BARON TELLS STORY

Riding Master Says Matrimonial Step Unfortunate.

REMITTANCE IS HIS HOPE

Von Woellwarth Expects That Legacy From Father's Estate in Germany Will Secure Release From the County Jail

Trouble began for Baron Von Woellwarth, riding master, he says, when he sought to take his bride, a Cleveland locksmith's daughter, to the baronial castle in Prussia and the acquaintance was refused by the haughty Baron senior, who frowned upon the misalliance. Presumably from chagrin, the bride returned from Europe ahead of her spouse and in due time used to be freed from the aristocratic connection. The world was never the same again for the Baron, he says.

From his cell at the County Jail Von Woellwarth talked freely of his affairs yesterday and asserted his right to the title he bears and the truth of his claims concerning a partial legacy of $45,000, which, he says, is due to arrive in Portland at any moment. An- helping it, he admits, he issued a few checks which have been dishonored, but in most cases, he says, the holders of the checks still retain the goods for which they were issued.

Baron Talks Vaguely.

Perhaps from meager knowledge of law and finance, Von Woellwarth talked vaguely of the method in which the remittance is to arrive. He spoke of "papers" already in his possession, tending to establish his financial credit, but was not definite as to the banking transactions which he expects to occur.

"My father was a Baron of the Kingdom of Prussia," he said, "and maintains four places, of which the principal one is Neraboch. I was the only son, and subject to the dowry of my mother, succeeded to the title and the property when my father died, last December. I was First Lieutenant in the Royal Hussars. In 1905 I came to America, simply in a spirit of adventure. I became riding master in the Central Park Riding Academy, New York, and spent the summer months in Cleveland, O. There I made the acquaintance of Miss Louise Lau, daughter of a retired locksmith and herself a teacher of music and German in the public schools. We were married last year and went on a trip to Germany, but my parents refused to meet my wife, and she came back to America. I followed in November. She and her family were very indignant at the slight."

Divorce Suit Postponed.

The Baron said he had no knowledge of a divorce having been granted. He said that suit was filed some time ago and the case was set for April 11. Then the "international information bureau" wrote to inquire whether he intended to contest and he replied that he would not if his wife wanted to be free. Further negotiations concerning the monetary settlement followed and the case was reset for trial next September. That was its present status, for aught he knew. "Since things have gone as they have, I shall be glad to be rid of her," he said.

All the Baron's financial transactions here were in good faith, said Von Woellwarth, yesterday, and, barring checks given for horses and equipment, not yet delivered to him, amount to a very small sum. This, he says will be paid off immediately when the remittance arrives, which will be within a few days.

The Baron is held for the present on a charge of giving a small check to W. Tubbsing, proprietor of the Barton Hotel, for room rent. He is bound over to await the action of the grand jury, which will meet Tuesday. He says that he was drinking a bottle of wine with Tubbsing, the complaining witness, when Detectives Mallet and Craddock came for him.

GUARDS TRY RANGE

Riflemen Open 1911 Season at Clackamas.

NO PERFECT SCORES MADE

Old Ammunition Interferes With Good Work—All New Supplies Sent to Troops Participating in Move on Mexican Border.

The opening of the 1911 rifle practice season for the Oregon National Guard took place yesterday at Clackamas Station. The six companies stationed in Portland went to the range on the early Southern Pacific train and were joined there by G Company from Oregon City. The drill was taken up with the marksmen course at 300, 200 and 500 yards.

No perfect scores were recorded, although several riflemen made from 45 to 49 out of 50 points possible. About 35 per cent of those on the range qualified as marksmen in covering the course.

Many improvements were found at the range, where a force of workmen had been engaged for some time past. Twenty-seven targets are now in place and a considerable force can be put through at one time. The officers' club house is ready for use and will be formally opened next Sunday.

A new arrangement for firing has been adopted by the range officers this season so as to enable the six Portland companies and the Oregon City company to fire on the range each Sunday. Heretofore two companies have occupied the range each Sunday and riflemen have had an opportunity to shoot only once in three weeks. All available ammunition was found to be of the 1908 issue, which caused considerable metal fouling, this ammunition being somewhat old for use even in range practice. The new issue of ball ammunition, together with the left-over supply of 1910, is said to have been sent by the War Department to the Mexican border.

Next Sunday the troops will again be put through the range officers' course. On the following Sunday those who have qualified as marksmen will proceed to the sharpshooter's course and the expert rifleman's test.

Adjutant-General Finzer and Colonel Dunbar, commanding the Third Regiment, were among those who spent the day on the range.

BANKER LIKES CITY

James G. Cannon, of New York, Predicts Prosperity.

