REBELS CAPTURED AT CUERPO BLANCO

Juarez surrenders to rebels and is made rebel capital. Federals abandon Agua Prieta and march to relieve Hermosillo, closing custom-houses at Agua Prieta and Naco.

Rebels at Tia Juera await attack from federals from several points. Demand for better rights from rebels expected in Washington, but will be denied.

Rebels willing for peace. In contrast in another part of the little town is F. I. Madero, Jr., the conqueror, surrounded by members of his family and his staff of officers, joyous, exultant and flushed with victory, yet ready to make peace, they say, with the Mexican government if it is disposed to deal frankly and sincerely with the revolutionists.

Federal Dead 50, Rebel 15. The dead are being buried tonight. The federal dead are said to number nearly 50, while the rebel dead number about 15, with a total wounded of 150.

Navarro Yields With Tears. The actual surrender of the town by General Navarro took place at about 1 o'clock. General Navarro giving his sword to Colonel Garibaldi, of the insurrecto army, after the rebels had completely surrounded the barracks and threatened to annihilate the garrison within.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., May 10.—Leaving his engine on an eastbound Wabash passenger train, Charles Miller, an engineer, today led a party of 50 passengers to the burning home of Miss Salsy Whitacker, near the track west of here and extinguished the flames, probably saving the lives of Miss Whitacker and her aged mother, who were asleep on the second floor of the house.

Madero Praises Vanquished. General Madero himself, when he arrived this afternoon at the corral where the federal prisoners are now quartered, made an address full of sympathy and encouragement, lauding them for their bravery and assuring them that in his heart, as well as in

HEAT WAVE TAKES CHICAGO UNAWARE

WORKMEN PROTESTED AND TORRIDITY BREAKS RECORD.

Mercury at 87 Catches Folk With Winter Flannels on and Rush Is Made to Parks.

CHICAGO, May 10.—(Special.)—This was the hottest May day Chicago has had in 19 years. The mercury shot up to 87 degrees, eclipsing any record since May 2, 1901, when it registered 87 degrees.

The first heat prostration was reported at noon when the police of the Hinman-street station were summoned to care for John C. Donagan, 59 years old, a bricklayer, who was overcome when at work on a building.

Chicago sweltered under the sudden torrid wave. Few had said good-bye to their winter flannels. Hundreds fled to cool spots in the parks and neighborhood recreation grounds. The beaches took on a mid-Summer appearance. The demand for row boats was large and the lagoons in the large parks were filled. Bathers declared the water a bit cold, but plunged in bravely.

In the loop district the restaurants were unable to fill the unexpected demand for ice cream.

DIVORCE SUIT FRIENDLY

Couple See Mistake Made in Life's Twilight—Both Agree.

CENTRALIA, Wash., May 10.—(Special.)—Seven weeks after their marriage, and in the friendliest spirit imaginable, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Grossman are seeking divorce on grounds of temperamental incompatibility. They make no specific complaint, but say they made a mistake in wedding in the twilight of life and would be happier apart.

Mr. Grossman came here to live after marrying Mrs. Grossman, who is a Centralia woman, the marriage being his first venture and her second.

"Marriage isn't what I expected, and I'm too old to start afresh. I'm willing to provide for Anna, but I want to be by myself again," says Mr. Grossman, "but he is best left by himself, because he isn't the husband kind of man, and is too old, anyway. We have both made a mistake and will be good friends to the rest of our lives."

PADDLING FINDS MOTHER

Mrs. W. Lawnsner Says Man Who Dared Columbia Long-Lost Son.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 10.—(Special.)—Seeing a news story telling how Julius Lawnsner, returning from Alaska to his home for the first time in 19 years, paddled his way across the Columbia River here and was arrested as insane for attempting such a daring act, Mrs. William Lawnsner recognized that it is her son, whom she has not seen since he left home when he was 21.

Mrs. Lawnsner came to Vancouver from Portland today and Mrs. Lawnsner returned to her home with a daughter in Portland tonight. She had mourned her son as dead, and today asked the man, who saw her son paddle across the Columbia, to tell her again and again that it was true.

CARS TUMBLE INTO RIVER

Two Killed, 27 Injured in Trainwreck in Colorado.

DENVER, May 10.—Westbound Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 1, the Pacific Coast flyer, which left Denver at 8 o'clock this morning, was wrecked near Minturn, 39 miles west of Leadville, at 8:50 o'clock tonight, the car and a tourist sleeper plunging into the Eagle River, which is skirted by the railroad at that point.

According to reports from the scene of the wreck, two are dead and 27 injured, eight seriously. Reports received by Denver & Rio Grande officials here declared one killed and 15 slightly injured.

