that organization, take the position that since Governor Wilson is one of the foremost Democrats in the country, it is only right that an organization of, real Democrats should look after his entertainment while in this city. This position, they insist is further strengthened in view of the fact that the proposed entertainment of Governor Wilson by the Commercial Club people has developed some fric-Club people has developed some fric-tion. All feeling, say the Jackson Club officials, will be entirely done away with if the entertainment of the visitor is left to their organization,

H. W. GODDARD BACK HOME

Took Trip Into Mexico and Says Soldiers Have Snap.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goddard, of 686 Hoyt street, have returned from a stay in Southern California after an absence of more than a month. During their stay at San Diego, Mrs. Goddard was seized with an attack of heart trouble, which manifested such serious symptoms that she was removed to a sanitarium near Los Angeles. Here she spent four weeks and, there being no evidences of improvement, Mr. Goddard sent for his son-in-law, Dr. Horace B Fenton, of this city, who succeeded in putting Mrs. Goddard in condition to withstand the trip home. They re-turned by the steamer Beaver from San Pedro, the ocean trip of four days being very helpful to the patient. Mrs. Goddard, while being confined to her bed, is rapidly recovering. When Mr. and Mrs. Goddard reached San Diego, on March 10, the war scare was at its height; however, the next day Mr. and Mrs. Goddard, with Mr. and Mrs. Carmody, of Long Beach, Cal., went to Tia Juana, Mexico, which is lo-cated just inside the Mexican line and was occupied by a small detachment of the Mexican federal troops. They had thrown up shallow rifle pits around the custom-house and soldlers were standing guard. They carried guns, but did not wear uniforms. They gave civil replies to questions, but were not inclined to allow the taking of photographs of the rifle pits. The buil ring was near by and two soldiers who were guarding that place not only consented to its being photographed, but were persuaded with a small piece of coin to appear in the picture themselves.

"The war in that part of Mexico seemed to be a joke," says Mr. Goddard. "The Mexicans were enjoying themselves, as also were the United States troops, which were camped on the border to search vehicles for arms and armunition." and ammunition."

STEAMER SHAVER DAMAGED BY FIRE

Woman Cook and Her Daughter and Two Firemen Have Narrow Escapes.

VESSEL WILL BE REBUILT

Hull Is Not Injured and Cabin Is Saved, but Main Deck Aft to Wheelhouse Is Swept Clean. Engines May Be Used.

Williams in preventing a spread, were features of a fire at 3:15 o'clock yesterday morning that partly destroyed the steamer Shayer of the S Shaver, of the Shaver Transportation Company's fleet, as she was lying at her berth at the foot of Davis street. The vessel is two years old and was constructed at a cost of $45,000. She

The fire was discovered by the watchman shortly after 3 o'clock and he gave the alarm, but Knowles slept so soundly that he barely escaped and the flames, which started forward in the vicinity of the fire hold, spread aft with such rapidity that he was compelled to crawl through the pitman hole on the starboard side, being a close will be rebuilt. on the starboard side, being a close second to Appleby, who took the same

Mrs. Seeley was in her stateroom, on the upper deck forward of the diningroom, and for the first time since she entered the employ of the company she permitted her daughter to spend the night aboard. They were roused in time to climb over the rail, Mrs. Seeley carrying her child to the deck of the steamer No Wonder, and though they were compelled to leave in their night clothing, practically all their apparet was saved, as the fire was overcome before it reached her stateroom. The girl had been accompanied to the boat by her dog, and in the excitement the animal was forgotton, but when the fire was out he was found in the stateroom as lively as ever. Mrs. Seeley's canary was suffocated.

Captain James Shaver, head of the corporation, after an examination in the morning, said he did not think the fire had started from an oil explosion and doubted that oil figured in any way, as there was no reason why the oil burners should be tampered with at that time of night. When discovered the fire was forward on the main deck The Shaver had reached her dock soon after 8 o'clock Wednesday night, after having shifted the British steamer Lucerio from the flour mills to the Albina dock, and as the steamer No Wender was in the berth she meored alongside.

Fireboat Saves Cabin.

The first act of the crew of the George H. Williams was to cut away the Shaver's bow line, and as the fire-boat made fast to the burning steamer's bow, the Shaver was swung into the river and a stream of water was turned into the main doors forward. That is thought to have driven the fire aft and prevented destruction of the cabin, but it was a clear sweep of the maindeck aft to the wheelhouse, even to the pit-mans. In the engine-room the fire was so hot that gauges were melted from

It is not thought that the engines and boller are damaged beyond use, but all fittings, the dynamo and smaller machinery will have to be replaced. As soon as the insurance is adjusted a contract will be entered into for the reconstruction of the vessel.

The company lost the small steamer Messenger at St. Helens 15 years ago, and the Shaver fire was the second in its history.

IF HASSING HANGS, WIFE'S ES-TATE CAN BE DIVIDED.

Settlement of Affairs of Murdered Woman Are Suspended Pending Result of Appeal.

On the ultimate fate of William Jans M. Hassing, sentenced to death for the killing of his wife, Edith Hassing, on November 24, depends the disposal of the murdered woman's modest estate, consisting of only $159 in real estate.

J. A. Beckwith, brother of the late Mrs. Hassing, was appointed administrator of her estate by County Judge Cleeton yesterday. The appointment recites that the only heirs to the small estate are a son. Jans Hassing. 18 estate are a son, Jans Hassing, 18 months old, and William Hassing, the husband, who is condemned to death. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy are these words of Mr. Cochran. He speaks from experience, the highest possible source of knowledge. the other half.

That Hassing could never hope to benefit from the estate of the wife he killed, even though he should be permitted to live, is quite certain, as various fees would probably eat up the entire amount. But the unique feature of the case is that final disposal of the estate is prevented until it can be determined if Hassing is to die as sentenced.

Mrs. Hassing's domestic tendencies and her ambition to have a little home and her ambition to have a little home for berself and family were made evident at the trial of her husband. She had gained possession of the lot which is represented as her entire estate, and it had been planned by herself and husband to establish en it a modest home, had not domestic difficulties arose, causing her to leave him and endeavor to make a living for herself and child.

Although the estate of Mrs. Hassing

Although the estate of Mrs. Hassing Although the estate of Mrs. Hassing can go into the hands of her administrator, no money, above the necessary expenses, can be awarded to the son as long as the sentence of death in the father's case remains unexecuted or is otherwise altered. The disposal of an estate under similar conditions as those in which Mrs. Hassing's estate is involved is a task the local courts have not been called upon before to accomplish.

In overruling this demurrer, Judge Gantenbein said that the only matter to be determined was whether the property held by Dabney was above the low-water line of the river. If, in presenting the case to a jury it is found that the land is above the low-water line, then it belonged to Cook low-water line, it was within the rights of the state legally to sell to Dubney when he applied for it. As the case thus resolved itself merely into a matter of fact, which only a jury could determine, the court ruled that it should go to trial on its merits.
