

PORTLAND'S ROSE FESTIVAL IS NIGH

Celebration Is Contemplated to Be Most Dazzling of City's History.

FETE IS FOUR DAYS AWAY

Streets Are Decorated Gaily for Big Event and Carnival Spirit Abounds—Rex Oregonus to Begin Reign Monday.

Only four days remain before Portland becomes for a week the festival city of the United States, the cynosure of the eyes of the Nation. With the arrival of Rex Oregonus on his royal barge at high noon Monday, escorted by a great fleet of water craft, Portland's Rose Festival will be launched into being.

This year's celebration promises to eclipse the fetes of former years. Previous rose festivals have made the name of Portland synonymous with that of the rose, the world over, but the 1911 Festival is planned to amaze visitors and townspeople by its stupendousness, brilliancy, grandeur and lavishness.

The city is already donning holiday attire in preparation for thousands of visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada, and from countries over seas, who will be Portland's guests during festival week. The principal business streets of the city show a continuity of flags draped artistically, displaying hunting in abundance and even in the residence sections the festival spirit is shown by profusion of brilliantly-colored hanging and flowers.

Festival Spirit Abounds.

The people of Portland are entering into the spirit of their annual mammoth celebration with a vim. At the corners of the principal street intersections gigantic electrical festoons have been arranged, taking, among other forms, those of roses and carnations.

At night the river will gleam with reflections from myriad lights strung along both banks, carrying out an impression of fairyland to a riotous, Monday night a procession of illuminated water craft will proceed down the river with bands playing and rockets flashing skyward to burst into brilliant, entrancing pictures.

Another feature of Monday will be the grand review of water craft and the water carnival on the river in the afternoon. Hundreds of gaily-decorated boats of every variety will participate, blending into such a gala scene as has never been witnessed on any other Western river.

Clement Weather Promised.

The weather man promises ideal weather throughout the week. The mercury mounted to 82 degrees yesterday, making the day the hottest of the year. Portland residents exulted, not because the day was sweltering, but because the temperature was just right for the fullest maturity of the millions of roses growing in all parts of the city. Rose festival week will be bright and sunny, entirely free from cold winds and moisture, forecasts the weatherman. There will be roses in abundance.

Street serenades by several corps of musicians, the formal opening of the competitive rose show at the Armory, the grand electrical parade headed by Rex Oregonus and the review on Sixth and Seventh streets to the music of many bands will occupy the time Tuesday between 10 A. M. and midnight. The electrical parade will push into the background the great efforts of former years. Thousands of roses will be displayed attractively at the Armory. Festival throngs at night will participate in the street frolics, listen to the music and make merry.

Autoists to Vie.

The principal event Wednesday will be the competitive automobile parade in which hundreds of decorated cars will take part. The parade will proceed through the downtown streets. This feature has grown better every year. It was so beautiful last season that it was talked of in all parts of the United States. Bases, flags and brilliantly-colored hunting of all kinds are used. The competition among automobile owners this year promises to be unusually keen. The rose show at the Armory will continue Wednesday, and the grand hand concert will be held in the morning on the principal streets.

Battle of Roses Scheduled.

The programme for Thursday includes the "Battle of Roses," in which spectators and participants in the horse and vehicle parade will pit one another with roses. This will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 5 o'clock Thursday night the most brilliant part of the entire festival will take place. This will be the illuminated parade and military pageant. Soldiers, cadets, members of the Oregon Naval Militia and the Oregon National Guard, military orders, fraternal societies, policemen in uniform, war veterans and several bands will be in line. Many and varied will be the features introduced.

Friday at 10:30 o'clock five cars, all rose-laden, will be operated on the streets of the business section and flowers will be thrown at spectators by means of pretty girls. The thoroughfare will be literally carpeted with flowers. This will be, as it has always been, one of the most attractive features of the celebration. Other attractions scheduled for Friday are the swimming carnival in the Willamette at 2 o'clock in the afternoon; the grand parade of 5000 children, "Hamas" Rowboats, on Grand avenue at 5 P. M.; and the grand military ball in the Armory commencing at 9 P. M.

A special racing matinee at the Country Club grounds will also be held on Friday.

Morning band concerts will be repeated Saturday.

