

WAVERLY GOLFERS TRAMP 31 MILES

119-Hole Marathon Establishes Long Distance American Record.

PLAYERS FINISH STRONGLY

Major J. J. Morrow and Jordan Zan Shatter Old Mark Made Year Ago After Playing All Day on Club Links.

Tramping 31 miles, over the Waverly Golf course from daylight to dark, Major J. J. Morrow and Jordan Zan, Portland enthusiasts, yesterday hung up a new American record for long distance golfing with a total of 119 holes.

The best previous records, it appears, were 90 and 101, respectively, both made on the Columbia Club links at Washington, D. C., the former on Labor day two years ago, and the latter on July 4, 1910, when H. M. Brown and J. J. Eyrone did a champion marathoning stunt.

The Portland record shatters a tie at the clubhouse Saturday night, when the two men, on the circuitous grind at 4:30 Sunday morning, finishing 72 holes at 11:55. After partaking of light refreshment the experts launched forth again at 1:15, completing the next 36 holes by 5:15. Then, following a wait of 45 minutes the last 11 holes were undertaken with the result that the new mark dawned the Portland parchment at 7:45 o'clock.

Major Morrow won the 188-hole play by two holes, coming out first also in the 11-hole competition by one up. The Government official is credited with a mark of 84 between the 72 and 90 holes. Zan's best mark was 90, made in the fourth round, from the 74 to the 72 hole. Both men finished strong despite the 31-mile hike over the green award.

Major Morrow has been a Portland resident for the past 15 months, being chief of the United States Engineers' Corps in charge of rivers and harbors work in this district. He and J. J. Hough hung the record of 90 holes two years ago at Washington, D. C., which was broken in July, 1910. Jordan Zan is a member of the firm, Zan Brothers, well-known manufacturers.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

FRUIT LAND SELLS

Sales Total $150,000 for Week at Hood River.

EASTERN CAPITAL COMES

New York Company Buys Heavily in Developed Tracts—Growers See Bright Prospect for Big Crop This Season.

HOOD RIVER, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—Although the consideration in the majority of the sales were not made public, the aggregate of amounts involved in real estate transactions in the last week in this county will reach a larger sum than for any one week at this year. The largest sale was that of 140 acres of orchard land in the Willow Flat district by a syndicate, composed of Davis Brothers and Bart Van Horn, of New York, to H. F. Davidson, one of the chief stockholders of the Davidson Fruit Company, of this city. It is understood that the price paid by Mr. Davidson will approximate $100,000. One hundred acres of the tract are in commercial orchard, 85 of which are in six and seven-year-old bearing trees, and the rest is partially cleared land, which the purchaser will begin immediately to develop.

Mr. Van Horn, who makes an extensive property in the Hood River Valley for eight years, says that he will now retire from the business of developing orchard land and will build a permanent home in New York City. He recently sold his large orchard holdings in Niagara County, New York. He expresses, however, a strong optimism in the industry and evidences his faith by the investment of large sums of money in local orchard lands security. He predicts that growers will receive handsome returns from their crops this season.

Bearing Orchard Sells. The large tract purchased by Mr. Davidson was developed by C. R. Bone, who has planted some of the best bearing orchards of the valley and who built the East Fork irrigation ditch, one of the largest systems in the community.

The Central Orchards Company sold during the last week 40 acres of its tract in Central Vale, 10 acres each to George A. Gedrim and W. J. Gower, of Victoria, B. C.; William Perrybough, of Seattle; and Dr. R. D. Alexander, of St. Louis, Mo. Dr. Alexander purchased 22 acres of the same tract two weeks ago. He is a surgeon in the hospital of the Iron Mountain and Missouri Pacific Railroads at St. Louis. He plans to retire from the position within two years and will construct a large colonial residence on his property here.

