VICIOUS HITTING DOOM OF LOCALS

James Brinker and Swain, of Vancouver, Sound Knell of Roadsters.

MUNDORFF IS LIVE WIRE

Infielder Contributes 90 Per Cent of Portland's Excitement, His Home Run in Fifth Giving Nick's Lead for Nonce.

Vancouver chucked the Portland Northwesterners in the first game of the series at the local park yesterday by viciously poking out 13 safe swats off Tonneson and Bloomfield while the best the Roadsters could do was not amough to win an ordinary game-a meanly nine. Score 18 to 5. Terrific walloping by James, Brin-ker and Swain did the damage, each ker and Swain did the damage, each chalking up a single, a double and a triple in five trips up. James added a single swat to his list in the ninth by besting out an infield rap to first. All told, Swain drove in three tallies, James two and Brinker four—a total of nine of the 10 50 cd.

Therefore it takes no poetic license to attribute the source of the nasty beating handed out to the hosts of Nick to the demon hiff trio mentioned above. Nine of Vancouver's hits were secured off Southpaw Tonneson who retired in the seventh inning in favor retired in the seventh inning in favor of Bloomfield.

Mundorff Gets Home Run.

Mundorff, one of the gamest little infielders that ever wore a Portland uniform, furnished about 90 per cent of Portland's excitement by banging out a home run over the right field successive in the fifth, scoring Stovall shead of him and putting the Roadsters in the lead 5 to 4. Majore and Tonnesson had crossed on Stovall's double to center so the total for the frame was four.

Ernshear's bad men, however, were not to be cheated of their prey and came back on a double by James, a triple by Brinker and a single by Scharmweber in the sixth, shooting to the foreground with a margin of one run, $ to $. From this on, they were never headed. 'HAPPY' ANNOYED BY UMPIRES

Hogan Wants Officials Told Not to Put Him Out of Game.

LOS ANGELES, July 24 .- (Special.)-His Scrappiness, "Happy" Hogan, has appealed from the decision of Umpire Hildebrand in plastering him with a fine and putting him out of the base-ball park in yesterday morning's game. Hogan, who feels that the umpires have made it one of their chief duties to chase him from the coaching line, the game and the grounds, promptly out President Graham. in the city, and protested the action of Hildebrand.

President Graham listened aftentively to Hogan's remarks and said that he would take the matter up next week. Hundreds of fans go to the park expecting to see "Happy" pursued by the umpire, and there will be a marked falling off in the attendance should this feature be entirely eliminated.

This thing is getting monotonous, said Hogan today. "It seems that said Hogan today. "It seems that I can't open my vocal pipes any more without being ordered to the bench or out of the park. It takes aggressiveness to win games, but I guess the um-pires want me to stand around and im-personate a statue."

Robert P. Brown, part owner of the Vancouver Club, in an interview yesterday virtually declared that Judge Robert H. Lindsay is serving lefs first and final term as president of the Veiling his inference behind a cloak of words complimentary to Lindsay's social status, his integrity and his efforts to do the right thing, Magnate Brown was none the less emphatic in Brown was none the less emphatic in his declaration that the present admin-istration of the league can be vastly improved upon, and that it would not surprise him if the Seattle jurist is not named for re-election.

Northwestern Baseball League.

Coincident with the Canadian owner's evident determination to have a practical man at the helm when the 1912 season is started is the W. W. McCredie boom, recently launched, for the presidency next year. Spokane was the first to shy his castor into the ring, an Indian sport scribe starting it with this:

"With his keen, analytical mind his proved ability to sit in judgment with unbiased eye, his devotion to baseball, his practical knowledge of the game and his great personal popularity in Northwestern fandom for many years, Judge McCredie is looked upon on all sides as possessing the requirements of an ideal president for the Northwestern League

"Bob" Brown is elated over the success of his club. Besides being out in front, his men have found a warm spot in Canadian hearts. He says the pat-ronage on his home grounds is far greater than he anticipated.

According to Brown's statement yesterday, he is likely to clean up nearly $5000 more than he did last year. Un-official figures placed his 1910 profits at Already Brown has disposed of two players to the big leagues. He is said to have received $1500 from Pitts-burg for Jimmy Harrison, while $3000 is the price generally placed for "Slim" Rasmussen's delivery to Phila-delphia Nationals.

Incidentally Brown declared that Rasmussen will prove the greatest pitching marvel ever sent from the Northwest.

"Just give that boy a little experience and he'll be hard to bent," said Brown. "Why, the lad never saw a league game until he came with me, and just notice how he has been going. Pretty good for the first year in any league, sh?"

Brown, so he declares, is already proprown, so he declares, is already provided with plenty of material for a pennant-winning crew in 1912. He says that the five men he has with Moose Jaw, in the twilight league, are going great guns, virtually bringing home the gonfolan for their boss. Beller of Collies are McQuarry are men ford. Collins and McQuarry are men he mentions with great delight.

