

MAN AND 2 WIVES ARE HAPPY FAMILY

Spouse No. 2 Assures Long-Lost Predecessor Home Is Big Enough for Both.

TRIO CHAT OVER PLANS

"If the Women Folks Can't Get Along Together I'll Build Another House Over Yonder," Says Husband of Both.

PITTSBURGH, Kan., May 15.—Peter C. Sharp, of this city, and his two wives, Ann Catherine and Louisa, settled in the Sharp cottage today, told of their plans to live together as a happy family. Ann Catherine, the first Mrs. Sharp, returned to her husband yesterday after 40 years' separation, during which each had searched the country for the other.

Mr. Sharp and Mrs. Sharp lost each other in the confusion following the Chicago fire in 1871. Through the pension rolls of the War Department she found him and came here from her home in Oakland, Cal.

Nine years ago Sharp gave up the search and married again.

No Sorrow Wanted.

"If I thought my coming would displace Louisa I would go back to my nursing of the sick in Oakland," said Ann Catherine, as the three sat together in the garden today. "She has been a good wife and married my husband in good faith. This is her home and I shall bring her no sorrow."

Louisa said Mrs. Sharp's wrinkled hand in hers. She is 56 years old. He is 42. Ann Catherine is 72. Louisa leaned across her husband's knees and patted Ann Catherine on the cheek.

Home Big Enough for Three.

"You will bring me no sorrow, my dear," she said, fearfully. "There is room in this house and garden for us both. I understand it all."

Their common husband nodded toward a vacant field across the street and said:

"If the women folks can't get along together I'll build another house for one of them yonder."

Sharp married his first wife in Johnsville, N. Y., in 1870. They decided to move to California. She with her daughter went ahead to visit her father in Chicago. The fire destroyed the brother's home. She with the daughter, escaped with only the clothes they wore. The husband started on after them but for 40 years found no trace of either.

ASTORIA MAY GET TENTS

Lafferty Asks Congress to Aid Celebration in August.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 25.—Representative Lafferty introduced a resolution today authorizing the Secretary of War to lend to the executive committee of the Astoria Centennial celebration, from August 18 to September 3, such tents as may be desired on that occasion, no expense to accrue to the War Department on account of the loan.

B. F. Clenshaw, secretary of the executive committee, is required to give bond guaranteeing safe return of the tents in good condition.

Re-organization of Army Will Not Injure Portland.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Senators Chamberlain and Bourne had an interview with General Wood, Chief of Staff, today, concerning the concentration of division headquarters at New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Formal orders for the change were approved today by the Secretary of War.

General Wood assured the Oregon Senators that the concentration of the Army into three divisions involves no change in the present plan of purchase of the business concerns by a military supply, and said the interests of Portland would not be affected by reducing the number of divisions. In an informal statement, General Wood said:

"With regard to necessary army supplies, purchases will be continued as heretofore, under the charge of chiefs of the bureaus concerned by a most advantageous to the government, quality, price and cost of transportation being considered; and it is not thought that the Government will be greatly affected by the new arrangements."

FALLING ROCKS CRUSH 7

Sicamer Brings News of Disaster at Mine on Great Lakes.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 25.—Seven miners were killed by a mass of falling rock in the Helen mine owned by the Lake Superior corporation at Michipicoten, according to a report received today by steamer.

and would place all corporations on an equal footing.

