Macadam road. Judge McCrodle had contemplated starting the grading work at once, but after yesterday's visit it was decided to wait until after the river has reached its highest stage. Credie, right now, has the best balanced before grading, as predictions are being made of a rise in the river which might inundate the lowest portion of the new ball park and the filling in of the low portion of the find in that event would be useless. After the river has reached its highest point the low part of the sits will be bulkheaded and the grading commenced and rushed to completion.
