SENTENCED 'LIFER' CONDEMNS COURT

Frank H. Henwood Tells Judge He Comes for Sentence, Not Justice.

PERSECUTION IS CHARGED

Convicted Slayer of Denver and St. Louis Men Says Trial Was Turned Into Preliminary Hearing of Divorce Suit.

DENVER, July 27 .- Frank H. Henwood, convicted of murder in the secad degree for the killing of George E. Copeland when shooting at S. L. Von Phul, the St. Louis balloonist, whom he also killed, in a hotel barroom here on the night of May 24, was today sentenced to life imprisonment. Sentence followed the denial of an application for a new trial.

Immediately, John T. Bottom, athe would ask a supersedens, and failing in this, would take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Never in local tribunals have the presiding judge and prosecutor been subjected to such an excertation as that pronounced by Henwood when asked what he had to say "why sen-tence should not be pronounced."

Prisoner Denounces Court.

There was seriousness in Henwood's mien as he walked to the bench and began; "I come for sentence, but not for justice, from a jail where for two menths I have been surrounded by prisoners, whose faces become blanched and who tremble with fear when they contemplate coming to this court for the state of the s trial so long as Judge Whitford sits in this division." He characterized his treatment by the

He characterized his treatment by the court and prosecution as a "persecution, not prosecution"; declared that his attorney had been "bound and gagged by rulings of the court," and that his trial for the killing of Copeland had, in reality, been turned into a preliminary hearing of the divorce case brought by John W. Springer against his wife.

Still "Springer's Best Friend."

He recalled the fact that he had been denounced by the prosecutor as "a destroyer of Mr. Springer's home," but maintained that he was and is today, "John W. Springer's best friend."

Henwood charged that the first day Mrs. Springer was on the stand, when it was seen that she possessed knowledge which would "prove advantageous to me," she was excused.

"A few days later when she was recalled." Henwood continued, "the bars were put up. Mrs. Springer was not only intimidated, but a package of letters written by her to S.L. Von Phul were placed on the prosecutor's table in plain view and she was confronted with a threat that they would be read in open court if she testified to any He recalled the fact that he had in open court if she testified to any facts in my behalf. Not only this, but her otherwise keen mind was dulled by "I am now ready for your unjust sentence," he concluded.

Court Calls Verdict Just.

Judge Whitford listened attentively to every word of the defendant.
"I am not surprised," said the court,
"at your state of mind, since you come from a jull where for two months you have been surrounded by all classes of prisoners, 14 of whom: I so recently sent there. "I am of the opinion that the verdict of the jury in your case should have been first degree murder. I believe you shot Von Phul because of jeslousy over Mrs. Springer, but for some reason the lurors returned a finding of second-iegree murder. The law leaves the sentence to be imposed in the discretion of the court. It is the opinion of this court that you shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary at Canon City for life."

RIOTING PEDDLERS WARNED

Empress of China.

Mayor Harrison Would Fill Station Three Deep With Violators.

CHICAGO, July 27.—"Rioting in the peddlers" war must stop, if the police have to fill the station three deep with ners," said Mayor Harrison today. "While I am sorry for the peddlers, who are forbidden by the new ordinance from shouting their wares on the streets, a majority of the citizens are opposed to the noise."

A special detail of police was sent to guard the Maxwell-street station court-room, where 50 of the striking peddlers arrested for rioting were called for hearing. A crowd of 500 men and women gathered outside the station and jeered at the police while the cases were being heard.

Judge Sabath fined Louis Oscar $200 and postponed the hearing of the other cases. Fifteen minutes later a crowd of 10 men and women attacked a peddler within two blocks of the police station, cut the harness from the horse, everturned the wagon and assaulted the driver

GLORIOUS HAIR

To Possess It Every Woman Must Get Rid of Dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by gorms; these germs dig into the roots of the hair and vociferously devour the nourishment that nature intends the hair to have.

Allow these destructive and persistent little devils to keep feasting and soon the hair of any person will lose its natural life and lustre, will fade, turn gray and fall out.

A fifty cent bottle of Parisian Sage (now sold all over America) will kill more dandruff germs than any other brown agent.
