

BURNS AND HIS MEN SENT TO JAIL

Union Leaders Rejoice in Counter Attack.

PLOT TO KIDNAP IS ALLEGED

Crowd Demonstrative as They Are Hustled Away.

DREW AND BADORF RESIST

Lawyers Are Accused of Assault on Constable—Grand Jury Holds Inquiry Into Charges Made by Both Parties.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 25.—Detective Burns was served with a warrant at 6 o'clock this evening, charging him with complicity in the kidnaping of J. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Three attorneys, arraigned today on the same charge, spent two hours in jail because of delay in obtaining bonds. They are Walter Drew and J. A. G. Badorf, of New York, counsel and assistant counsel for the National Erectors' Association, and W. Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles.

Burns was arrested while going to the court of Justice Manning to surrender himself. He was released under $10,000 bond to appear before the grand jury and was subpoenaed to testify tomorrow morning. Drew, Badorf and Ford were released under bonds of the same amount. They waived preliminary examination and were bound over to the grand jury.

Frank Fox, a chauffeur, charged with assisting in the alleged kidnaping of McNamara, who was taken from here last Saturday, was released under $5000 bond to appear before the grand jury. Constables with "John Doe" warrants are said to be seeking some of Burns' assistants.

Unions Allege Plot.

These incidents and the continuing of the investigation by the Marion County grand jury were the developments in the investigation into the alleged conspiracy to collect dynamite here to blow up structures being built by "open-shop" contractors and of a second alleged plot to discredit the Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers by "planting" dynamite and other evidence against it and by "railing" to California its secretary, J. J. McNamara.

The hotel at which Drew, Ford, Badorf and Burns and his operatives have been staying in connection with the search for Burns and his assistants by constables. The constables patrolled the corridors and seemed bent on going into every corner, until the hotel management said they should not intrude upon the guests.

Drew and Badorf, soon after this order was issued, came into the lobby of the hotel and announced they had forcibly taken a constable from a corridor leading to their rooms and had sent him to the first floor in an elevator.

This constable, Daniel J. Barton, obtained in Police Court a warrant charging Drew with assault and battery, but the warrant was not served.

Union Officials Rally.

Officials and organizers of labor unions have come to Indianapolis from other cities in large numbers since the arrest of J. J. McNamara, and a demonstration of ill feeling against Drew and Ford was made at Justice Manning's court when constables took them to the County Jail.

The courtroom, hall and stairway were filled with a noisy crowd. The clerk of the court started first with Ford. Drew hung back.

"Come on, Drew," yelled a number of men, pressing from the hall into the doorway of the courtroom. A constable took Drew's arm and as he resisted a dozen arms stretched out and the man was half dragged, half pushed into the hallway. There he smiled and stepped forward briskly, and was apparently unmoved by a chorus of laughter, handclapping and shouts of "How does it feel yourself, Drew?"

"There's the district attorney going to jail," called one man, as Ford passed down the stairway. Drew was jostled on his way to the street and a throng of men, most of them apparently of the working class, followed, laughing excitedly as Drew and Ford walked the two blocks to the jail.

The turnkey searched the pockets of Drew and Ford, but they were not locked in cells.

After executive conferences of National officials of the several labor organizations here, it was announced that definite plans will be made for the assistance of the Bridge and Iron Workers' Association in defending itself and its secretary, J. J. McNamara.

State Representative John J. Keegan, who is connected with the National organization of the Machinists' Union and who made the affidavits alleging kidnaping, said the arrests of the private detectives and unofficial investigators was not a "grandstand

MANY PROPOSE TO JUANITA MILLER

HER IDEA OF OBEDIENT WIFE FINDS POPULAR FAVOR.

Since Poet's Daughter Declared for Old-Fashioned Spouse, Suitors Have Been Thick.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—(Special.)—Since Miss Juanita Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, permitted the newspapers to feature an article written a short time ago by her on her old-fashioned view that the wife should submerge her individuality and become the servant of the husband, there have come to her many proposals of marriage.

In most cases the tender sentiments have been written down and sent her by letter. Only one man, older but more persistent than the rest, had the temerity to venture on Papa Miller's domain at "The Heights," on the hills back of Oakland. And he was frightened away before he saw the object of his fond dreams.

In an interview today, Miss Miller said: "No, I have not answered any of the letters. I have shown them to my father and he agrees with me that they are nothing. I could not possibly think of marriage now. My whole life shall be devoted to my father. I have submerged my personality in his interests; I have given up my music—I don't know when I shall take it up again. It was a sacrifice, of course, to give it up. One can do so much better in New York, but—"

Miss Miller's gesture denoted submission to the wishes and needs of her father. Following are some of the maxims that caused all the sensation: "Don't marry a man whom you cannot obey.

