Those on whom subpoenas were served are: Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing Company; Edward Hines, lumberman; C. F. Wiebe, brother-in-law of Edward Hines; Clarence E. Park, general counsel for the International Harvester Company; Cyrus McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company; Edward A. Bauer, general counsel for the International Harvester Company; John Braderick, State Senator and Chicago saloonkeeper; Robert E. Wilson, State Representative; George W. Hinman, publisher of the Chicago Inter-Ocean; and H. H. Kohlhaas, publisher of the Chicago Record-Herald.

LORIMER PREPARING TO FIGHT

Senator Willing to Appear Before Investigators at Any Time.

The Lorimer investigating committee has not definitely fixed a day for its next meeting. The members are going over the voluminous testimony taken in the Illinois inquiry and until this is completed no meetings as are necessary will be held merely for purposes of organization.

Senator Lorimer for the first time in several weeks appeared in his place in the Senate today. He arrived this morning from Chicago in response to a request sent to all senators to return for the vote today on the resolutions providing for election of Senators by direct vote.

Senator Lorimer will return to Chicago immediately. He announced his willingness to appear before the Senate committee investigating his election whenever the committee fixes a date. Senator Lorimer is preparing to fight the case vigorously. He said today he had retained as his counsel ex-Judge Elbridge Hanes, who looked after his interests in the previous Senate investigation.

LUMBER DIGTATION TOLD BY COURT

Timberman Admits Curtailment of Production at Dealers' Request.

PRICES LOW AT TIME

Head of Great Yellow Pine Concern Says Move Was Not to Raise Values but to Prevent Losses. Price List Mere Guide.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—At the behest of the Southern Lumber Manufacturers' Association, the Long-Bell Lumber Company, which controls thousands of acres of timberland, curtailed its yellow pine output 23 1/2 per cent during six months of 1910. So testified R. A. Long, president of the company, at a hearing of the state's grand jury against the alleged lumber trust here today.

This curtailment was not effected for the purpose of raising the price of lumber, but to avoid losses by depreciation and needless insurance and other expenses, said the witness. At that time, said Mr. Long, there was an oversupply of yellow pine on the market. Mr. Long also admitted that the association appointed a price-list committee and adopted its report at annual and semi-annual meetings.

Price List Mere Guide.

The use of these price lists by dealers was not mandatory, said Mr. Long, but were for guidance in making sales. Incidentally, Mr. Long asserted that if the public would curtail its "production and resuscitation of the lumber trade," and would permit dealers to act together, 20 per cent of the timber that now goes to waste would be saved. A copy of Mr. Long's testimony was taken today. He may be recalled, however, he is the principal witness at this point and it is believed the hearing here will be closed in a few days. Charles S. Keith, president of the Central Coal & Coke Company, was the only other witness today. He covered practically the same ground as did Mr. Long.

Defendants Number 40.

The hearing is being conducted by John Atkinson, assistant Attorney-General. The suit was brought in 1908 by Governor Hadley, who was then Attorney-General. There are about 40 defendants.

"Explain why the production of lumber was curtailed 23 1/2 per cent in 1910," demanded one of the attorneys for the lumber dealers when it came to cross-examination. "The lumber trade was found to be in a demoralized condition," he replied. "The production was far in excess of the consumption and, as a natural result, there was a slow demand for a fast-accommodating surplus of lumber. The way to correct that condition was to lessen the production. That was what any sensible dealer would do. Not to curtail production meant the piling up of lumber for which there was no market." "The market price was down, was it not?" "Yes."

"Was the production of lumber curtailed then to control and raise the prices?"

Long Gives Reasons.

"There were many reasons for curtailing the production, especially of yellow pine, which our company produced. It meant the piling up of lumber that we could not sell and putting into it the cost of labor, which was 77 1/2 cents per thousand feet. The investment naturally would be idle and would not be good business. It would mean an increase of taxes and interest amounting to $10,000 to $15,000 a year for each mill. "Yellow pine timber depreciates rapidly when it remains in the piles for long time. This business demands that yellow pine lumber be produced faster than it can be marketed. It was not to control or advance prices that we curtailed the production. It was to avoid a heavy loss by depreciation and needless insurance and other expenses."

"The sending of price lists to the different dealers is a natural outcome of good business. The price lists are only recommendations to the dealers. Our company used price lists only as a guide in offering lumber to the market. Sometimes our prices are lower and sometimes higher than those shown in the price list. There is no penalty for not following the recommendations of the price list."

FORTUNA IS FIRESWEPT

Bank, Club and Several Stores Are Burned—Loss $30,000.

FORTUNA, Cal., June 12.—A fire which was discovered early today in the Fortuna Bakery, over which are the rooms of the Fortuna Club, destroyed a portion of the business section of the town, causing a loss of about $30,000. All of the buildings burned were of wood and the flames were not under control until afternoon. The fire started in the building, occupied by the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, a millinery store and several offices. The Fortuna Merchandising Company, the West-ern Gas & Electric Company, the Bank of Fortuna and a warehouse were consumed. The Lane Hotel, the Trilma Theater and several other buildings caught fire, but were saved.

PROFESSOR'S WIFE SUICIDE

Neighbors testified that Mrs. Minard had been extremely nervous and worried all of the evening and refused all offers of friends to remain with her until her husband returned, saying she preferred to be alone. She was found dead in her house all of the night and after daylight in the morning. When they investigated, they found her dead. None of the witnesses first on the scene remembered seeing a bottle or other receptacle that might have held the deadly acid and no trace of it can be found.

There is still absolutely no light upon the business emergency that caused Professor Minard to suddenly draw $500 from the bank and hasten to Wisconsin without notifying his wife.