ALETTA PENNOYER DEAD

Her Husband Was Cousin of Late Ex-Governor of Oregon.

Tariff Agitation Only an Incident; Money Powers Awaiting Decisions of Supreme Court on Trust Cases.

That the country in general is on the eve of renewed prosperity; that the tariff agitation will not affect conditions materially, and that the decisions regarding the trusts by the United States Supreme Court to be made this Fall or Summer have already been discounted, are the opinions expressed by James G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank of New York City, who arrived yesterday from San Francisco, having left New York in his special car on April 7. During his journey he visited Missouri, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona and California, and after his stay in Portland, left last night for Seattle.

He will return to this city on Tuesday morning and leave that night for Denver, Omaha, Kansas City and Topeka. From Topeka he will go to New York. He is accompanied by Mrs. Cannon, his son-in-law, Rev. A. T. Tamplin, his daughter and his private secretary, E. W. Davenport. They travel in a private car and have been enjoying their trip immensely. It is Mr. Cannon's first visit to Oregon, and to say that he is pleased is "putting it mildly," as he expressed it.

"We are at the beginning of an era of good times," said Mr. Cannon, in giving his view of the financial situation. "My trip is purely for the purpose of looking into the business conditions of the country. To form an opinion, I look first at the crops; second, the banking conditions, and third, general condition of merchandizing. At every place that I have visited these subjects have been given a careful analysis so far as I am able to do."

My view of the tariff agitation is that it will not affect business materially, for the simple reason that it is conceded that there will be no changes except in those cases already understood and upon which the country has formed an opinion. Consequently we need have no fear from this tariff. The decisions of the Supreme Court are going to be a blessing, in my opinion. Whatever the context of the decisions may happen to be, the financial circles of the country have al-

POLICE RAID CARD GAME

Five Players in Hotel Arrested With Chips Before Them.

Tom Hogseth, who has been arrested several times for running gambling games, was caught with five players, in the Hotel Edel Bran, early yesterday morning, by Sergeant Kleinler and Patrolman Hennessy. The party had a large quantity of chips on the table. The players were James Woodrick, farmer; L. Delashment, real estate dealer; J. Robertson, mechanic; Joe Flynn, teamster, and William Richmond, cook.

The officers discovered that Hogseth, who gave the name of Sledge when arrested, rented the room on May 1. Until recently he reported, he conducted a game in a room at Park and Morrison streets and had as much as $500 on the table at a time.

New Telephone Service Installed.

BEAVERTON, Or., May 7.—(Special.)—The Scholla Telephone Company, which operates the Beaverton lines, has put into effect a new commercial line from Beaverton to Schools to be used for long distance calls. This gives the farmers and merchants of nearby towns long-distance service.

FORESTERS WILL MEET

Big Delegation Expected to Attend Big Biennial Convention.

The Catholic Foresters of this state will meet in convention in Portland June 12. This will be the most important of any state convention of Catholic Foresters held since the establishment of the order in this state. A great deal of extension work has been done since the last biennial convention, which was held in 1909, at Sublimity. An unusual degree of enthusiasm now pervades the whole order in Oregon and a large attendance is expected at the coming convention.

In Oregon the Catholic Order of Foresters comprises 10 subordinate courts, three of which are located in this city. The state court, made up of seven officers and five appointive officers. The convention will be composed of the elective officers of the state court, together with the legally elected delegates from the several subordinate courts. All members of the order are entitled to seats in the convention, and as a grand joint initiation with second degree work is to take place in Portland on the evening of June 12, a very large concourse of Catholic Foresters is expected to attend the opening of the fifth biennial convention.

The chief representatives of the order in Oregon are Max Matti, of Mount Angel, state chief ranger, and M. E. McGrath, of Woodburn, state secretary.

Husum Wild Flowers Thick.

HUSUM, Wash., May 7.—(Special.)—Wild flowers grow in rich profusion in the valley and hills adjacent to the White Salmon River. A forist would be puzzled to name the different varieties. Eighty-four different wild flowers grow in this locality.

WANKS STRONGER; MORE CONSERVATIVE.

"Then, again, there is no expanding of banks, as in the past. The banks are in a healthy condition, with good reserves, lessened loans and in perfectly sound shape."

"In my travels I have found this to be the case of the banks in the West in particular. If the banks of the country are in sound and healthy condition, there is every reason to believe that good times are in store for us. In the matter of merchandizing I find that the stocks are light and that they are in need of replenishing, and that this fact also would lead to the conclusion that the country is going ahead. Collections throughout the country are in a fairly good shape and with the price of products at such a stage as would warrant good times among the
