Orpheum.

JUST passing fair is the Orpheum bill this week, with an excellent headliner in Master Gabriel, the dimunitive omedian, and one or two worth-while sets scattered along with some very ndifferent offerings. The Gabriel chap, a wee mischlevous Buster Brown-like figure, romps merrily with his more-than-human dog "Mutt," a role in which Edwin Lamar distinguishes him-sait, and the two keep the audience in high more human high good humor. Another picked favorite is dainty Isabelle D'Armond who is labelled as the demi - tasse comedience. With George Moore she scampers through a merry hodge-podge of songs. dances and entertaining chatter, which they appropriately dub their "jolly junk." Their finale, a burlesqued apache dance, a riot.

is a riot. There's another George Moore on the bill, only this one signs his with an Austin in the middle. He's a singer, too, a down - South warbler with a fund of new stopfes and songs. He carries excess baggage in the pretly person of Cordelia Hanger, whose sing-ing is painful but whose clothes and joyful abandon are revelations. But she is forgiven because her partner needs hor as a peg to hang his own she is forgiven because her partner needs hor as a peg to hang his own cheerful songs and gable upon. A ventriloquist who branches clear away from the beaten pathway is Tom Edwards. As a vocal gymnast he in-troduces the novel setting of a home and firenide, with several youngsters-or rather the volces of several young-sters chatting affably to "papa" from an adjoining bedroom. An obstroperous infant in his arms who persists in adding his walls to the general meles adds considerable to the excitement.

adds considerable to the excitement. "Nearly A Soldier" is contributed by Joseph L. Browning and Henry Lewis. The latter in the guise of a German had trying to enlist at the recruiting station does mighty clever character rork wors. The Namba Japs, gymnasts and head balancers, are five in number, three of whom are wee wiry children, apparent-ly. Togio Namba springs up a flight of stairs on his head, and the others do rapid - fire tumbling, balancing and somersaulting.

An act that every housekeeper should see is put on by Madame Hut-ell, a gold and white creation decorated with pink roses. Assisted by Mons. Gerard. pink roses. Assisted by sinks derate, a spholy gent with ox-like shoulders. She carries a whole houseful of fur-niture around by her molars. If the art were taken up extensively the dray-ing concerns would go out of business.

His act is, with-out question, one of the most unique as well as clever performances billed on any vaudeville circuit in the counon any vaudeville circuit in the coun-try. For combinations, balls sink obe-diently into the pockets of the billiard table, answering to his will with never a miscue. With Taliman as the feature, the Pantages management has a show to offer this week that is one of the best traveling between American clies to-day. As another call to the vaudeville frequenter George Primrese has come to do a little song and dance with a couple of boys, who, black-faced and outple destrong to a songert him in good couple of boys, who, black-faced and with destrous toes, support him in good style. Primrose, himself, with his old-time ministril charm, falls in no way to win the enthusiasm which has always been granted him in this city. For high-class comedy it would be difficult to find a heartier laugh-pro-voker than Griff, the celebrated Eng-lish comedian, who can do five things at once, make a dummy talk and gesticu-late (he is a ventriloquist of skill), jug-gle two plates in one hand, balance three more on his chin and walk off the stage. His impersonation of an English "Johnnie" also is worthy of sincere applause.

sincere applause. The three Burns sisters, girlish and attractive, might just have received their diplomas at some girls' seminary and be traveling for a lark, so whole-some and winsome are they. Their stunt is musical, consisting of popular stunt is musical, consisting of popular their diplomas at some girls' seminary stunt is musical, consisting of popular their diplomas at some girls' seminary stunt is musical, consisting of popular their diplomas at some girls' seminary their diplomas at some girls' diplomas at some girls' diplomas at some gi stunt is musical, consisting of popular selections played on 'cello and plano and a number of good songs. For the rest of the bill, Shrodes and Chappelle do a turn which they call "During One's Life." It is a little story of matrimonial difficulties, and to all but these lacking entirely in ideals it fails to be amusing.

Experts' Opinion:

Statement by Mines & Parish, Realty Operators of Los Angeles, Cal.

"We believe the CERTIFICATE OF TITLE system to be the only modern, up-to-date way of handling transfers of property, and for safety, dispatch, convenience and economy we do not believe it possible to devise a better method."

In no way does the act fail below expectations. Also in horself deserving of topline honor is Miss Sadle Shorman, the beauti-ted and accomplicated data there a the honor is Miss Sadle Sherman, the beauti-ful and accompliated dark-haired Amer-ican girl who has a number of clever "phototypes" in which also displays the trials of the average photographer when called upon to reproduce with his camera American types such as the giggling school girl, the proud mother with a three-months-old infant which "you just wight to hear ta," and the rheumatio three-months-old infant which you just ought to hear tas," and the rheumatic old aunt coming in for a picture that may surprise her namesake nieces as a birthday gift. Miss Sherman also does strong work in her negro impersonations, and as a daughter of sunny Italy is irresistable. Of disappointing features the bill this week is exceptionally free, as may be proved by the act of Barrow and Lan-caster. This is a one-act drama telling of the wees of a young lover and his aweetheart who wish to marry, but have evolvable old soldiers for fathers. The of the woes of a young love, but have excitable old soldiers for fathers. The acting done by these two former con-testants on the Civil War battlefield, who fight again and again their old bat-ile with wastebasket, hassock and lamp placed on the floor for the Texas Rang-ers and the Pennsylvania sharpshooters, is certainly "all to the good." A notable feature also is the six-min-ute period of dare-devil doings in mid-air executed by Lobse and Sterling, and the musical whistling and the jolly rar-time of Jack Goldie call forth a thunder of applease as a finale to his share of the entertainment. Though a little shorter than usual this week, the bill at the Grand answers to the proverb "quality rather than quantity."
