Seattle Times' Owner Indicted.

DANCEHALL CORRUPTION EXPOSED.

POLITICAL SCHEME IS BLAMED.

The following are extracts from the story of Seattle Times' owner, William P. Blethen, who was recently indicted for graft.

The story begins:

"...The story goes that the Seattle Times, under the ownership of William P. Blethen, has been involved in a series of corrupt practices and financial mismanagement. The investigation began when a tipster provided information about the supposed graft and corruption within the newspaper.

The prosecutor, Mr. Smith, stated: "We have evidence that William P. Blethen, the owner of the Seattle Times, has been involved in a broad scheme of corruption and financial mismanagement. This investigation has led us to believe that Blethen has used his position to benefit himself and his associates at the expense of the newspaper and its readers."