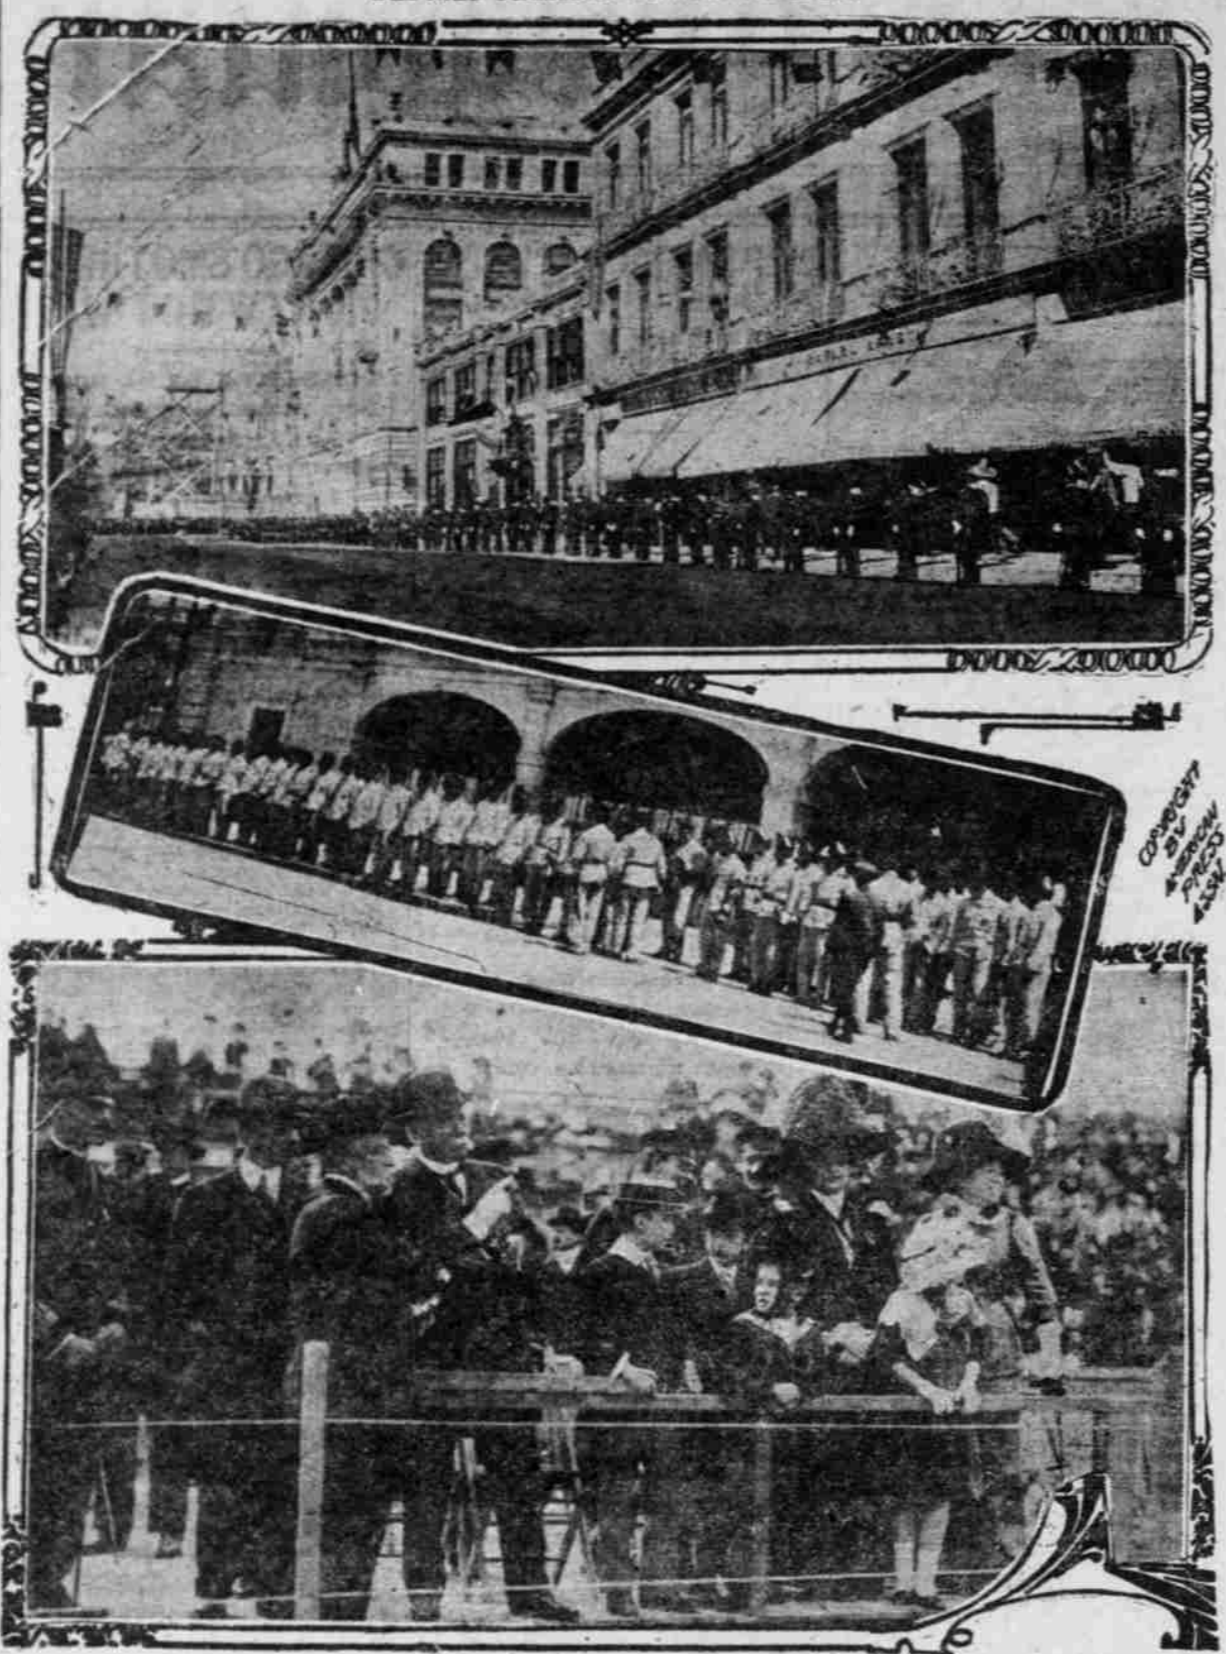

The only alternative, in Borah's opinion, is Government ownership, and that he does not advocate, nor does he believe the country favors it. Government ownership, of course, would appeal to some, but it is a radical step to be taken in this country, and the time is not at hand when the people of the United States are ready for such a change.

Big Corporations Here to Stay.

So far as the big corporations are concerned, Borah believes that the opinion of the Supreme Court, handed down by Chief Justice White, is broad enough to enable the Government to put out of business 50 of the biggest business concerns in operation today. He does not expect the law will be enforced to that extent, however. But does he expect to see the corporation method of doing business in the United States done away with? The corporation is a creature of the late 18th century, and with the corporation came a wiping out of active competition such as flourished during the days of corporations. The country, he thinks, will not turn backward; corporations will not be thoroughly dissolved, and old-time competition will never return.

"You cannot shove an oak back into a sock," was the way Borah expressed it.

ignation, he delivered one of the most brilliant oratorical efforts with which the chamber has ever rung. His voice was repeatedly drowned with applause and the floor fairly shook with his denunciation.

"President Porfirio Diaz is dead. Long live Citizen Porfirio Diaz."

The speaker admitted that General Diaz had been called to account for his errors by a people who had progressed faster than the author of their progress had realized, but he declared the good that General Diaz had done would live forever in history and outweigh his mistakes. A long address on the constitutional points involved in the change of government was delivered by Deputy Melgarejo.

Every entrance to the chamber and all street approaches were guarded by heavily-armed mounted police. Only those who came hours ahead of the time got within this cordon. They were quiet and well behaved. Outside the walls of police the throng cheered themselves hoarse.

Tanult of Joy Breaks Out.