"Don't marry at all unless you meet a man so compelling, so masterful, that you cannot help yourself.

"Be submissive—for there can be no true love without obedience.

"Some one must rule. I could not be happy with a man whom I could order about.

"If your individuality is so strong and distinct that you cannot submerge it, don't marry.

"The woman must always submit; no other way is possible.

BIGAMY ALLOWED BY LAW

Illinois Attorney Makes Startling Announcement About Divorce.

CHICAGO, April 25.—(Special.)—Bigamy in Illinois is sanctioned by law, according to John F. Geeting, attorney and professor in Kent College of Law. Speaking today at Northwestern University Law School on the subject, "Absurdities in Our Laws," he pointed out how a man can marry, divorce, and remarry and then, if wife No. 1 takes certain action, he may have two wives, both of whom he is bound to acknowledge as legal helpmates.

"A decree of divorce gives the implied right to remarry after the lapse of a year from the time the decree is granted," he explained. "However, the first wife is vested with the right to sue out an appeal on a writ of error any time within three years after the granting of the decree. Supporting the man married within a year after his divorce. Then if his first wife caused the divorce decree to be set aside, his second marriage would in no way be annulled. He would find himself a bigamist. By similar proceedings one woman might find herself married to two men.

"This situation should be remedied. The question is a serious one and deserves the attention of the Legislature."

CO-EDS SCORN MARRIAGE

Only 2 Per Cent at Chicago Look Forward to Domestic Life.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Two per cent or less of the young women students in the lower classes at the University of Chicago are planning to marry, according to a canvass recorded by Miss Maria Talbot, dean of women, submitted yesterday. The canvass included 300 women in the annual report of President Harry P. Judson. Fifteen of those interviewed refused to tell what they were going to do when they graduate. More than half, 54 declared they were going to teach.

BUILDING TO BE HIGHEST

New York to Have 750-Foot Skyscraper of 55 Stories.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Plans were filed today by the Broadway Park Place Company for the construction at Broadway and Park Place of the highest building in the world.

From the curb to the apex of the tower it will stand 750 feet. There will be 20 stories in the main building and an additional 25 in the tower—45 in all.

The highest building in the world now standing is the Metropolitan Tower, 700 feet 3 inches.

LAWYER WEDDED 12 TIMES

Pendleton Divorced Attorney Dying 20 Suits Are Dismissed.

PENDLETON, Or., April 25.—(Special.)—More than a score of divorce suits filed by the late Attorney Peter West, will be dismissed by Judge Phelps tomorrow. These are cases in which demurrers had been filed and in which further procedure was stopped by the death of Mr. West.

Attorney West had been married 12 times and because he devoted all his time to obtaining divorces for mismatched couples he became known as the divorce lawyer of the Pacific Coast.

INSURGENTS MAY CAUSE OPEN SPLIT

They Accuse Regulars of Packing.

CRISIS IN SENATE IS ACUTE

Demand of Insurgents for Committee Places Cause.

TARIFF QUESTION INVOLVED

Dispute Will Come to Issue at Caucus Today and May Be Carried to Senate Floor—Bourne Likely to Get Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Differences between the regular and insurgent Republican Senators over the organization of committees appear far from being headed and a caucus called for tomorrow afternoon to consider the assignments agreed upon by the committee on committees may develop into a party feud.

Two sessions of the committee were held today and the regulars positively declined to meet insurgent demands, which they said were unreasonable.

The regulars have a large majority in the caucus and it is not probable the insurgents may carry their demands to the floor of the Senate, which, leaders in both factions admit, would bring about a party split.

Four points of difference remain to be settled. La Follette wants to go on Interstate Commerce, Cummins on Finance, Bristow on foreign relations and Bourne on appropriations. All of these are members of the committee on committees. Apparently there is no difficulty about the assignments given by the regulars to members of the insurgent faction who are not on the committee on committees. La Follette declined a place on appropriations and urged that it be given to Bourne.

Issue Clearly Defined.

The issue between the regulars and insurgents is clearly defined, according to the views of each faction. The regulars insist they have given the insurgents everything to which they are entitled under the rules laid down; that of length of service, which gives to the minority the choice of a large number of important places.

The regulars point to the fact that the insurgent members of the committee on committees all have good places, among them:

La Follette, chairman of census, finance, manufactures, Indian affairs and some committees of less importance.

He was offered appropriations, generally regarded as the greatest of all committees, but declined it and insisted upon Interstate Commerce.

Cummins—Chairman of civil service, interstate commerce, judiciary, manufactures, rules, public expenditures and so on.

HINES BOASTS OF MAKING SENATORS

Not Only Lorimer, but Stephenson Named.

PARTNER TELLS HIS SECRETS

Cook Says Hines Dropped Boutell for Lorimer.