Small Trade Active. The real estate firm of G. Y. Edwards and Co., which made the sales of the Central Orchard Company to the first three of the above named parties, also reports the sale of 10 acres by L.

tion of buildings and other improvements on the property, for which the County Court will make provisions at once. For the sub-stations which will be established later, there are free offers of land in various parts of the county, as the settlers are fully sensible of the great benefit to be derived from a practical, scientific demonstration of agricultural possibilities on these prairies.

CROP PROSPECTS BRIGHT Clark County Prune Growers Expect $1,000,000 Returns in Season.

CLARK COUNTY, Wash., July 9.—(Special.)—Crop conditions throughout Clark County are good, the late rains having done a great benefit. There will be a large crop of prunes and the price received this year will be greater than ever before. Most of the prune growers have already sold their crops, and it is estimated by fruit growers that prunes in this county will bring a return of about $1,000,000 this year.

Prunes from Clark County are known all over the world and are shipped to every continent. Last year several carloads were shipped to parts of Russia and London and Paris. Cherries this year are good and a large number are being shipped out. Blackberries are ripening and have been on the market, while raspberries are at the height of the season. Strawberries are still for sale.

PEAR PRICES TO BE BETTER Apple Crop in South Backward Owing to Heavy Bearing Last Year.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—Already the fruitgrowers are beginning to figure out the prospective crop of pears and apples. Bartlett pears will enter the market this year at a higher price than that of last season, which was $2.50 per box. This year the minimum price will start off at $1.75 and will range upward to Comice and Anjou, which will be turned over to the retail trade at $2.00 per box. It is concluded that the apple crop will not be so large this year, owing to heavy bearing last year, and for the further reason apple trees take periodical rests from excessive bearing years. Growers are taking splendid care of the apple crop. Insects and pests have undergone a severe treatment, and most all the growers have complied with the law in every respect, and as a result what apples are produced will be of the first quality and grade, and will bring a top-notch price.

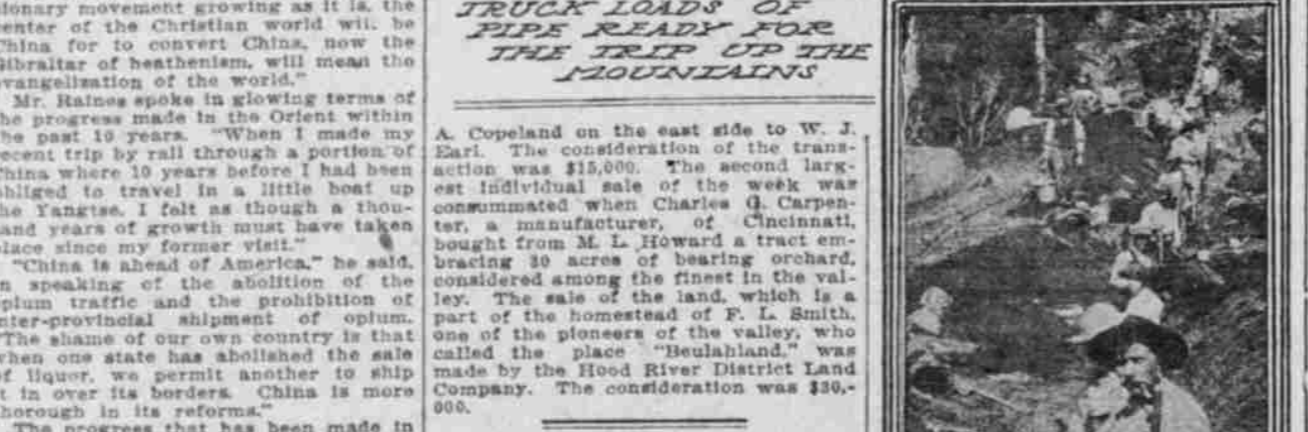

BIG AUTO SALES EXPECTED

The building will be used for a garage and auto salesroom. There are about 50 machines in this locality now and on account of the good prospect for a wheat crop, brick trade in motor cars is expected.

