

WOMAN HAS SEVEN HUSBANDS, CHARGE

Lawyer Says He Will Produce Bunches of Big Julia's Spouses in Court.

"LET 'EM RAVE," SAYS SHE

Two Tell Police Court Judge She Married Them and Then Decamped, Taking Wedding Gifts and Procured No Divorces.

NEW YORK, July 30.—"I'll have seven men in court Thursday who have married this woman, and she is not divorced from any of them," said Albert Kintle, counsel for Charles Sigalov in the New Jersey Avenue Police Court, Brooklyn, yesterday.

"Let 'em rave, let 'em rave," said Julia, shaking the large feathers on her hat as she was led off to jail, the court holding her for examination Thursday.

The woman was taken into custody after many attempts by the police to arrest her, she evading them on several occasions. Sigalov showed great glee when he saw the tall Julia at the bar of Justice.

Bigamy Is Charged.

"So you have my wife, Julia," he said. "I am glad, and I imagine the other husbands are glad, too. I charge this woman with bigamy."

"Rave on, little one," laughed Julia. Sigalov then told the court that he married the woman April 17, 1910, at his home in Brooklyn. He declared that at the wedding he bestowed expensive gifts upon the bride and that the guests at the festivity were almost as liberal. Two weeks later, Sigalov related, his wife disappeared.

He searched everywhere for her, he said, and finally encountered Marcus Weiss, 536 Eighty-seventh street, who had also lost his wife. They compared notes, said Sigalov, and discovered they had married the same woman.

Weiss told the court that Julia had deserted him two weeks after the wedding, taking the wedding gifts with her.

"Let 'em Rave," Says Julia.

"Let 'em rave," commented Julia, in a deep voice befitting a huge woman of 55 years.

When Sigalov complained to the police and the latter made an attempt to arrest the woman, she was helped down a fire ladder, outside her apartment, and escaped. They finally captured her yesterday.

"Her scheme was to marry a man, get money and presents from him and then disappear," commented Lawyer Kintle. She would then get some rabbit to give her a divorce, go forth and get a new husband.

"Rave on," bellowed Julia.

PRISONER WEDS VISITOR

Bride Will Work For Freedom of Man Who Has Won Sympathy.

KANSAS CITY, July 30.—In order that she might better work for the freedom of the man with whom she had fallen in love while he was a prisoner in the county jail in Kansas City, Kan., Miss Nora Carpenter, of Norton, Va., was married to Edward Baker, who is serving a six months' sentence for a postoffice robbery. The wedding took place in the jail, the ceremony being performed by the Probate Judge.

Miss Carpenter met Baker when she went to the jail with a woman friend to visit the latter's husband, who is awaiting trial on a charge of highway robbery. Baker and the friend's husband had become acquainted in the jail and Baker was introduced to Miss Carpenter. That was two weeks ago.

Other visits followed and Baker proposed marriage. He was accepted and after a conference with the jail authorities the wedding was set for today.

After the marriage Baker went back to his cell and his wife returned to the home of her friend.

JAILS PLACES OF EASE

Federal Judge Seeks Real Punishment for Guilty Forgers.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 30.—Federal Judge Dyer is looking for a Missouri jail where Federal prisoners are kept in confinement and not allowed to go fishing. The judge made his wishes known yesterday in passing sentence on a forger of money orders. He fixed the punishment at six months in jail.

"But," said Judge Dyer, "I want a jail to determine what jail I will send the prisoner to. Recently I heard that Government prisoners are allowed absolute freedom in the rural jail."

"I have been told that prisoners sent to Montgomery City were permitted to go out and fish all day and return to jail at night. I also heard of one person who went to see a prisoner and was surprised when the prisoner met him at the railroad station."

AIRMAN DIVES 500 FEET

Control Cables Break, but Wiseman Makes Safe Landing.

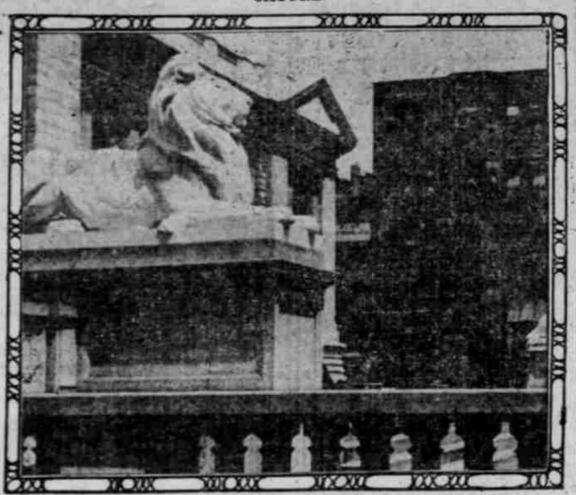

SALINAS, Cal., July 30.—With his propeller and his control cables broken Fred J. Wiseman, an aviator, made a sensational dive of 500 feet at a local race course park today and landed safely.