CAMERA MAN THREATENED

Brother-in-Law of Lumber Lobbyist Would Shoot Newspaper Photographer—Tilden and Bankers Are Cited for Contempt.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 25.—(Special.)—United States Senator Isaac M. Stephenson, of Wisconsin, was brought into the Helm inquiry today in a sensational story of how Edward Hines boasted of having elected him as well as William Lorimer to a seat at Washington.

The story was told by W. H. Cook, of Duluth, a stockholder in the Hines Lumber Company. The boasting by Mr. Hines of his connection with the Wisconsin Senator as well as the Illinois Senator was made at the cigar-stand of the Grand Pacific Hotel in Chicago in May, 1909, according to Cook.

Cook's testimony was preceded by other exciting developments. The Helm committee asked the Senate to cite Edward Tilden, the packer, William C. Cummings and George M. Benedict, bankers, for contempt, and G. F. Walhe furnished a revolver and threatened to kill a Chicago newspaper photographer for taking his picture.

The encounter took place near the Statehouse as Walhe was walking toward the St. Nicholas Hotel, where he is staying. He had been lounging around the Courthouse all day and was known to the photographer, who trained his camera on him.

"Drop that camera, or I'll shoot you full of holes," shouted Walhe, drawing the revolver.

Big Men's Names Dragged In.

Cook's testimony was the most sensational of all the months of the Lorimer inquiry. Not only Stephenson, but ex-Representative Boutell, now Minister to Switzerland; Senator Aldrich, President Taft and all the Lorimer-Hines men were brought forth, as the witness described the alleged moves behind the scenes which resulted in the Lorimer election of 1909.

Cook testified that Hines met Cook and Henry Turrah, another lumberman from Duluth, who is now in Oregon in the lobby of the Grand Pacific.

Cook then said that Hines said he had decided the lumber interest needed a better Senator at Washington, and that Lorimer had been accepted

AGED MARINER IS MAROONED 3 DAYS

FALSE TEETH LOST, ONION AND BUTTER ONLY FOOD.

Captain Frank, 68, Wrecked Near Cape Flattery, Makes Shore on Raft, Walks 30 Miles.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 25.—(Special.)—No sea story by Stevenson pictures more harrowing experience than that of Captain Charles Frank, aged 68 years, who reached Seattle after having been wrecked with the power schooner Stockholm on Ozett Rocks, the graveyard of the Pacific, 16 miles south of Flattery.

Captain Frank was marooned alone for three days, three miles from the mainland. After a number of futile attempts, he constructed a raft, on which he managed to make the shore. He walked 30 miles to an Indian reservation, where he was cared for until he was strong enough to walk to Neah Bay.

During the time between the wreck and his arrival at the Indians' camp, Captain Frank had for food one onion and a piece of butter the size of a man's fist, which had washed ashore. Captain Frank's hardship was increased by the fact that he lost his false teeth when he was washed on Ozett Rocks and could masticate his scant provender only with greatest difficulty.

TONS OF SALMON CACHED

Fish Caught Illegally to Be Given to Charity Institutions.

Six tons of illegally caught salmon were confiscated yesterday afternoon by S. L. Rathbun, deputy state fish commissioner, in a refrigerator cache neatly constructed in the mountains along the Columbia River between Cascade Locks and Bonneville, and supplied with ice intended to maintain them fresh until the opening of the season next Monday.

The owner of the cache likely will be arrested today, as Rathbun as well as Water Bailiff Powell have positive information as to the identity of the guilty fisherman.

A big seine was picked up yesterday morning near The Dalles. It was so heavy with imprisoned fish that it could hardly be raised from the water. Individual fishermen have been seen nearly every night and a large number of fish have been caught.

The state police boats Patrol and Traveler are being used by the officers in their efforts to apprehend the guilty ones.

The six-ton lot that was taken yesterday will be brought to Portland this afternoon and distributed among various charitable institutions.

OLD ROMANCE IS ENACTED

International Love Story Reaches Climax at Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 25.—(Special.)—The last act of the old romance of the lover leaving his domicile in a foreign land and coming to the United States to make a home for his sweetheart and afterward sending for her will be enacted when James Barrie, of this city, is united in marriage to Miss Margaret Thompson, of Glasgow, Scotland, at Kennecick Friday.

The bridegroom-to-be came to the United States from Scotland about two years ago, taking up his residence in Walla Walla, where he has been employed as a carpenter. On Saturday the bride-to-be, who was a schoolteacher in Scotland, arrived in Walla Walla direct from her old home and immediately accompanied her intended to the County Auditor's office, where a marriage license was secured.

