"BEWARE OF GOD," NEW POLICE CHIEF EXHORTS

Office Moments Trust to Be Entered Into Reverently in Fear of the Lord, Declares Captain Slover, Acting Head of Force, and Quotes Bible as Proof.

ACTING-CHIEF OF POLICE SLOVER AT HIS DESK AFTER TAKING OFFICE YESTERDAY.

ANNOUNCING a policy of "truthfulness, sobriety and impartiality," Acting Chief of Police Slover took charge of the City Police Department shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The act was without ceremony. The new Chief was met at the door of his office by his retiring predecessor, who grasped him warmly by the hand and expressed his best wishes. "I have asked the men to give you loyal support, Chief, and I believe they will do it," said Chief Cox. "You will find some knockers, but the great majority of the men will stand by you. As he finished speaking he pinned the Chief's badge upon the coat of Chief Slover, who then took charge. He was met with a flood of questions and applications immediately. "There will not be any sudden shake-up in the department," said Chief Slover. "Of course there will be some transfers. The mere fact of my appointment makes some necessary, as the second night relief was short of superior officers before I left it. My policy toward the men will be one of impartiality. I shall require sobriety and truthfulness, and a man who is all policeman will have no trouble, but if he is not, he is not likely to do so well."

"There is nothing I can say regarding the North End," said Chief Slover, answering a question, "except that we shall handle the matter the best we can." Chief Slover declares that everybody will have a "square deal" and that there will be no "croaking" inside or outside of the Police Department while he holds office. He had prepared a statement giving in a general way his opinion of the duties of an official. "I supposed I would be asked for a statement and I have prepared something here that may be taken for what it is worth," said the new Chief. "Some people are very feverish and ambitious for place. They wish to be conspicuous, influential and prominent. They want to get into the office and they will do almost anything for an exalted position. They seldom sufficiently consider the increased responsibilities in the fulfillment of their duties. It is more a game of chance and glitter of station by which they are captivated, without trying to hear the additional jeopardy which it imposes, and are some who seem to consider the office a license for them to do as they please. "They forget with what a jealous eye God looks upon those who are dishonest and untrustworthy. A misstep by them is no common offense in his eyes."

BOSTON WILL FIRE SALUTE

Cruiser to Observe Fourth by National Salute of 21 Guns.

Oregon's naval pride, the cruiser Boston, will participate in the Fourth of July observances today. The salute of 21 guns, the regular salute, will be fired at 10 o'clock. The salute was completed last night, when powder was provided from the lockers and a detail named to handle the guns. On the occasion of the visit of Governor Dunne, following the arrival of the cruiser here, a salute was fired of 17 guns, but the Oregon Naval Militia will today fire the first of 21 guns. At last night's meeting of the officers, during the regular drill, details of a "stap" gathering to be held aboard tomorrow night were announced. Invitations have been issued for 500 persons. There will be a programme featured, with addresses by Commander J. M. Elliott, U. S. N.; Colonel David M. Dunne, collector of Internal Revenue, and others. Tomorrow invitations will be mailed for the special "afternoon" Friday, to which women will be bidden. Known patronesses will be made known Thursday.

sight—abuse of power with him is the worst of all abuses. As in more aggravated than ordinary sin, what in other men might be considered trivial, in them is held to a most strict accountability. Let the public men consider this and tremble when they lay hold of the helm of power. "Office is a solemn and awful thing. It is a momentous trust, a sacred charge, and it is to be entered into reverently and discreetly and in the fear of God. Over its portals are written this inscription in letters of flame: "Let him who enters here beware of a jealous God within."

"If any would enter office let him read that inscription and tread softly, lest it should prove to him the gateway to death and perdition. "There is a very serious augmentation of responsibility going along with high station. A public man is somewhat like a town which, upon which much more depends than upon private time pieces. A man's watch gets wrong and it is only he who is misled. But when the great public clock gets out of the way, multitudes are deceived and the whole community is led astray or thrown into confusion. Hence, the necessity for greater care and attention with reference to the one than to the other."