A. Copeland on the east side to W. J. Earl. The consideration of the transaction was $15,000. Individual sale of the week was consummated when Charles G. Carpenter, a manufacturer, of Cincinnati, bought from M. L. Howard a tract of land, including 30 acres of bearing orchard, considered among the finest in the valley. The sale of the land, which is a part of the homestead of F. L. Smith, one of the pioneers of the valley, who called the place "Beulahland," was made by the Hood River District Land Company. The consideration was $30,000.

EXPERIMENT LAND FIXED

200 ACRES FOR FARM SCHOOL CHOSEN NEAR BURNS. Colonization Company Sets Nominal Price on Tract to Encourage Practical Development.

BURNS, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—The Harney County Commissioners' Court has selected a tract of land embracing 200 acres six miles east of Burns as a site for the agricultural experiment station. It is situated in a road section, now owned by the Oregon & Western Colonization Company in the north side of the main county road leading from Burns to Lawen, Hartman and the eastern part of the valley. It is dry, sagebrush soil of a character similar to the prevailing land of Harney County, and the experiments there demonstrated will be a guide for farmers in nearly all parts of the surrounding country. President Davidson of the Colonization Company, has written to the court giving that body free rein to set its own price on the land, expressing his appreciation of the great value of the experiment station will be to the country in general and, therefore, to the company.

A representative of the State Agricultural Company is expected here in a short time to superintend the construction of a building on the site.

PEACH CROP HARVESTED

Lewiston-Clarkston Valley Varieties Being Shipped to East.

LEWISTON, Idaho, July 9.—(Special.)—The peach crop of the Lewiston-Clarkston Valley will now be harvested. The earlier varieties are being shipped to Eastern points. The weather has turned extremely warm and the later varieties will soon be on the market. The crop of this valley promises to be the biggest harvested here in six years. After careful work on the orchards, the growers have not only been able to raise big crops despite adverse conditions, but they are able to bring their peaches to a standard which is being recognized throughout the country. The number of carloads that will be shipped from this valley has not been fully computed, but in all probability it will be at least 15 per cent greater than last year. As yet the damage from the severe wind of yesterday is not known, but it is believed that it will be slight.

Big Rattlesnake Killed.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—A rattlesnake with 22 rattles and a button was brought to Grants Pass yesterday from the Dry Digging, three miles out of town, where, a few years ago, hydraulic mining was carried on with success by pumping water out of Rogue River. The snake is nearly five feet long and seems to have lost four or five of his original rattles. It was killed by Sidney Woolfolk.

WELL WATER AIDS BEND

MANUFACTURE OF BRICK NOW MADE MUCH CHEAPER.

Drillers Tap Artesian Flow When 327 Feet Down, Four Miles West of City.

BEND, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—Striking water at a depth of 327 feet, the Central Oregon Well Drilling Company, in their well four miles west of town, has demonstrated that water may be obtained from a brick-clay soil. The assurance of water means much not only to the surrounding territory, which hitherto has been hauling water from the Deschutes River at Bend, but is of special value to the brick-making industry, and will materially aid in the development of Bend.

One result will be that bricks can be sold here for $10 a thousand. With such a moderate price it is expected that an impetus will be given to the erection of permanent brick buildings. The significance of this figure is better seen when it is compared with the prices that prevail at Madras and Redmond, where from $20 to $25 a thousand is being paid for bricks.

The well-drilling outfit went to the homestead of W. H. Dolly, near Millican, in the heart of the new homestead country, 20 miles southeast of Bend, today. Should water be encountered there at moderate depth, the cultivation of their lands by the homesteaders in the "dry farm" territory will be aided. Ample well water will make feasible the irrigation of large tracts, and the taking up of land under the provisions of the desert land act will become possible on a large scale. This land-getting law requires the irrigation of specified portions of the land taken up.

New Cannery Nearing Completion.

ASTORIA, Or., July 9.—(Special.)—The building for the new cannery which the Union Fishermen's Co-Operative Packing Company of this city is erecting on Grays Harbor is nearly completed and the plant will be ready for operation during the coming fishing season, which will open on August 1.