To the city generally the acceptance of the resignation of the President was announced by the clangor of the bells of the cathedral and by two discharges of a cannon.

For many squares on every side of the chamber the streets were black with people. Great crowds were scattered over the Zocalo when the ringing of bells and the firing of cannon announced the triumph of the revolution. With one accord they rushed toward the chamber, but their progress was halted by the multitude ahead.

As the crowds melted away after the session by hundreds and thousands they fell into irregular marching clubs. They carried flags and banners of the national green, white and red, lithographs of Madero, laurel wreaths, brooms—apparently symbolic of the clean sweep for the rebels—and hundreds of them sported staves and poles after the manner of soldiers with rifles.

Practically all business was suspended. Everywhere windows were shattered, but the demonstrators of last night had become excited but harmless celebrants.

It threatened rain during the session of the Deputies, but the sun, as if in harmony with the jubilation of the populace, came out brightly almost at the moment of the historic action of the President and the Congress.

On every balcony in the city, and there are a feature of every house and office building, women and children and those too in firm to be in the street came out to witness the celebration. Many of them tossed flowers and confetti on the marching thousands.

A heavy guard of mounted police was maintained in front of the National Palace, near where seven persons were killed and 34 wounded when the mob was fired on last night. The guard moved in a long oval.

An incident illustrating the temper of the people and the effect of their success against the government, occurred when one of the marching clubs came swinging down the Zocalo. The last two guards on horses were circling about on their oval route when the marchers reached them. It was a case of one get out of the way of the other. The foot column moved straight toward the last two regiments. The latter wheeled as if to ride into the crowd in the good, old-fashioned way, but hesitated in the face of the assurances shown by those approaching them, and then gave way, spurring their horses to a gallop.

Dominguez Appeals for Order.

