BY W. J. PETRAIN.

Between the excellent pitching of Tom Seaton, who allowed but one good hit, and the sensational fielding of Roger Peckinpaugh, who cut off at least three safe bingles, Sacramento was up against a hard proposition yesterday and the Beavers were victorious by a 3 to 0 score.

Seaton pitched a remarkable game and was accorded great support, principally by the aforementiond Peckinpaugh, who was also instrumntal in scoring a couple of the runs annexed by the Portland team. Incidentally, Chet Chadbourne enlivened the occasion by one of the most perfect throws ever seen on the diamond, when, with Danzig on first in the second inning, he caught Heister's fly in deep left and by tossing perfectly into Barry's hands, doubled Danzig before the big fellow could retrace his steps to first when he took a long lead, thinking the drive would fall safe.

Portland scored two in the second with the assistance of one hit. Gough walked. Barry popped to Thomas, after which Gough stole second, and scored on Peckinpaugh's corking two-base drive to the flagpole. Rodgers bunted, but Peckinpaugh beat Thompson's throw to Shinn at third, and when Murray hit to Lerchen "Peck" beat the latter's toss to the plate, and two runs were chalked for the Beavers.

The third run came in the fourth, when Seaton walked and stole second. Chadbourne drove one past Lerchen for a base, on which Seaton scored the third run.

Harry Fanwell or Ben Henderson will be on the mound for Portland today, while O'Rourke may send Chester Nourse against the Beavers. The score of yesterday's game follows:

ANGELS CAPTURE CLOSE GAME

Hogan Is So Angry He Threatens to Protest, but Doesn't.

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—The game between Los Angeles and Vernon today was made exalting by heavy batting, with the issue in doubt to the last. In the seventh the Vernons opened upon Criger for a total of three runs, and Friene replaced him.

With Stewart pitching, Daly, for Los Angeles, opened the last of the eighth with a triple to center. Two singles and a sacrifice, netting two runs, with none out, followed.

Defeat was bitter to Happy Hogan, and he said he would protest the game, on the ground that Los Angeles did not announce its change in battery in the seventh until after it was announced Kane would bat for Ross. However, he thought better of it and did not fill out and return the blank given him for the purpose, so no protest stands. Score:

FANS NAMING TIME FOR GAME

McCredie Allows Patrons to Set Hour for Starting.

Portland's fandom is taking advantage of the opportunity offered to name its choice of the best time to start the weekday baseball games, and already The Oregonian has been deluged with coupons designating 3 o'clock and 3:30 o'clock as the proper hour.

Judge McCredie announces that he will abide by the decision of the fans in the matter, for he wants to accommodate them in every possible manner. As he has no regular way of discovering which starting hour is most popular, he announced that he would start the games every day during the Summer at the hour designated by the majority of the fans voting with the sporting editor of The Oregonian, so if you have not sent in your vote yet, cut out the appended coupon and either mail, send or bring it to The Oregonian office before Monday, May 1, as it is desired to have all of the opinions of the fans in on that day and an official count of the vote made at that time.

BASEBALL FANS, FILL OUT THIS COUPON.

Sporting Editor Oregonian: I favor ..... o'clock as the most satisfactory hour for starting the baseball games in Portland this season.

TOMMY SEATON, who has pitched good enough ball every time out this season to have applied the whitewash, finally won yesterday and by the kalsomine route. Tom is unhittable these days.

* * *

The Senators landed on the ball hard at intervals yesterday, but with players like Peckinpaugh, Sheehan and Rodgers on the job all the time, little chance was afforded the drives to land safe.

* * *

* * *

In the first inning Peckinpaugh raced to his right and snared O'Rourke's drive, and tossed the batter out at first. In the seventh he raced back of second base and speared Danzig's seemingly safe hit and tossed that worthy out at first. Peck was certainly on the job.

* * *

Artie Krueger, while coaching on third, deprived Portland of a run by holding Ryan at that base on Sheehan's single to left, Heister's peg to the plate carrying wide. However, Krueger cannot be blamed for not guessing that the gardener would make such a bad heave.

* * *

Catcher Thomas, of the Senators, had a busy day back of the bat. The Beavers managed to get away with four stolen bases, but at that, Thomas pegged out six of the Beavers, and four were trying to negotiate second by the burglary route.