A special wrecking train carried a force of doctors, nurses and volunteer rescuers from Leadville.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., May 10.—Leaving his engine on an eastbound Wabash passenger train, Charles Miller, an engineer, today led a party of 50 passengers to the burning home of Miss Salsy Whitacker, near the track west of here and extinguished the flames, probably saving the lives of Miss Whitacker and her aged mother, who were asleep on the second floor of the house.

The women were unaware the fire was consuming their dwelling until after the party had begun to battle with the flames. The fire conquered, Miller returned to his engine, pulled the throttle wide open and arrived here but a few minutes late.

RIGHTS NOT DUE AS BELLIGERENTS

Taft Not Ready to Recognize Madero.

AMERICANS WOULD BE LOSERS

Claims Against Diaz for Damages Forfeited Thereby.

MADERO CAN COLLECT TAX

Control of Juarez Custom-House Gives Him Right to Duty—Demand for Belligerent Rights Expected to Be Made.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Now that Madero has captured Juarez, the most important customs port on the Mexican boundary, the question of recognition of his belligerency assumes the first degree of importance to Madero and, without doubt, through Senor Vasconcelos, the acting head of the junta here, an effort may be expected to secure it from the State Department. Indications are that such a request will not be granted, for the present at least.

It is objected that by such act the Diaz government would be relieved of all pecuniary responsibility for damage inflicted upon Americans by rebels.

Another consideration is that it would oblige the Government to treat the Diaz government precisely as it does the rebels in the matter of denying them the right to import arms and munitions of war, and would subject American goods entering Mexico to seizure as contraband.

To what extent Madero has benefited by the capture of Juarez in changing his status in the eye of international law, the officials here are not disposed to say. But, oft and, it is said the United States will be obliged to recognize his de facto control of Juarez, an international port of entry.

In the end he will be able to receive merchandise through his custom-house and collect tariff taxes.

It is true that, when Agua Prieta was in possession of the rebels, the United States custom-house in Douglas was closed by the collector, preventing the exchange of goods.

It is admitted that had the rebel occupation continued a few days longer, that action of the collector, which was not directed from Washington, would have been disavowed and trade relations between the two towns would have been re-established.

It is felt here that Madero's next move, logically, is a march on Mexico City, with pauses to capture such towns in his path as may shut their gates against him. The great obstacle to such a move, as seen here, is his supposed paucity of ammunition.

SCENERY IS GOAT DELICACY

ML. Angel College Dramatic Club Loses Castles, Fences, Forests.

MOUNT ANGEL, Or., May 10.—(Special.)—Stage scenery is the latest delicacy to lure the epicurean tastes of the goat, and his gastronomical attentions in that direction last night will necessitate an outlay of several dollars by the Dramatic Club to repair injured settings of castles, fences and forests.

Yesterday, while arranging the stage, the head scene shifter left some scenery on one of the porches over night, and in a propitious moment Mr. William began to investigate. First he sampled the bark on several of the trees, and finding this to his liking, started to round out a square meal on them. But there is only one definition for square meal with the goat, and that is to devour everything in sight, and so, presently, he turned his attention to an old castle.

He first tore off the roof, then proceeded to masticate several "iron bars" which graced the windows of the castle's dungeon. Very shortly the massive "iron gate" of a stone wall went the same way as the roof and the bars, and then some of the "water" in the castle's lake was daintily nibbled at.

DEMOCRATS MAY PUT TAFT IN HOLE

Plan to Tack Free List to Reciprocity.

INSURGENTS MAY GIVE HELP

President Must Then Accept or Reject Both.

SOME REGULARS MAY AID

Their Purpose is to Kill Reciprocity, While Democrats Aim to Force Him to Sign Free List or Lose Main Issue.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Democratic Senators are figuring tonight on a move to combine the Canadian reciprocity bill and the free list bill, and, it was stated today, a motion to that effect will be made in committee, although without great hope of success.

Simmons, of North Carolina, reports the Democratic Senators as a whole favorable to the plan, and he has been sounding regular and insurgent Republicans.

The regulars are reported unanimously against the House free list bill, except as a means to defeat the reciprocity bill, which, they think, would be vetoed if the measures were combined.

The insurgents are inclined to work along their own line, but admit that coalition with the Democrats might come to pass.

If the Democrats gave a solid party vote for the plan, only five Republican votes would be needed, and it is believed the House would welcome the consolidation.

In that event the President would have to accept reciprocity with an enlarged free list or reject both.

RECIPROCITY IS ATTACKED

Ex-Governor of Wisconsin Takes Occasion to Grill Publishers.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Vehement assaults on the Canadian reciprocity bill marked today's hearing by the Senate finance committee. Farmers from border states, fishermen from Gloucester, Mass., manufacturers of wire cloth for papermaking and manufacturers of book, wrapping and news print paper poured forth their protests.

