Best Dog in Portland Bench Show Will Be Selected Tonight.

REGULAR CLASSES TAGGED

Mrs. J. A. Ellis' Pointer Wins Fron Seattle Mance, Crack Eastern Winner Imported by Sound City Fancier.

Work of the judges in the regular classes in the 17th annual beach show if the Portland Kennel Club, was com-leted last night, the third day of the Also Judge Hopton began passing the dogs entered for the special

With completion of judging in the special classes this afternoon, the judging of the best dog in the show and best of the opposite sex tonight, followed by a long parade of winning dogs and the awarding of trophles, the most successful bench show ever held in Portland will pass into history tonight. Record-breaking crowds have frequented the former Oids, Wortman & King store, Fifth and Washington streets, each day of the show and today a multitude of persons is expected, taxing the capacity of the spacious showroom.

of the spacious showroom.

Judging of specials will commence this afternoon at 2 o'clock and will probably require all afternoon. At 8 o'clock tonight the president's cup for the best dog in the show will be competed for. There is expected to be no little rivalry for this much-coveted trophy, also for that for the best dog of opposite sex to winner of president's cup.

Mrs. Ellis' Entry Wins.

Rush, the pretty pointer bitch owned by Mrs. J. A. Ellis, of Portland, last night won the C. B. May cup for best pointer bitch in the show, heating Se-attle Mance, the crack Eastern winner imported by E. Gersch, of Seattle. For years Seattle fancters have been striv-ing to defeat Ch. Walla Walla Rush, but without success. This was one of the specials classes. the specials classes.

Ch. Williamette Defender, bull terrier, ewned by Mrs. George B. Story, of Portland, suffered the second defeat of his career last night, failing before Sound End Sombrero, the Olympia puppy owned by Mrs. G. C. Israel, in the specials class. The winning terrier was pronounced by Judge Hopton to be a wonderful specimen of bull terrier.

Lady Evelyn, a puppy pointer bitch owned by Mrs. R. C. Keeney, of Eugene, and shown by Charlies R. Campion, of Portland, won the J. A. Ellis cup for best pointer pups, and the Humane Veterinary Hospital cup for best pointer in novice class.

PETITIONS TO BE PROBED

Present Grand Jury Will Leave Legacy to Its Successor.

Complete investigation of irregularities in the circulating of initiative petitions and kindred matters will be left a legacy to its successor by the April grand jury, whose official life ends today. Virtual admission that the next grand jury will be assembled soon after being impanneled and will take up the matter where its predecessor, for lack of time, was compelled to leave off, was made by District Attorney Cameron yesterday.

Phases of the matter which the jury plainly wished to delve into but could not, are the allegations that Council-man Ellis was lured away from the city by an offer of legal business while the irregularities were being committed; the charge made by the circulators that Ellis was a party with them; the sworn statement of Ellis that he was offered a bribe; and the widespread impres-sion that the revelations in the matter of the paving petition have only skimmed the surface of forgeries upon bai-lot petitions.

Witnesses are expected to be called today in the matter of the energes against State Dairy and Food Commis-sioner Balley, in which case no testi-mony has been taken since the probe of the underworld began. No witnesses were examined by the grand jury yesterday.

NORTH BANK IS FIRST NOT ON "RAILROAD ROW."

Business for Line to Beach and Oregon Trunk and Electric Railways to Be Handled.

Persons intending to travel over the North Bank or any of the affiliated roads today can buy tickets at the new ticket office at Fifth and Stark streets that opens this morning.

For the past six weeks a corps of carpenters, mechanics, painters and decorators has been busy remodeling the interior of the building and now it resembles a new structure entirely. Everything has been placed in splendid condition and the place presents an attractive appearance.

The walls have a buff tinting and the ceiling is a cream color. Tile floors and marble base around the walls and counters make it sanitary. The ticket cases, woodwork and counters are finished in mahogany. The large plate these windows are considered to the counter of the large plate the large large plate-glass windows are ornamented with plate-glass lettering. The tops of the counters are protected by sheets of plate glass. Window seats have been provided for the accommoda-tion of waiting patrons.

Tickets for the North Bank Road, including the line between Portland, As-toria and Clatsop Beach points, for the Oregon Trunk Road and for the Oregon Electric and the United Railways will be handled from this office direct. Eastbound travelers will be able, also to buy transportation over the Great of Chicago.

L. F. Knowlton, late city ticket agent for the Canadian Pacific Rallway, will have charge of the new office. N. S. Wagner will be chief clerk. This is the first railway ticket of-fice to be opened west of Third street and the departure is being watched with interest among rallroad men. It is predicted that this move will mean the early breaking up of "railroad row" on Third street, which for years has been considered the only place where a railroad could do effective business.