JOKER FOUND IN NEW CODE

Washington Companies Cannot Write Boiler Insurance.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 25.—(Special.)—H. E. Lippman, president of the Liability Underwriters of Washington, announces that a joker has been discovered in the new insurance code which will prevent every insurance company, represented in the state, from writing boiler or engineer insurance.

Senator John A. Whalley, who fathered the new code, represents many companies, but they are all out by a clause which limits this business to companies writing such insurance exclusively.

There is only one company in the world which can now operate in this state, the Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance Company. Apparently it can fix its own prices.

TWO CHILDREN CUT OFF

Father's Will Gives Son and Daughter $5 and $100 Each.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 25.—(Special.)—Although he left a $200,000 estate and 10 children, Francois Truchot, who died near Choteau, Teton County, Montana, January 10, 1909, cut off two of his children, a daughter, Angelle, and a son, Frank, with $5 and $100 each according to the will, which was filed here for probate today.

When the youngest son, William Bryan Truchot, shall have attained his majority the estate shall be sold and divided among the eight children, each share and share alike. The eight children who will receive $25,000 or more each are Alexander, executor; Emily L. V. B. Peter C. Patrick N., Marie C., Harriet L. and J. F. Truchot.

CUPID IS KICKED OUT OF COLLEGE

Girl in Love Suspended by Faculty.

OTHER MAIDS ARE IN PANIC

Carnegie School Heads Deal Harshly With Master Dan.

NEWSPAPER BARES WORK

Advice to Lovelorn Column in Pittsburgh Daily Leads to War on "Courtin'" at Women's Department of Technical Institute.

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(Special.)—One girl student at the Margaret Morrison Carnegie School, the women's branch of the Carnegie Technical Schools, has been suspended because she was suffering from what the faculty calls "puppy love," but what she thinks is the real thing, other girls are in a panic and Master Cupid is hiding in Panther Hollow, Shenley Park, where the schools are situated.

The professional adviser of that portion of Pittsburgh's youthful population which suffers from "puppy love" and which writes to the newspaper employing this friend of the lovesick for advice, probably realizes by this time that her advice is as nothing in the way of wholesome effect compared to the application of a barrel stave by a stern parent.

An instructor in the Carnegie School perused the "cupid page" of a daily paper and found a letter from a "tech" school girl.

Charms Are Described.

The writer minutely described her charms, asked whether she was to be considered pretty, told of her love affair with a young man and asked the guardian of "puppy lovers" if she thought the youth really had serious intentions.

But alas, the little girl signed herself "M. M. C. Student," the mystic letters standing for Margaret Morrison Carnegie School. The instructor immediately informed the other members of the faculty and the student who had described herself so minutely was given the "third degree" and confessed. Then she was suspended.

W. F. Field, secretary of the board of trustees of Carnegie Technical Schools, made the following statement today:

"Action by the faculty was taken in this case in order to maintain the discipline of the institution. While the offense is entirely within the province of the faculty to pass upon, the members exceedingly regret the publicity given to the case. The girl has been suspended for the rest of the term, but probably will be allowed to enter the June examinations."

Some members of the faculty spoke of the culprit as a foolish, indiscreet child, and smiled indulgently.

Other girls at the school who have been letting "Tech" boys carry their books and pay their car fare are much wrought up since the members of the faculty have barred Dan Cupid.

NEAR-MAGIC SAVES JEWEL

Woman's Brooch Sticks on Auto Tire and Travels 1000 Miles.

OCEAN PARK, Cal., April 25.—(Special.)—Near-magic has been discovered in a diamond brooch by Mrs. Walter Keating, wife of one of the wealthy heirs of the late nitrate king.

Though the brooch fell from her waist into the street, it was not lost nor harmed. Mrs. Keating dropped the jewel nearly two weeks ago, while automobileing with her husband, and both mourned it as lost. It was set with 20 fine gems. They searched the streets for hours and had given up hope when a message reached them from their garage today stating that the precious article had been found.

It had fallen in such a way that the sharp end imbedded itself in one of the automobile tires with the brooch proper on the side of the wheel, so it came in contact with nothing. It is estimated that the brooch was carried more than 1000 miles.

COUGAR'S CLUTCH GRAZED

Brute Springs at Farmhand Near Centralia—Animal Wounded.

CENTRALIA, Wash., April 25.—(Special.)—Peter Simonds, a farmhand, barely grazed death in the clutches of a big cougar last night.

Simonds was walking through the woods five miles east of Centralia on his way to town when he heard a rustle in the trees. Glancing up he saw a big cougar crouching. He was barely able to jump aside before the beast sprang at him. Simonds, who is an old trapper and a good shot, drew his revolver before the cougar could make a second attack, but only succeeded in wounding it.

A trail of blood leading to the cougar's lair is being followed today, and the hunters expect to get a few cubs in addition to the old animal.
