CHIEF OF POLICE DEFIES M'GARTHY

Rumor Current in San Francisco That Seymour Has Quit in Huff.

VIGOROUS DENIALS MADE

Report of Strife Because Chief Will Not Wink at Vice, at Mayor's Request, Refuses to Down. Shakeup Is Expected.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.-(Special.)-Persistent rumors which have been in the air for the past week came to a head today with the report that Chief of Police Seymour, dissatisfied with present conditions in the departwith present conditions in the department, which he is unable to change, has tendered his resignation to Mayor McCarthy. While this was vigorously denied by both the Chief and the Mayor, the rumor apparently will not down, and it is freely predicted in police circles that there will be a new head to the police department within a week or so.

head to the police department within a week or so.

It is declared that the punishment awarded to the Mission district saloon and restaurant owners for selling liquor without meals and to women caused the Mayor to make a personal visit to Folice Commissioner Walter O'Connell a few days ago for the purpose of protesting at the action of the Board.

Mayor's Ire Aroused.

The trials of Captain Harry Gleeson The trials of Captain Harry Gleeson for allowing those conditions in his district is also said to have aroused the ire of the Mayor, and the whole affair is said to have culminated in a suggestion to Seymour from McCarthy that more attention to strict police duty and less hectoring of the men under him would be better for the discipline of the department.

Another matter which is rumored to have occasioned trouble is the alleged.

have occasioned trouble is the alleged refusal of the Chief to countenance violations of the ordinance prohibiting music in the beach resorts after 1 ecock in the morning.

The Chief is reported to have absolutely refused to allow his men to wink at such violation of the law, un-less he is given a written order from the Mayor or the Board of Police Commissioners, which, of course, was Chief Seymour Balks.

The final straw is said to have been sief Seymour's refusal to stand for e reopening of the Chinatown umbling-houses. This project has been under way for some time and it was thought that everything was settled when the Chief apparently baiked and refused to be placed in the position of winking at violations of the Locations for Buildings at Clatskanie Site to Be Fixed.

ASTORIA, Or. April 38.—(Special.)— State Fish Warden Clanton arrived here yesterday and left today to se-lect the locations for the buildings to be erected at the site of the proposed new Clatskanie River salmon hatchery. It is expected that work on the construction of the buildings will be commenced about May 1.

The plans which have been practically agreed upon provide for a main hatchery building $5x100 feet with a ottage fo rihe superintendent and two maller buildings for the employes and bout 15 retaining ponds. This will about 15 retaining penda. This will make a plant with a capacity for handling 12,000,000 or 15,000,000 eggs during the season. The water for operating the hatchery will probably be brought in a flume about 1400 feet long, instead of a pipeline, as originally planned. The intention is to fix up the surrounding grounds in a very at-tractive manner, as this can be done without great expense. One of the entures contemplated is the clearing put of the grove which is located on the hatchery proerty and the construc-tion of a reservoir and fountain.

PRISON CELL NOW NEAR

Wardens Have Received No Information as to When Term Will Begin and Have Not Assigned Prospective Labor.

SALEM. Or., April 20.—(Special.)—The last hope of W. Cooper Morris, convicted of embezzing funds in connection with the failure of the Oregon Trust. Savings Bank, is past, and probably tomorrow the doors of the penitentiary will close on the ex-banker.

In company with Alee Sweek, Morris visited the Governor today and asked for a pardon, which was refused. The Supreme Court yesterday denied him a rehearing and there seems to be no possible chance for him to avoid serving a sentence in the penitentiary.

Prison authorities have not determined what work will be assigned to Morris or in what cell he will be placed. They said today that they had not been informed when Morris would be taken to the prison, but it is believed he must begin serving his sentence tomorrow.
