Rain of Much Benefit to Growing Crop.

CLOVER

About 50 Per Cent of the Latter Said to Be Damaged - Market Working to Lower Basis-Conditions in California,

The rain of the past three days has been of immense value to the hay growers of this state, as it insures a full crop of limitarity and grain hay. The clover, being out, however, suffered, probably 50 per cent of 't being damaged by the rain. The loss will be more than made up by the thicreased will be more than made up by the increased of alfaifs are on the way to this city and will arrive in a day or two in view of the good crops, dealers do not believe prices will be as high as best year and the contracting that has been done, therefore, is on a lower basis. The old crop hay that remains is in strong hands and is being cleaned up at fairly steady prices.

Hay crop and market prospects in California are indicated in a San Francisco trade circular as indicated in a san presentation of the triuts apparently show a much larger yield than even the most sangulas expected a few wasks ago, and even where the crop shows apparently short from former yields, it is thought that the weight will probably make up somewhat to swell the tombage of the total crop. There appears to be no effort made on purchase account in any direction, as it is still very early and the market as yet entirely made armined.

EASTERN DEALERS ARE AGAIN BUYING WESTERN WOOL.

Trading at Boston Is Light, Owing to Uncertainty of Tariff Legislation.

BOSTON, June 17.—Transfers in the wool market continued comparatively light, owing to the uncertainty of the tariff legislation. Bidding for the new cilp in Western field, however, is active and values are well maintained. It is estimated that the bulk of the early new cilp has been sold and holders are selring the opportunity of disposing of old wool at fair prices.

The mest active wool state is at present New Mexico, where, it is said, prices extend over a wide range from 13 to 17 cents with lively hidding.
