Fourteen Women Volunteer to Become Missionaries, 7 Men Would Preach.

MINISTER MAKES PLEA

At Closing Service of Christian Denomination Convention Appeal for More Exhorters Is Answered by Score.

When Rev. H. O. Broden made a plea for more ministers and missionaries at the White Temple last night, twenty young persons agreed. About 50 church members arose to do something to help such young men in their churches as desired to become preachers, and each of the 49 preachers in the audience and on the platform agreed to do his utmost in the next two years to induce at least one young person to enter the ministry.

The closing session of the international convention of the Christian Church, those who volunteered were: Candidates for the ministry: Adin Gaunt, North Yakima, Wash.; Charles L. Thornton, Portland, Ore.; Jack Looman, Red Lodge, Mont.; Floyd Wood, Portland; Paul Rogers, Portland; L. A. Harvey, Portland; James P. Williams, Eugene; James Crowder, Portland; Mary Ella White, Portland; Pearl Simpson, Gr. Wash.; Isaac Crowder, Eugene; Blanche Flores, Kreslin, Or.; Lizzie Chaffield, Riverside, Cal.; Daisy McPherson, Eugene; O. J. Williams, Eugene; Mabel Gremmesa, Salem, Or.; Charles Kimble, Portland; Mary O. Williams, Eugene; Dorothy Moss, Clatsop, Steila Lake, Portland; Ethel Hittsbeck, Portland.

Universal Peace wanted.

Resolutions were adopted relating to universal peace and officers were elected to the National Christian Board of Evangelists. The resolutions were: "In view of the widespread interest in universal peace between nations, and also the interest in social service, and in harmony with the requests of the various committees, be appointed by this convention through its president: "First, a committee on international peace to confer with similar committees in bringing the influence of the church to bear against war; "Second, a committee on social service, which shall likewise act with similar committees appointed by other conventions to study problems of how the church may more fully discharge its duty in ministering to the material, social and religious needs of large classes of people who have hitherto been neglected or overlooked."

Evangelist Heads Chosen.

The officers of the National Evangelistic Board for the year are: President, W. T. Brooks, of Indiana; Secretary, John P. Stanger, Los Angeles; secretary, G. W. Elliott; field secretary and treasurer, James Small; programme committee, Charles R. Scoville, John T. Brown, S. M. Martini. The convention gave its thanks to the 18 churches, the pulpits of which were thrown open last Sunday to visiting delegates by the pastors and members of the White Temple, First Presbyterian and Grace Methodist churches, and that in the past two years there has been a net loss of 400 men in the ministry. He said also that less than 600 are in the theological colleges preparing for the work.

Gypsy's Conversion Recalled.

Rev. S. S. Martin delivered an address on "The Evangelist, the Church Expositor of the Home Land." He told of his travels, and spoke of the influence of Ira D. Sankey on the life of "Gypsy" Smith. "Probably 'Gypsy' Smith would never have been a minister had not Sankey spoken a word at the right time," said Mr. Martin. "Moody and Sankey were on their first visit to England, and had been holding meetings at Liverpool. One day they drove out to a large gypsy camp near the city. The curiosity of the gypsy children was aroused and one of the boys, looking intently at Moody, Sankey noticed him, and asked him if he would like to be a preacher like Moody. He asked the boy for his name, 'Well, some day you may be.' Years afterward, when Sunday had become blind, that same boy, but grown to manhood, was doing evangelistic work. "You can't take a man of 30 years and suggest successfully that he become a preacher, but you can do that with a little boy, and in later years he will grow up to do the work of the preacher of today. In less than 25 years every teacher in the Sunday school will have a diploma, and no teacher will drink liquor, smoke, chew or use profane language. "How many of you have your Bibles with you?" "Less than a half dozen hands went up. "Forty years ago there would not have been one man in a congregation like this who had not a well-thumbed Bible. I asked a number of persons last week how many had read five chapters in the Bible during the week, and not one had done so. I am ashamed at the amount of fiction passed out at the public libraries, and at the very little solid reading matter taken by the average reader."

City Growth Is Problem.

Rev. Frank L. Bowen spoke on "City Evangelism." He has been city minister of the Christian Church in Kansas City for a number of years. "hundred years ago 4 per cent of the population of America was living in cities of 5000 or over," said Mr. Bowen. "Today 83 per cent live in cities of this size. In 1909 years we have grown from six cities of 5000 and over to 1000 cities of that size. London is 3000 years old, but four-fifths of her population has come in the last 100 years. We must evangelize the cities to save the church. The rapidly-growing suburbs present an immense problem for us. We must also reach the foreigners in the cities."

BOOTH AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION IN WHITE TEMPLE ATTRACTS ATTENTION.

McLEAN COLLEGE, HOPKINSVILLE, KY. EXHIBIT. One of the interesting exhibits of the Christian Church Convention now in session at the White Temple and neighboring churches is the booth of McLean College. This institution is in Hopkinsville, Ky. It is one of the oldest colleges conducted by the Disciples of Christ. It was named after President Archibald McLean, of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society. Rev. T. T. Roberts, of Hopkinsville, is the financial secretary and is in charge of the booth. The booth is a singularly cozy nook—a settee, a table, chairs and writing materials, photos of athletic teams, buildings, grounds and faculty, drawings and paintings by students in the art department of the college, pennants, banners, and a loving-cup won by one of the college's football teams together with printed information in attractive form furnish the booth. But most important is Mr. Roberts himself. He is alert, full of enthusiasm, ready to talk of the school with anyone who offers him the opportunity. While the college is one of the smaller colleges of the Disciples, it is growing. President Harry D. Smith, of the American Christian Missionary Society, is one of the teachers in the college and frequents the booth as a place of rest. Herbert Vensell, one of the notable evangelists of the church; Rev. T. T. Roberts and President Smith are shown in the picture of this college exhibit.

CHANGING HER FACE

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of pure mercuric oxide is a half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

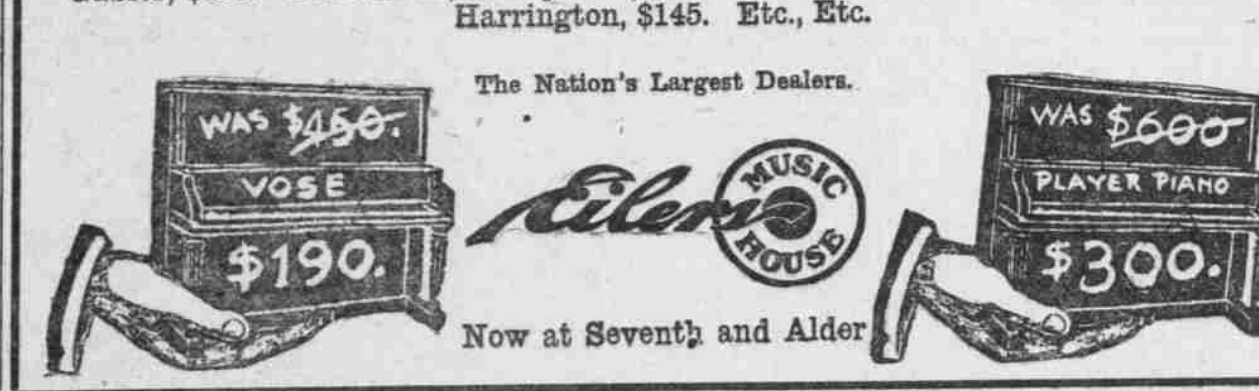

There's a simple old-fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercuric oxide, wash it with pure water and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercuric oxide will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, small patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.—Adv.
