WILLIAMS IS BANISHED

With Stovall, Portland Manager Is Removed From Contest for Disputing Decision-Final Result Is 6 to 4.

Otto Moore, a young college catcher mported from the wilds of Corvallis, Or., is today in a class with Ping Bodie, Ty Cobb and other stars of the swatting firmament, for a three-bagger off Moore's bat in the eighth inning yes-terday sent Portland back into fourth place at Seattle's expense. Score, 6

Pitcher Fullerton, a former Portland Coast Leaguer, had been pitching rings around Nick Williams' men up to the fatat finish The Roadsters had been further demoralized by the removal of Jess Stovail and Manager Williams earlier in the game for disputing de-cisions with Umpire Allen, but the switching of Harris to first and the addition of Moore behind the bat eventu-ally proved the winning combination. Lamline, who had succeeded Bloomhamline, who had succeeded bloom-field on the mound in the fifth frame, opened the eighth by a neat single to center. The score then stood 4-3 in Seattle's favor. Casey followed suit, and, with two out (Mundorff and Jenand, with two out (Mundorit and Jen-sen) Moore stepped into the breach with a ripping three-bagger into deep left field, scoring two. Mensor and Pettigrew then singled in a row, scor-ing Moore, making five hits and three tallies for the eighth.

Contest Is Keen.

The game was exciting from the tap of the gong to the explosive climax. The Giants scored two in the opening inning on three waiks by Bloomfeld, a hit by Cruikshank and a wild pitch. Portland took the lead in the fifth after scoring one the inning before on walks and a boot by Leard and two in the fifth on a double by Stovall, a sin-gle by Mensor through Fullerton, a bad peg to second by Danny Shea and a wild pitch. Seattle forged ahead, 4-3, in the seventh, after singles by Fullerton and Leard and a neatly-executed double steal by Seaton and Leard. Then came the latter part of the eighth and the Bloomfield had allowed but one hit for Portland during the first four frames, but in the fifth Manager Williams took no chances and replaced him in favor of Lamline, after Leard had doubled to the left-field fence and tal-lied on Crulkshank's single. Lamline doubled to the left-field fence and tal-lied on Crulkshank's single. Lamline struck out the next two men. SALEM, Or., June 30 .- (Special.)-Delivering everything from a straight to a fadeaway ball, Governor West battled through three strenuous in nings on the slab today, upholding the reputation of the State Capitol against a picked team from the county school superintendents of the state. Deputy Supreme Court Clerk Benson umpired and caused all the trouble.

While the game was scheduled for five innings, the score stood 5 to 5 in the fifth and two more innings were required. Whether the score was 8 to 6 or 3 to 8 in favor of the Capitol team is undeclied, but it is confessed that the politicians won, except some of the superintendents assert a 9 to !

Governor West pitched three innings when he retired in favor of Insurance commissioner Kozer, who held the slat for two innings and was succeeded by Welch, of the State Printing Office. Tom Kay, State Treasurer, acted as backstop. Superintendent H. H. Belt, of Yamhill County, battled through six innings for the superintendents, when he retired in favor of Superintendent Dillard, of Lane County.
