PRINCE TO RECEIVE INSIGNIA OF WALES

Ceremony Second in Spectacular Beauty Only to Coronation Itself.

STATE REVIVED FEUDAL

Symbols of Husband and Pather to Country and People Mark Investiture-Welsh Music to Mark Observance.

LONDON, July 3 .- (Special.) -- Next in importance to the coronation itself will be the great state ceremony of the initure of Edward Albert as Prince of Wales at Carnaryon Castle on July 13. This function, noted alike for its In This function, noted alike for its pairiotic significance and spectacular beauty, has silired the enthusiastic heart of the Weish people to its depths. Proof of this widespread sentiment came early from the Merienethshire miners, who offered to provide the 45 ounces of gold needed for making the insignia, while all the money required, $25,000, has been contributed by the citizens of the little principality.

Song is the universal mode of expression throughout the length and pression throughout the length and breadth of Wales, as every tourist knows who has heard the Weish miners singwho has heard the Weish miners sing-ing their way home from the coal mines. While the English souverigns are still engaged in exchanging greetings with the Irish people at Dublin investiture week at Carnarvon will have its har-monlous opening on Monday. July 10, when 1500 children's voices will sing the when 1500 children's voices will sing the praises of Wales. The following day will see the first production of a Welsh patriotic play, and on Wednesday the Mayor and Corporation of Carnarvon will hold an immense reception, with the investiture choir of 500 picked voices and a military band as chief attractions.

Tourists Flock to Carnaryon.

By this time every available corner of accommodation will have been secured by visitors, including tourists from America and every part of the British colonies, while the town will be in the possession of 10,000 troops. Cotor will be ient to the crowd thronging Carnaryon and district the night before the investiture by the presence of English bite-jackets from the Dreadnought flect moored in Carnaryon Bay.

As the Hights of festivity die out from the houses and the dawn of the eventful morning colors the east, the yacht ful morning colors the east, the yacht Victoria and Albert will be nearing the Weish coast with the royal party on board, eventually to drop anchor off

Soon after their arrival their Majestles will proceed by train from Holyhead to Griffith's Corner station, to drive thence to the castle square at Carnarvon. The route of the royal procession is two miles long, and will be guarded by 19,000 troops. 1900 police, and 2000 boy scouts, all drawn from Wales.

After receiving an address of welcome from the Mayor and Corporation of Carnarvon, and donning their robes, King George, Queen Mary and their suite will proceed to the Water Gate of the ancient castle, within the precincts of which the investiture ceremony will take The actual site is a raised platform in the center of the great inner courtyard, and seatings to accommodate 15,000 invited guests are to be provided on specially constructed stagings around the interior walls.

Medieval Forms Observed.

Two main processions will be formed the procession of the Prince of Wales first, followed by that of the King and Queen. Each procession will go from Castle, Square under the walls of the castle, past the northeastern tower, the King's gate and Well tower, to the fa-mous Eagle tower, where it will pass into the enclosure and on to the place into the enclosure and on to the place of investiture, where the processions will be received by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George, as Conatable of the Tower, while Garter King of Arms for Aifred Scott-Gatty will also be on the spot. Trumpeters posted on the turreted towers will -ow funfares of wel-come, and give the signal to those with-out the castle precincts when certain points in the ceremonial have been

The five-century-old precedent of the ereation of Henry V. as Prince of Wales, will be followed, and the College of Heralds and Court historians have been busy for weeks working out the details of the old-world proceedings, which will reproduce the rich colorings of feudal-

The old ritual at the creation of a Prince of Wales runs thus: "He is presented before the King in als surcoat, clock and mantle of crimson veivet, the girt with a belt of the same, when the King putteth a cap of crimson velvet, indented and turned up with er-mine, and a coronet on his head as a token of principality.

Prince Is Father by Symbol.

"And the King also putteth into his band a verge of gold, the emblem of government, and a ring of gold on his middle finger, to intimate that he must be a husband to his country and a father to his children." to his children.'

The core of the great state function ts the investing of the Prince by his royal father with the Prince of Wales' insignia, but there will be a glorious ac-companiment to this act in the music to be sung by the national cheir.

With the exception of the British national anthem and one hymn, all the items will be in Welsh, and those who hear the hymn tune "Aherystwyth" to the words of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" or "Farewell to Thee, Cambria." will carry the recollection of it to their dying

The harmonized melody of the trained chair under the direction of John Williams, a veteran charal conductor, will be sensibly increased by the participa-tion of thousands of Welshmen on the slate quarries outside, and the whole effect will be harmonlously impressive. Further solemnity will be lent to the proceedings by the Bishop of Bangor and a representative nonconformist min-later, to whom are entrusted the religious part of the ceremony.

Immediately after the investiture, it is expected that the newly-created Prince of Wales will deliver a short address to his people in their flative tongue. His presentation will be made outside the Queen's gate, in view of a packed throng in Carnarvon market place.

HENLEY DONS GAY GARB British Society Flocking to Thames Regatta.

LONDON, July 1 — (Special.)—The all-week pressure of social engagements in London has been interfering with the habit of week-ending at houses on the Upper Thames.

But Henley regatts, that premier # river event, begins next Wednesday, and consequently the beautiful Summer residences lying on either side of the upper reaches of the Thames are filling up for the water carnival. Waldorf Astor, M. P., is entertaining a large party of American and English friends at Cliveden and other merry parties are assembling at Lord and Lady Desbor-ough's place. Hemphill.

The reasons given in the petitions for the recall of Judge Thompson are that he has ignored the will of the people in the choice of road supervisors, that he has wasted over $125,000 during 1910 in unscientific road construction and that he has ignored the wishes of the taxpayers, who demanded that the county road construction be put upon a permanent scientific basis put upon a permanent scientific basis by the issuance of bonds.

The charges against Assessor Keeney are that he has made unequal assess ments of property in the county, that he has failed to assess the property of the county at its true cash valuation, based upon the improvements and other considerations affecting its carn-ing power and market value; that in a number of instances properties simflarly situated have been assessed at different and unequal rates of value, and that he has cast aspersions upon the motives of taxpayers who called meeting to protest against his as-sessments. The charges against the County Commissioners are practically the same as those preferred against the County Judge. The petitions have been sent to every