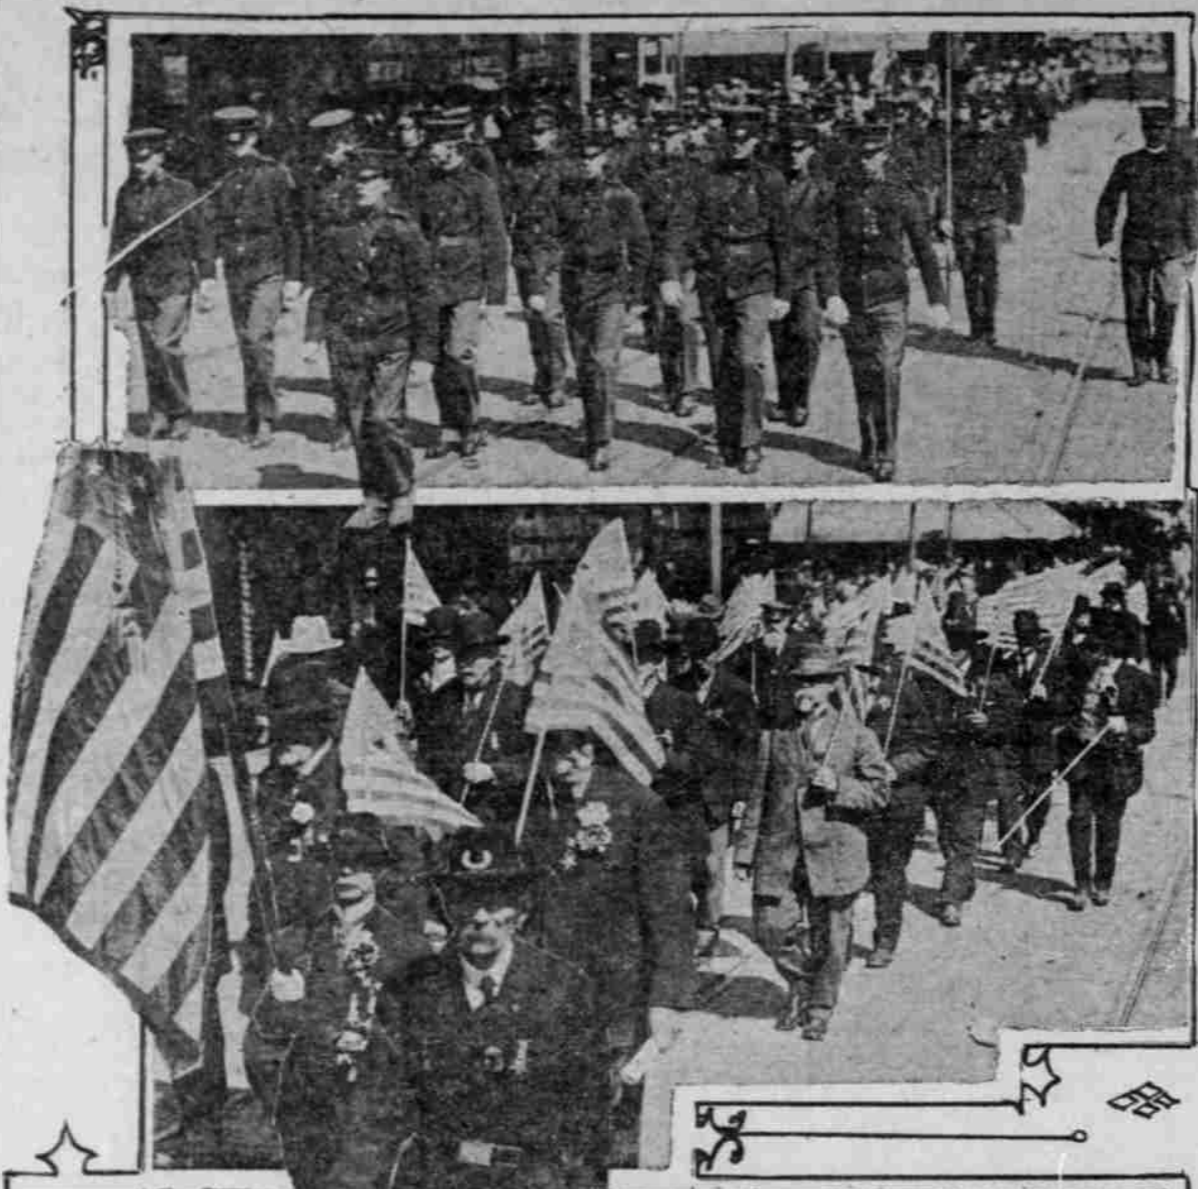

Rex Oregonus will depart at 5:20 P. M. and the Portland Rose Festival for 1911 will then have passed into history.

Roseburg Sends Special Train.

ROSEBURG, Or., May 30.—(Special.)—In order to repay the citizens of Portland for the generosity displayed in visiting Roseburg during the strawberry festival, the people of Roseburg today chartered a special train which will leave here Monday night for Portland. It is estimated that the train will carry about 175 Roseburg citizens a majority of whom will spend the week in Portland visiting the Rose show.

According to information from Connecticut General Electric Co., the Japanese Oriental Whaling Company, operating in Korea and adjacent seas, caught during the season of 1910, 22 to November 22, 222 whales, valued at $1250 each, the value being higher than in normal years.

Patriotism That Prompted Men to Take Up Arms for Country Is Theme of Speakers—Influence Still Felt.

Old and young in Portland paid tribute to the dead yesterday by strewing flowers on graves in the cemeteries, holding appropriate services and ceremonies and keeping business virtually at a standstill, with flags flying at half-mast all over the city. The sun was warm, the air was clear, and a gentle balmy breeze cooled the air and wafted the fragrance of Spring over the city.