The accident has necessitated postponement of exhibitions that were to have been given here in the course of the week to celebrate a fiesta in connection with the twenty-third annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Trotting-Horse Breeders' Association, now in session.

Joseph Man Drowned in Lake.

JOSEPH, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—James Lane, aged 23 years, while bathing in Wallows Lake, with several other young men Saturday afternoon, was suddenly seized with a cramp, and before help could reach him he had disappeared, and failed to come to the surface again. The lake is very cold and deep, and it was some time before his body was recovered. He is survived by a mother and sister, living in Joseph.

NEW YORK'S NEW STONE LIONS, IN PHOTOGRAPH AND CAPTURE.

ABOVE, ENTRANCE TO NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY, SHOWING STATUARY THAT PEOPLE DISAPPROVE OF.—BELOW, NEWSPAPER CARTOON THAT SEEMS TO RECORD THE POPULAR THOUGHT.

IT LOOKS MORE LIKE JACKSON TO ME PAPA. MY BOY THAT IS THE GREAT ISEN YOU'VE HEARD SO MUCH ABOUT. FROM BOSTON.

LIONS ARE DERIDED

New York Jeers at Statues That Cost Library $10,500.

ASPECT IS FORBIDDING.

People, Unmoved by Art Commission's Seal of Approval, Frankly Admit Stone Monstrosities Fail to Impress Them.

NEW YORK, July 30.—New York is frankly derisive in its attitude toward the Porter lions, the images of stone that stand guard at the entrance of the state public library. Despite the fact that the municipal art commission looked at them, pronounced them good and paid Edward C. Potter, the sculptor, of Greenwich, Conn., $10,500 for them, the tens of thousands who view them every day do not approve. Public opinion is that the lions are neither symbolical nor naturalistic, that they belong neither at the portals of a great public library nor in the zoo.

The lions have been declared to look like no lions at all that ever treaded the earth. They have been said to resemble slightly the fiery, untamed hoo-hoo of New Jersey, and some say that with their Galway eyes they closely resemble the late Henrik Ibsen.

"What's a lion got to do with a library, anyway?" demanded one dilettante observer yesterday, wiping away streams of laughter after an inspection of the stone fixtures.

"Other public lions mean something. Take the lions inside the public library of Boston, they are erected to immortalize the courage of the Massachusetts soldiers who died in the Civil War. Those at the foot of the Nelson Monument in London symbolize military power, and the Lion of Lucerne, who stands guarding the miles of France, commemorates the 26 officers and 440 soldiers of the Swiss Guard who died defending the Tuilleries in 1792.

"The handsome lions at the entrance of our new police headquarters have appropriate significance also. They hold between their powerful paws the symbol of civic power—the oak wreath.

"But what in the world do these lions mean except a cause to make people grin? They are such foolish-faced lions. They have such a pained and at the same time irritable expression as if they had eaten a very tough Zulu, who hadn't agreed with them, and were ready to snap at anybody that might offer them sympathy. They have monkey faces. Paderewski hair and the bodies of St. Bernard dogs. At least that's the way they struck me."

However, the municipal art commission approved the lions—even after they saw them. Some time ago Mr. Potter was asked what in the literary field the lions stood for, and he very candidly answered that he did not know, and when he was asked what lions stood for in art anyway he replied also that he was sure he did not know that either.

NET TANGLES 2 CAPTAINS

(Continued From First Page.)

partment, comprising several detectives, police captains and sergeants, in addition to several patrolmen on beats in the North and South Ends under sergeants said at present to be suspected of grafting by the Rushlight administration. Under this organization, it is alleged, a schedule of fines or "bush money" was maintained for the benefit of those members of the police depart-

MRS. GOODWIN NO. 5 READ CHOSEN

Next Bride Will Be Charming Marjorie Moreland, Once Belle of Baltimore.

ACTOR DREAMS OF BLISS

California Is One of Remaining States in Which Matrimony Is Not Barred to Husband of Many Beautiful Women.