It was at a conference between Alfredo Roldan Dominguez, the personal representative of F. I. Madero, and Francisco de la Barra, the acting President, that the agreement to place the Maderist troops at the disposal of the government in the name of tranquility was reached. Only in case the federal troops prove unable to control the situation will the former rebel soldiers be brought into the city.

Dominguez, who in the ranking Maderista in the capital, went into the streets this afternoon accompanied by his staff, all wearing on their hats the tri-color used by the rebels in the chief of police was on a mission of peace, following the issuance by him of a manifesto in which he had appealed to the people to refrain from disorder and to disperse. Riding from one group of manifestants to another, he exhorted them to remember the dignity of their cause and not to disgrace themselves and their leader by rioting.

Celebration First in 30 Years.

The mobs did not disperse, but there was a marked improvement in their behavior. To promise, however, to go home without indulging in the novelty of absolutely free speech was too much. It is the first time in 30 years that the people of Mexico have been given the opportunity to shout with impunity the name of their choice for the Presidency. Unused as they are to freedom from restraint, the older men of the country regarded it as remarkable that the streets almost continuously for more than 24 hours have not been guilty of worse deeds of violence.

Few acts of ruffianism were committed today, and yet the police and authorities endured more from the crowds than they have been asked to suffer from any man in a generation. They were ordered not to fire, except under certain desperate circumstances, and not even when a young officer was pulled from his horse and struck in the face by an angry member of the mob did the officer in command of the troops order his men to shoot. The assault of the officer was arrested.

The shooting of a mob leader in front of the foreign office by the chief of police and his subsequent command to his men to fire followed an insulting reply made by the crowds. The officer had precedent for his action, but precedents of that sort were not followed generally today. The people own the city tonight, and the soldiery is in second place.

Provisional President de la Barra acknowledged his elevation to that high office in an open letter to the Mexican people tonight. In it he declares he will not be a candidate for either president or vice-president when a general election is called.

The entire Cabinet resigned this afternoon, a courtesy to the retirement of Diaz, and, as such, excited little interest.

MADERO DEAL SEEN

Coahuila May Suffer if Leader So Will.

ORDERS GIVEN TO ARMY

Legislature May Be Arrested and Governor Installed—Trouble as to Choice of Executives Not Wholly Unforeseen.

JUAREZ, Mex., May 25.—The weak spot in the peace agreement between the revolutionists and the federal government—the fact that the Legislatures of Mexico cannot constitutionally be coerced to name as Governor anyone but their own choice—loomed large today when it was reported that the Legislature of the State of Coahuila had refused to install Senor Venustiano Carranza, Madero's choice for Provisional Governor.

What happened in Coahuila, it is pointed out, may happen elsewhere, and, though Madero, in explaining the situation tonight, indicated that the federal government, headed by Senor De la Barra, would co-operate with him in influencing the Legislatures to pick the chosen Maderistas, resistance was not altogether impossible.

In the action of the Legislature of Coahuila in rejecting Senor Carranza and suggesting two other names, Madero sees nothing but an attempt to install a friend in the Governorship.

"The members of the Legislature," he declared, "though they should be elected by the people, really never have been and they have constituted heretofore merely a machinery by which General Diaz has put his Governors in charge. We will change all this in time, but for the present we must place in power the Provisional Governors of our party."

Senor Carranza is the popular choice of the people. Two years ago he was the candidate for Governor, and had we free elections, he surely would have been elected. I have given orders to our troops in the vicinity of Saltillo, the capital of the State of Coahuila, to march upon the city, if necessary, but I am sure the federal government will co-operate with us in making the Legislature respond to the real will of the people."

The trouble over the choosing of Governors was not wholly unforeseen by the rebel leaders and caused them to advocate the retention of the entire insurrectionary army, until all the Provisional Governors desired by the Maderistas are installed. Some today were inclined to lay the trouble to the "Cientifico" question. The "Cientificos" are said to have strong partisans in the State of Coahuila and rebel leaders here today openly charged that money had played its part in blocking the election of Carranza.

Should the Legislature continue to resist the demands of Madero, the procedure will be the entry of the insurrectionary army, perhaps with the permission of the federal, and the arrest of the members of the Legislature, Carranza being declared Provisional Governor.

Madero was asked tonight when he would resign the position of Provisional President.

"When Senor De la Barra has become President ad interim," said Senor Madero. "Naturally, I never have been recognized by the government as Provisional President, but I have announced my intention of resigning the post given me by the revolutionists as soon as peace is completely restored. After I go to Mexico City, having spoken to all the chiefs on the way, I will issue a manifesto renouncing any claim to the Provisional Presidency."
