Vernon Club Outplays Local Team and Henderson Loses for First Time.

HOOLIGANS BUNCH HITS

Beavers Get as Many Bingles as Pitcher's Support Better.

BY W. J. PETRAIN.
Ladies' day proved a jinks for
Benny Henderson yesterday, when the Beavers and the Hooligans played before the fair sex despite intermittent showers, as the Vernon crew won out by bunching hits on "Our Benny" in the third and seventh innings, while Roy Willett, once upon a time a Beaver shut out the home crowd.

Beaver shut out the home crowd.

Three bingles in the third iffning heraided Henderson's first defeat of the season, though a couple of them were scratchy. Carlisle was the first batter up, and Henderson promptly sathim down by the strikeout route. Ross heat out a dinky infield tap and Patterson's single to center allowed Ross to take third. "Pat' stole second, and Henderson fanned Brashear, putting two on ice. Then Henderson, Sheedan and Ruhn got tangled up in the mud when Stinson popped an easy foul, and the Eatter got another chance, which he improved by slamming a high fly which Krueger could not reach, and both Ross and Patterson scampered across the pan.

With two men on ice in the seventh,

With two men on ice in the seventh, Bill Rapps made a had toss of a grounder by Ross and the fleet-footed one reached second on the error. Patterson singled, sending Ross to third, though he should have been out after over-running the bag and falling down, but poor heaving by the Portland players allowed him life, and Patterson took second. Brashear worked Henderson for a pass and the sacks became alive with Hooligans. This put it up to Mr. Stinson again and that worthy selved Benny once more for a single, which scored Ross and Patterson for the second time. Brashear was flagged trying to take third on the wallop, Buddy Ryan tossing accurately to Sheehan.

While he was hit as often as was Henderson. Willett received great support and was steady in the pinches. The features of the game were outfield estables by Artie Krueger and Buddy Ryan. Both these players made wonderful catches of seemingly impossible chances. Krueger nailed Brasbear's drive in the second inning, and Ryan corralled one off the same batsman in the fifth.

Y ESTERDAT'S game was the slow-est played here this senson, for it required two hours to go through the nine innings. The field was a sea of mud and the players had difficulty in standing up.

Roy Willett, one of the four Roys on the Vernon Club, pitched a superb game. This is the first really good game the ex-Beaver has heaved this season, and it is a strange coincidence that his former teammates should be

With three pitchers named Roy and two named Jack on his payroll, Happy Hogan beasts of having a corking good "full hand." "Happicus" dopes it out that Roy means king, and therefore he has three Kings and a pair of Jacks.

Boy Brashear and Happy Hogan, together with several other members of gether with several other memoers of the Vernon tribe, protested vigorously when Umpire Hildebrand declared Brashear out on the occasion of Krueg-er's grandstand catch of the batters line drive in the second inning. Artie made the catch all right and Hildebrand was right. was right.

In the first inning Ross and Carlisle both stopped in going after Krueger's fly and it looked like it might go safe, but the speedy Ross took up the chase but the speedy Ross took up the chase again and managed to capture the sphere before it hit the grass. Seemingly, some words passed between the gardeners.

In the seventh inning the strange sight of three players diving into the bag was seen. Carlisle hit a grounder to Rapps and Henderson ran to cover the bag, but Rapps decided to make the play himself, and all three slid into first almost at the same moment. Rapps and Henderson reached the bag first, however, and Carlisle was declared out.

In the second inning Benny Henderson tried to silp one over on Jerry Shee-han, the big Vernon catcher, but the ball took a quick break inwardly and copped the former Notre Dame University star on the point of the jaw. Shee-han was almost knocked out, and if he had not have been a football player at one time he might have taken the Walter Nagle pitched his first full game for Pittsburg yesterday, and lost to St. Louis by a score of 2 to 1. Nagle allowed but five hits, while his teammates collected twice that number but could only score one run for the former Angelene.

Sacramento trimmed Oakland once Sacramento trimmed Oakian once more yesterday and again Big Jimmy Wiggs was the victim, while Nourse was on the winning end, for the Senators. Wiggs does not seem to be as effective as he was when he performed so brilliantly for the Oaks in 1909.

The "near-champion" Seals seem to be slipping for fair, as the Angels de-toated them once more yesterday. "Doc" Moskiman was on the hill for the Seals, but he has not been able to get away as fortunately as did his former outlaw team-mate, Henderson, who also lost yesterday, but has several wins to his credit.

Owing to Rainy Weather Small Crowd Greets Players, Who Give Umpire Shackleford All He Can Handle Aloné.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 5 .- (Spe-(al.)-Nick Williams' Roadsters proved the better mudlarks at Recreation Park today and took the third game of the series from Vancouver by a score of t

The teams floundered around in the mud and water for two hours and ten minutes, and it was the longest game yet this season at the local ball ground. The game was 15 minutes late in starting and consequently it was long after the dinner hour when the final out was recorded. Only a small crowd put in an appearance, few figuring that there would be a game, as it was pouring rain as late as 2 o'clock. Pitcher Jess Garrett had the Canucks hitting at the bad ones most of the matinee, and, though the Vancouver men managed to get within one hit of Portland's total of eight, the bingles were scattered. Cates Performs Well.

Ell Cates started on the rubber for the home talent and did fairly well for three innings. Then he was ejected unceremoniously from the game when he went to bat for talking harshly to the umpire. Ed Erickson batted for him in the third, and Rasmussen went on to the rubber in the fourth. Portland scored right off the reel on Rasty and then the elongated one breezed through two innings like a major leaguer.

In the seventh an error by Scharney put the big fellow in bad and before he got back to earth there were three more runs against him. Singles by Harris and Garrett, a pass to Miller and Stovail's double did the damage. An error by Lewis helped Portland to score without a hit or a base on balls and two sacringes in the next round, and that anged the scoring for the and that ended the scoring for the day. The only run for Vancouver was scored

The only run for vancouver was scored in the fifth on a single by Lewis, a sacrifice by Rasmussen and Brinker's two-base blow to test.

The field was ankle deep in mud and the players had the utmost difficulty in fielding even simple chances, skating about on the greasy clay like a "bunch of drunken sailors." of drunken sailors.

Garrett Takes Time.

Garrett took his time in serving the ball and he was chiefly responsible for the unseemly duration of the matines, though the long and prolonged conversations the players had with Umpire Shackleford on various occasions helped to drag it out. Mr. Shackleford had occasion to talk to almost everybody on the field, and had to chase Berver and Tonneson off the field at one

Umpire Shackleford was the "big noise" in the game because Umpire Ward was missing.

Jack Ward sent his resignation to President Lindsay earlier in the day declared the park, leaving Umpire Shackleford to operate to the best of his ability all "by his lonesome." It is presumed that Umpire Ward concluded that he was "due for the ax" anyway, and simply forestalled the league executive. The Vancouver