Probably the greatest outburst occurred when ex-Governor Strange, of Wisconsin, introduced as representing wrapping paper manufacturers of Neenah and Menasha, Wis., addressed the committee. He swerved from criticism of the bill to "attacking" the American Publishers' Association and its related organization, the Associated Press.

Mr. Strange characterized the bill as a "cowardly" measure and of lacking love of country and brought forth at the demand of the "greatest trust in the world." He said that Congress would not be in session today considering the bill.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON IS AUTOISTS' CRY

MARSHAL ARRESTS ALL MOTORISTS AND WAXES RICH.

Citizens of Claremont Think Officer of Law and Recorder Are "Splitting" Ten-Dollar Fines.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—(Special.)—Claremont, the little college town, is suffering from an acute attack of too much Johnson and can't shake it off. Claremont had an ornamental Marshal who never made an arrest and a reform was demanded, so he resigned. J. A. Johnson, a pugnacious, stern individual, was indorsed for the place by the Bible classes of two members of the Board of Trustees and appointed.

Then, the Town Recorder became nervous and resigned and Rev. C. S. Rich, member of an approving Bible class, was put in his place. Johnson immediately saw a speed-violator in every automobilist who moved his machine so its progress could be observed without a magnifying glass, according to victims, and has arrested all but one who has entered the municipal limits in two weeks. That one escaped by driving off backward. On Sunday the average from this city is 25.

Recorder Rich fines every speeder $10. Sometimes he appears on the road where the alleged speeder is protesting and holds court in his buggy. Hundreds have suffered at his hands, and citizens are in arms, but helpless.

Tomorrow the directorate of the Automobile Club of Southern California will investigate and if conditions are not changed, no member of that organization will drive through Claremont hereafter. Marshal Johnson gets $25 a month. He also gets $1 for each arrest and half the fine, and he and Rich are becoming rich.

CLUBWOMEN FACE SUFFRAGE CRISIS

Topic's Rock May Split Federation.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—(Special.)—The annual convention of the California Federation of Club Women will open in Long Beach tomorrow and continue until next Tuesday. In the interim, many problems of state-wide and nation-wide interest to women will be settled, reforms launched, crises met, debts paid, old scores erased and new ones instigated, chimerical as well as practical projects outlined and battle lines flung in strange places. But all these issues will sink into insignificance beside the supreme charge, when a valiant array on either side, with the fate of suffrage, insofar as it relates to women's clubs, will be decided. Shall the official "club" badge be pinned to the bosom of suffrage? That is the question.

The California Club, one of the largest and most influential women's organizations in the state, yesterday, after a wordy warfare, instructed its delegates to Long Beach to vote for suffrage.

MEMBERS PREPARE FOR WAR

California Organization's Convention Opens Today.

POLITICS TO BE PLAYED. California Club, One of Largest in State, Declares for Ballot for Sex After Stormy Session. Will Others Follow?

Whether or not the California Club is the bellwether of the state remains to be seen. There are clubs in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Fresno, Stockton and other big cities of the state which will repeat and perpetuate the assumed leadership of the California Club and may, in retaliation for its alleged arrogance, vote quite the contrary, just to be contrary. A woman's club is a touchy proposition when it comes to framing programs.

Suffrage, then, is the issue and suffrage will surcharge the sea air of Long Beach like a pungent smoke of battle. The spellbinders of either side, armed with their most trenchant argument, will do politics untrillingly until the end of the session.

The San Francisco delegates, numbering in the hundreds, left today by boat and train. They will be in the front ranks when the battle opens, fighting as valiantly as did the actions in the California Club yesterday.

JUDGE LEARNS BASEBALL

Jargon of Game Explained in Ward's Slander Suit.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Judge Hand, who is trying the suit for defamation of character brought by John M. Tard, formerly captain of the New York National League Club, against Ben Johnson, president of the American League, learned some baseball jargon today. George R. Pulford, a sporting editor, testified that he had a recollection that George Davis of the "White Sox" had jumped a contract.

"Jumped—what's that?" asked the judge. "Every baseball enthusiast in the room smiled."

"What are the 'White Sox,'" pursued the judge. "Pulford told him 'the Chicago American League Baseball Club.'"

The judge profited by his instruction for subsequently he referred to the "White Sox" in his questions.

Kittrick sold himself for $7 and used the money to pay the last bill he owed—his room rent. Record of the sale was filed with the Coroner Recorder yesterday.

FISHING BOAT CAPSIZES

Gasoline Craft Turns Turtle and Fate of Crew Unknown.

VICTORIA, May 10.—The gasoline fishing boat Fishmaid, of New Westminster, B. C., capsized off Three Point, Alaska. The steamer Humboldt, which reached Prince Rupert tonight, sent a wireless to the Dominion government station here saying that she found the gasoline vessel overturned. Nothing is known of the fate of the crew.