* * *

The insistent manner in which the Northwestern team continues to lose is reminiscent of 1909 when the team behaved similarly. Judge McCredie has gone to Seattle to discover what is the matter. One trouble with Williams' bunch is that it is shy of batters.

* * *

The Victoria Club again outhit the Spokane team, but lost as usual. It seems to matter little with Joe Cohn's outfit how many hits the other fellows get as long as Spokane makes plenty of runs. From the looks of the scores of recent games, there has been no famine of tallies by either team.

* * *

Even Jesse Garrett could not stop the Seattle tribe, and Jesse is usually a neat heaver. However, with his teammates making two hits back of him he did not stand much chance to win, even if he had pitched shutout baseball.

Vean Gregg started against the Detroit Club yesterday and lost his game, 6 to 3. The Tigers lammed him for 9 hits, but Cleveland piled up 5 errors back of him which, undoubtedly, had something to do with the scores made off him.

WARDEN AFTER FISH CACHES

State Official to Scour Columbia in Search of Violators.

SALEM, Or., April 27.—(Special.)—Master Fish Warden Clantan left here today for the Columbia River, where, with his deputies, he will make the last scouring trip of the closed season to locate if possible any other fish caches. He believes that there are five of them altogether along the stream. One of these he says is on an island, another in a dense thicket and the location of the other three he will not mention.

This year the Master Fish Warden has adopted the plan of using various kinds of boats on different days instead of using the same patrol boats, with which the fishermen are more or less familiar. One ton and a half of the fish found in the Columbia River cache has been brought to this city for use at the asylum and other state institutions.

Four-Lodge League Formed.

ABERDEEN, Wash., April 27.—(Special.)—While deprived of league baseball, both Aberdeen and Hoquiam fans will be given an opportunity to see a novelty in the game which promises to develop into a close and exciting contest before the end of the present season. Through the efforts of James Bowes, one of the leading ball spirits while Aberdeen was in the Northwestern League, four lodge teams on the harbor have formed a league to be known as the Four-Lodge League. The league will be composed of teams representing the two Elk lodges in Aberdeen and Hoquiam, the Knights of Pythias of Aberdeen and the Knights of Columbus of Aberdeen and Hoquiam. The first game has been scheduled for the first week in May, and probably will be between the Knights of Columbus and the Hoquiam Elk team.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 27.—(Special.)—Seaton's spitball proved the undoing of Portland, much to the delight of a large gallery of the latest millinery and a fair sprinkling of the plain-clothes people. Until the ninth verse, the Roadsters had amassed only one bingle off Little Joe, but then Mensor cracked a hot one that split Joe's third finger of the right hand and put him on the hospital list, along with Pat Butler, who mangled the day previous. Seaton, however, refused to surrender his post and finished the game without allowing a run. The score Seattle, 6; Portland, 0.

It was the first shutout game of the season on the home grounds and granting all tribute to Joe, it is only fair to add that he had magnificent support from all quarters.

Portland was robbed of at least three hits by wonderful fielding in which Bues and Raymond were the central figures.

Portland's attack was also busted in the second spasm, when Miller struck out and Shea completed a double play by flagging Mundorff at third base.

Portland played a perfect fielding game but the Giants got their hits off Garrett with discriminating nicety, the result being that they got men over in pairs in three different periods. Garrett had much the better of Seaton in the strike-out department but he issued three passes, hit three men and wild pitched one home. Luck was against Garrett in that when he hit a batter, Seattle got the hit that converted it in a run.

Mensor and Casey were the only Tourists who got hits off Seaton, although the remainder of the crew had no trouble hitting the ball. The slippery pellet, however, was on top of the bat most of the time and fell into the clutches of eager Giants.

All of the outfielders, however, had to bow to Jess Stovall for his wonderful one-hand, running catch of Leard's fly in the second. He took it only a few inches from the fence after a long sprint. It was a sort of hook-catch and got a deserving hand.

JOHNSON SIGNED TO BOX

NEGRO TO GET $10,000 FOR GO WITH O'BRIEN.

"Philadelphia Jack" Lands Champion Pugilist, Who Autoless, Rides Behind Horse to His Home.

