KERRY-STREET EXTENSION DESIRED

Petitions are being circulated among the property owners on Kerry street in Albina for the extension of its street through the Montgomery tract between Russell and Rose streets, to give a direct route to Broadway and the Broadway bridge. Samuel Connell and other owners of the Montgomery tract are opposing the extension as they say they desire to grade out the tract for manufacturing purposes and will cut down Kerry street to feet below grade. W. W. George, J. W.
Lindsay and Steve Collins will present the petitions to the Council today and urge that steps be taken to open the street. If it can be opened to Broadway Kerry street will then extend from the proposed Broadway bridge to Columbia boulevard.

GROUND CLEARED FOR HOTEL

The buildings on the quarter block on the northeast corner of East Sixth and East Morrison streets are being wrecked preparatory to starting work on the foundation of a four-story building for a business hotel. The building is to be owned by the Business Men's Club. Nearly all the occupants of the frame buildings have moved and others will get out by June 1. It is probable that the new building will be completed by the end of the year.
A special committee from the club will negotiate with the owners with the view to securing quarters in this new building. A special committee from the club will negotiate with the owners with the view to securing quarters in this new building. It is announced that work on the foundation of the new building will begin as soon as the ground has been cleared.

Committee Enters Objection Before President Hoyt—Effect Has Been Demoralizing in Other Cities.

Is Contentment of Women.

Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. James Ladd, Mrs. Julius Lippitt and Miss Valentine Prichard formed a committee which entered protest yesterday before President Hoyt, of the Portland Rose Festival Association, and George L. Hutchins, business manager of the festival, against the mask feature of the show which has been proposed as one of the events of this year's activities. These women represented the Social Service Committee, an organization of 25 women from many prominent women's organizations of the city.
The belief was expressed that a masked fete would lower the dignity of a heretofore beautiful and refined display worthy of Portland as a conservative city. Among those who have expressed themselves concerning this was Mrs.
Corbett, who said that the mask should by no means be adopted. "I do not approve of it at all, though I am not ready to give definitely my full ideas until after the meeting of the social service committee Thursday morning," she said last night. "Considering the proposed fancy dress parade which was discussed at our meeting yesterday, that is merely under consideration, and I have nothing to say."

Women Shrink From Parade.

Mrs. A. C. Pantan, president of the Rose Society, said that though she took no definite stand, she did not indorse the idea of making the festival a success. "I would, however, instead of suggesting a fancy-dress parade rather favor a large fancy dress ball as a more dignified means of displaying our enthusiasm over Portland's famous festival," she said. "I feel that women in general shrink from street parading and that the general enthusiasm which has been shown would more heartily support a dance."

Harold Susman, extends to only one hour of protest but it is a delicious bit of amusing satire worthy of Dean

WONDERFUL AS "THAIS"

Mary Garden's Great Interpretation Places Her on the Topmost Heights of Emotional Song.

New York went wild over Mary Garden's great interpretation of "Thais," in which role she was pronounced by parading critics as becoming "the type of all the seductions of the earth, taking her place beside Cleopatra and her sister Immortal." The aria which she sang at her Portland concert Saturday, June 24 at the Armory, is illustrative of her wonderful dramatic genius, rising as it does to the highest peak of emotional art. It represents her in the third act of Massenet's "Thais" as sitting before a mirror, a beautiful and popular courtesan that has received practically all that human adulation can give her, the darling of princes and the idol of the people. But the stern, truth telling monk Athanasius deals her a soul-terrifying blow by his words, and now for the first time in her life she asks her mirror whether it is true that all this love and adoration must fade and vanish in the grave. It is the crisis in her career which represents her plunged in the abyss of despair from which through the love of the monk she is to emerge with its dress purged as by fire.

This powerfully dramatic conception of "Thais" by Mary Garden is one of the sensations of the hour in Paris, New York and the other centers of art.

Portland is fortunate in having the same opportunity through the enterprise of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman, under whose direction Mary Garden appears. Mail orders are now being received, and it is expected there will be an enormous attendance at the Armory.