"Every official personage is responsible beyond a common individual for the reason and to the extent that his office or station represents others besides himself. A parent is responsible because a child because he acts for influences and represents the child. A minister is responsible beyond one of his congregation because he, in a measure, acts for influences and represents those who attend his ministrations. A judge maintains the same relation to his subjects. "A sin in the public man is a sin to the stinging of others, and it is peculiarly aggravated first, because it is presumed that he understands his office and knows its duties before entering upon it. A public character, in some respects, is like a copy set by a schoolmaster at the head of the page, which feeble hands will imitate to every letter, and carve and line and dot. If the copy is wrong, and that by reason of the mistake by him who set the copy, the master is thus accountable for the error of the pupil. The parent for the child, the pastor for the church members, the ruler for his subjects, are some who seem to consider their office a license for them to do as they please. "They forget with what a jealous eye God looks upon those who are dishonest and untrustworthy. A misstep by them is no common offense in his eyes."

MAYOR IS AGAIN ILL

Rushlight Has Slight Relapse Following Meal.

CITY AFFAIRS ARE STUDIED

Despite Sickness Executive Is at Office All Day Discussing Policies to Be Observed in Conduct of Office.

Mayor Rushlight suffered a relapse late Sunday night and was very sick until 5 o'clock yesterday morning. He ate some quab for Sunday dinner, this being the first meal he had eaten since he was poisoned by ptomaines shortly after his election, June 5. While weakened, he nevertheless appeared at the executive office early for business and remained on duty all day, presiding at his first Executive Board meeting at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The Mayor yesterday discussed policies concerning various important business, including paving, water meters and the Police Department. He intends to make a careful study of all city affairs, making himself familiar with them, as soon as possible. Hard Surface Favored. In discussing the policy to be followed by him with regard to paving, the Mayor said that he prefers hard surface improvements to gravel or macadam, but that he will be guided by the wishes of property owners in this respect. The all favor giving to property owners whatever kind of pavement or street improvement they want," said he. "I favor hard-surface streets, but I am not in a hurry to insist on this kind of pavement upon property owners who are trying to buy a home or who are unable to meet their obligations. Neither am I in a hurry to insist on improvement in outlying places. I shall, however, keep the prices on all kinds of paving down to what is right." The Mayor said that he is highly of Captain Slover, who will be at the head of the Police Department indefinitely. He also said that he will make a personal study of the city government, as well as others, in order to know what conditions prevail and what action is necessary to improve the service. He fully realizes that this is one of the most important branches of the city government and evidently intends to keep a close watch upon it. Water Meters Urged. As published in The Oregonian four weeks ago, Mayor Rushlight is in favor of the installation of water meters in the residences of Portland, as well as in the larger places, such as manufacturing plants, laundries and the like. It is his belief that this system will result in a very material saving in the water supply, so that there will be no shortage of water at any season of the year. He also believes that it is one way to equalize rates. The Mayor spent much of the time yesterday going over ordinances, which were passed by the last City Council session. Tomorrow, he will make some announcement the City Council committee appointments, which will complete his work of appointments for the most part. He probably will not do much outside work this week, owing to the condition of his health, but if he is improved, he probably will make some announcement next week, including one to the garbage crematory.

COLLIERS' IS UPHELD

McCourt Believes Flags on Magazine Cover Are Not Illegal. United States District Attorney McCourt said yesterday that he does not think Collier's Weekly violated the Oregon law by selling in Oregon its last issue on the cover page of which are two American flags used as the wings of an aeroplane. "There is a provision of the law which says, 'This act shall not apply to the regular issue of a newspaper or other periodical on which shall be printed said flag disconnected from any advertisement,'" said Mr. McCourt. "In my opinion the words 'Collier's, the National Weekly,' do not constitute advertising, but are merely the title to the publication. They are a term of identification, and not an advertisement, any more than is the title line on our daily papers. Therefore I don't think District Attorney Cameron is right in ordering the magazine not to be sold."

CORONATION VIEWS HERE

Star Theater Will Show Motion Pictures of Celebration. Genuine motion pictures of the "Coronation of King George" will be placed on exhibition at the Star Theater for an indefinite period commencing today. This will necessitate their being run into the regular midweek change of Wednesday, July 6. This also is a special feature, and the two specials will be run together for the balance of the week.