CHICAGO, April 27.—(Special.)—Jack Johnson, the negro champion, has returned to Chicago from his two months' trip, and the first thing he did was to enter into a tentative agreement to box "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien before the latter's club in the Quaker burg. No date has been set, but it will be during the first week in June. O'Brien guarantees Johnson a lump sum of $10,000 for his end.

Johnson's antipathy to horses became emphatically apparent at the Union Depot, when he clamored for an automobile or, taxi to transport him to his home. None of the gasoline jehus was willing to transport the colored "gent," and after much protesting the champion was forced to clamber into an antique carry-all and be ignominiously toted behind a horse.

Johnson plans to grace the coronation ceremonies of King George in June. After this he will lend eclat to the Dublin horse show, and then he will go to Paris for diversion. Johnson branded the act of Justice of the Peace Treadwell, who sentenced him to jail for speeding at San Francisco, as an instance of a "frame-up" and an effort to seek cheap notoriety.

MULTITUDE SEES ELITE OF DOGDOM

Five Classes of Entries Are Passed Upon by Expert From Gotham.

1910 SHOW IS EXCELLED

Attendance Records Are Shattered, View of Best Bow-Wows in World Rewarding Visitors--Rivalry Is Keen.

Sharp competition in all classes marked the second day's existence of the Portland Kennel Club's 12th annual bench show yesterday at the former store of Olds, Wortman & King, at Fifth and Washington streets. Many dogs were passed upon during the afternoon and evening by Judge Hopton, the New York expert.

Bulldogs, Airedale terriers, bullterriers, collies and cocker spaniels were among those judged yesterday. Entries were many and rivalry was extremely keen.

A multitude visited the show during the day, eclipsing by far all former attendance records in Portland. More spectators were at the show Wednesday and yesterday than were attracted by the entire four days last year. And the visitors were rewarded, for some of the best dogs in the world are on exhibition.

Willamette Sensation, formerly the Vampire, New York winner in February, 1911, owned by Frank E. Watkins, of Portland, which won in all classes for bull-terrier bitches, and Sound End Sombrero, owned by Mrs. G. C. Israel, of Olympia, Wash., winner in the bull-terrier dog classes, were pronounced by Mr. Hopton to be probably the best bull-terrier dog and bitch alive today. The Puget Sound dog won five first and a winner's ribbon, while the Portland animal took three blue ribbons and a winner's ribbon.

Woman's Pet Wins Laurels.

Fireball, the English bulldog bitch, owned by Mrs. Ray Young, of Seattle, is one of the finest bulldogs in the world, according to Mr. Hopton, who is a bulldog fancier and breeder. Mrs. Young's dog captured everything in the bitch division. J. H. Dunn, Jr., of Bellingham, Wash., with a pair of English bulldogs, dog and bitch, D. Orrystone and D. Chorus Girl, respectively, got five first, a third and a reserve-winners' ribbons.

One of the surprises of the show was the appearance in the ring of the English winner, Landsdowne Currock Billy, which was recently imported at great expense by West & McCarthy. The English dog won everything in the bulldog classes in which it was entered, capping the triumph with a victory in the winners' division.

It taxed Judge Hopton's reserve powers to make a decision between Endcliffe Performer, the Eastern winner Airedale terrier, and Laddix Monarch, an Oregon animal, in the open Airedale class. It was in this class that the closest competition was seen, the Eastern winner, owned by J. G. Keefe, of Butte, Mont., getting the honors because of superior ears. In the Airedale classes honors were especially even.

Honors were about tie with the Collie dogs, too. The male Collies were pretty, sleek and intelligent-looking, but the bitches did not show the class of the dogs. Southport Safety, owned by Mrs. F. Brydon, of Seattle, won the highest honors in the Collie-dog division, with Handsome Jim, owned by Mrs. C. D. Peyton, of Portland, second.

Judge Lauds Display.

"Too much cannot be said of the Portland show," said Mr. Hopton last night. "I have been judging over all the East, but I don't know of a finer exhibition than this Portland show. The dogs are really high-class. Too much cannot be said of the bulldogs, bullterriers and Airedale dogs. They are fine. The Boston terriers, which will be judged today, are also fine."

Mr. Hopton will probably complete the judging tonight, with the exception of the specials, which will be decided Saturday afternoon. This afternoon Boston terriers and fox-terriers will come in for the judging honors. Judging will begin at 2 o'clock. Following are yesterday's awards.