That it is a toss-up between Vancouver, Tacoma and Spokane for pennant honors is the opinion publicly pro-claimed by the Vancouver hustler. "Vancouver, having an experienced infield and a steady back field, has just Brown: "but should any ill luck befall my team, either Spokane or Tacoma may romp home with the money. It's not a cinch by any means."

CRITICISM

Secret of How He Got Weaver on Option Told by National Board.

STOVALL HAS BIRTHDAY

Roadster Player Celebrates by Hit ting Out Two Doubles and by Stealing Base--Gregg Hailed as Great Pitcher.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT

Another trip northward to Portland and J. Cal Ewing, hale and hearty San Francisco baseball magnate, will earn for himself a niche alongside Count de Cagliostro, Palermo's famous impostor of old. Ewing, while here, severely criticised the alliance of Coast League clubs with the major teams, referring particularly, of course, to the Portland-Cleveland alliance which has applied Cleveland alliance which has enabled McCredie to draw big league material at frequent stages of the pennant race. But it now develops the effervescent Cal falled to cover up his own en-deavors in this particular branch of the art of winning pennants, for a tele-gram to the National Baseball Commis-sion reveals that the Chicago American League Club still holds an option George Weaver, Ewing's statement the contrary notwithstanding. In other words, Ewing is guilty of the same "offense" which he lays at the door of other Coast League moguls.

Purchase Is Alleged.

"How did you get Weaver?" Ewing

San Franciscan's excoriation of other club owners last Saturday.

"Bought him outright. No club has an option on him," replied the visitor. Whereupon The Oregonian dispatched a telegram to the National Commission headquarters at Cincipnati saking for headquarters at Cincinnati asking for a complete list of all major league players who have been sold to the Northwestern and Pacific Coast leagues, containing options to repur-chase held by the major organizations The complete list of such agreements approved by Garry Herrman and his colleagues, Ban Johnson, Thomas Lynch and John E. Bruce, is as follows:

American League-By Philadelphia to Spokane, Al Bonner; by Chicago to San Francisco, McDonald and Weaver; to Oakland, Bowser; by Detroit to Oakland, Pernoll; to Seattle, Dave Skeels by Boston to Sacramento, Mahoney Nebinger, Lerchen and Thomas; by New York to Oakland, Ables: by Cleveland to Portland, Fanwell, Peckin-paugh, Bradley, Koestner and Harkness; by St. Louis to Oakland, Gregory. The National League clubs have no men under option in the Coast circuit

Weaver Apt to Go Back.

Weaver, the lad who furnishes proof of the inconsistent San Francisco ding, is only 19 years old and is a drafted by Comiskey from an Eastern Class B organization, and Chicago will undoubtedly exercise its option on August 20 and take the lad back to the Windy City at the close of the Coast League playing season.

Chicago, Cleveland and New York are too far behind the leaders to get within halling distance now. Here is the way the first three in the high division look this morning:

Jesse Stovall, ex-Vernon Coast player, who is playing the outfield for the Portland Roadsters, celebrated his umpty-umpth birthday yesterday by banging out two doubles and stealing a base in the game against the Vancouver Beavers. "I am 30 years old today," said the ex-major leaguer proudly, as he passed around the claurs.

Stovall has been playing baseball for over 10 years, starting out in his professional career as a pitcher with the Kansas City club in 1990. In 1991 Jess was sent to Seattle, remaining there during 1901 and 1902, setting a record of 23 victories in 40 starts during the lat-ter year, thereby drawing a major league berth with Cleveland.

Stovall got as far as mansas City and no further, for the Spring of 1903 found him back in Seattle with the outlaw league. A fortnight later Cleveland turned him over to the San Francisco club, and the latter part of July in-duced him to report at Cleveland. In 1904 he was traded to Detroit for Outfielder Lush, remaining with the Tigers for two seasons, when he was sold to Louisville as an outfielder. Jess hadn't forgotten all he knew of the twirling art, however, as attested by a no-hit game against Minneapous in 1908 in the record book.

The husky righthander remained with the Celenels until 1909, when he was sold to Vernon, remaining on Hap Hogan's payroll until this Spring, when Nick Williams signed him.

Another great star has come to do homage at the throne of his royal high-ness, Sylvenus Augustus Gregg, better known in Portland baseball circles as plain Vean. According to Hal Chase, manager of the New York Americans. Gregg differs from the ordinary pitching star and Chase predicts a greater career than ever for Gregg next season.

Harry Krause, the Athletics' sensation in 1908, failed in 1908, and is not as good a pitcher this season as his first year a pitcher the season as his lifst year in the big brush. King Cole, the Cubs' big star last year, slumped the same way, as did Babe Adams, of Pittsburg;
Harry Covaleski, of the Philles, and Dixie Walker, of the Nationals.

"Gregg has everything that goes to make a great pitcher, and will become greater with experience," says Chase. "The pitchers who flashed in the pan had only speed or a curve, and stopped the batters only until they figured out what the pitchers were using has great speed, a wonderful nerve and rare judgment. He's a won