5000 PRESENT AT LONE FIR

Dr. Dyott Declares That Sectionalism Has Ceased to Exist.

Unabated interest was shown by more than 5000 persons who assembled in Monument Square, in Lone Fir Cemetery, yesterday to hear the memorial services around the monument erected in memory of the soldiers of the four wars—Mexican, Civil, Indian and Spanish-American. Dr. Luther E. Dyott delivered the address. After a selection by the United States Marine Band, G. A. Freuting read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg. The service for the unknown dead was given by the Women's Relief Corps, who decorated the monument with roses.

Dr. Dyott declared that only those who understood what the old soldiers had endured for the preservation of the Union could appreciate the significance of Memorial day, but that it would be appreciated as long as patriotism and love of country prevailed. "We are far enough removed from the Civil War," he said, "to say that sectionalism has ceased to exist between the North and South, although the Southland decorates the graves of her dead soldiers the same as we do here, because she loves them as we do. But the time has come when it is more honorable for the Southern mother to rear her son to believe it was better that the Union should not have been broken. It is not in order to stir up the bitter feelings of that strife, now that it is Women's Relief Corps was given by officers of the corps. Rev. Delmer N. Trimble read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, and Adjutant Northwick read the memorial orders.

Four gray-haired veterans, who compose the Veteran Male Quartet sang a selection composed especially for the occasion. A veteran also accompanied on the organ. The quartet also led in "America," which was sung at the closing of the exercises. John F. Shields delivered the address of the day. "It is flowers and love for the blue," he said, "and love and flowers for the gray—for those who fought and fell doing their duty as they saw it."

Deeds Need No Monuments.

Mr. Shields spoke of the true patriotism which prompted men to take up arms for their country and touched on conditions as he saw them today. In closing, Mr. Shields said: "Veterans of the Grand Army, it matters little to you whether your name be carved on marble or not, for your deeds are chiseled on the face of mankind and will prove to the future generations what men you were. Wherever the influence of this Republic will be felt, your glory will be felt; wherever liberty is cherished, your memory will be kept green, and your lives shall live in every great heart throbbing of this great Nation as a living monument." The Young Men's Club held memorial services at the African Methodist Episcopal Church last night. Seats were reserved for the veterans of all the wars.

Mr. Alta Hohmann, representing the Women's Relief Corps, made a strong appeal that Memorial day be not considered a day of amusements and recreation, but be sacred to the memories of the dead.

Fishing at Falls Popular.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 30.—(Special.)—The record number of line fishermen enjoyed the sport at Willamette Falls Sunday, and there was a large number out Monday. It is estimated that more than 50 shifts were in use Sunday and about half that number hovered near the horseshoe Monday. About 200 large salmon were caught in the two days, the most of them by

Young Mothers

No young woman in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Exact Reproduction of Coronation Robe To Be Worn by Queen Mary On Exhibition on Live Model, 2 to 4:30 Today Olds, Wortman & King

This robe was made by Worth, of London, and all the materials used were made in England. It was brought to Portland at great expense, especially for this exhibition. Don't fail to see it—Yes, men can come—Of course it's free. The gown proper is a princess robe of crimson velvet, close-fitting, high-necked, with a train of about 10 feet. The entire front, from neck to feet, is a series of white lace flounces, each about 10 inches deep. The crimson velvet opens over the filmy front like a coat, the fronts describing scallops, edged with ermine. The sleeves are made with three velvet puffs, separated one from another by narrow bands of ermine. Below the final band of ermine is a velvet point, beneath which a frill of white lace falls over the arm and hand. Around the throat is a frill of plisse mousseline, which stands out all around like a small edition of an Elizabethan ruff. Thus is the gown simple, sans court train. The court train is fastened to the shoulders under a deep cape of ermine, and falls in very graceful folds, widening as it lengthens. It is about 10 feet long. It is edged with ermine and embroidered at intervals with royal crowns in gold. The train is lined with satin. When the Olds, Wortman & King model dons these gorgeous trappings she completes the effect by placing on her fair head a replica of Queen Mary's crown—glittering Maltese cross and all.

Warden is expected to have the line put in place tomorrow. ROSEBURG, Or., May 30.—(Special.)—Max Weiss, a wealthy resident of Douglas County yesterday was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 in the Circuit Court following his conviction of a charge of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law.

Even Pure Beer is Sensitive to Light

The direct rays of the sun on beer will start decay. Dark glass gives protection against light.

Schlitz is sold in dark bottles, to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

We use the costliest materials. One of our partners selects the barley. We go to Bohemia for hops.

Schlitz is aged for months before it is marketed, to prevent biliousness. It cannot ferment in your stomach.

We filter it through white wood pulp. Sterilize every bottle.

We spend more money to attain purity than on any other cost in our brewing.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."