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—(Special.)—That Nat Goodwin not only has not stopped dreaming of domestic bliss, somewhere and somehow to be enjoyed, but has definitely adjusted his affection to the new circumstance that his fourth wife only last Tuesday got her final decree of divorce from him in New York, is regarded as certain by his intimate friends here.

Mrs. Goodwin No. 5, Marjorie Moreland, a beautiful Baltimore girl, who was Mr. Goodwin's leading lady last season, and who also had played with William Frawburn.

There are not as many states as there were once in which Mr. Goodwin can take a wife legally, but California is one of them. The New York divorce permits Edna Goodrich, who was fourth in the line of succession, to marry again, but it forbids the privilege to Mr. Goodwin. This makes a situation that will be interesting to lawyers in the event that Mr. Goodwin ever returns to the Great White Way, for however strong in California and a few other states may be the bonds that make him a husband, in New York he will be liable to prosecution if the authorities wish to press the case.

Now, though, Goodwin is disgusted with New York and all there is in it. He says he has forsaken the lobster palaces and the fleshpots of Manhattan forever. He has in mind a simple pastoral life, in a modest $100,000 bungalow, surrounded by a colony of fellow Arcadians, there to end his days far from the whirl of the complex life is fickle.

Miss Moreland was the guest until two weeks ago of Mr. Goodwin, at his Santa Monica home. She was accompanied by a chaperon. When he arrived here without her recently there was wonderment, but it was explained that Miss Moreland's father had died and that she had returned to Baltimore. She is expected in California soon and after her period of mourning has expired, so say the friends of the couple here, they will be married.

Mr. Goodwin's previous wives have been in the order in which they married them, Miss Eliza, Miss Maxine Elliott and Miss Edna Goodrich. Marriage to Mr. Goodwin was the most profitable to Miss Goodrich, but Mr. Goodwin's wife still to have a comfortable fortune left.

MORGAN WILL BE CALLED

FINANCIER OF STEEL TO BE PUT ON DEFENSIVE.

Explanation of Tennessee Deal Sought by Committee—Subpena for Schwab Ordered.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Congressional committee of inquiry into the United States Corporation is now desirous of hearing personally from J. P. Morgan with regard to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company by the Steel Corporation in 1907. This was made known tonight at the committee headquarters.

That a subpena will be issued within a few days for Charles M. Schwab, executive of the corporation, also was revealed.

"The best man to defend J. P. Morgan for his part in the Tennessee Coal & Iron transactions," said Chairman Stanley Baker Pease, "is Charles M. Schwab. I sincerely hope that Mr. Morgan's engagements in Europe will not deter him from appearing. Mr. Morgan's own story of what transpired at the momentous events at the time of that financial panic, and the effect of the steel stock transfer in the midst of it are certain to be of great value."

Mr. Schwab will be examined particularly about steel prices and the Steel Corporation's power in "steading" the market prices of steel products throughout the country.

VARSAITY ELECTS WOMAN

Miss Montana Hastings Elected to Faculty of Oregon "U."

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—Miss Montana Hastings has been elected assistant professor in the department of education in the University of Oregon. Her work will in part supplement that of Dr. C. J. Bennett, head of the department, but her principal services will be to engage in the field work formerly conducted by L. R. Alderman, now superintendent of public instruction.

Miss Hastings is a graduate of Drake University, Iowa, and of Columbia University, New York. She was for a time assistant superintendent of schools at Joplin, Mo., and has been at the head of several large training and normal schools in the East. She passed last year in graduate work at the University of Jena, in Germany.

For years Miss Hastings has been lecturer on state institutes. This summer she lectured at the Miami University Summer session in Ohio.

Has LINCORD Buttonholes front and back. SKY-MAN. A straight front close-meeting effect that stays closed—your dealer will supply you.

Silver Collars. LINCORD BUTTONHOLES are easier-to-button and they don't tear out.

Spaulding disliked this plan and an arrangement has practically been reached so that the city will continue to allow the Spaulding Company to use the streets through the lumber yards in exchange for frontage from State street to the Steel bridge and $4000 additional. The money will be used for the construction of a public dock.

CITIZENS FIGHT NEW RATE

Enterprise Folk Denounce Telephone Company for Raising Tolls.

ENTERPRISE, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—The Home Independent Telephone Company was roundly denounced at a mass meeting of Enterprise citizens Friday night for its recent notice of a raise in the toll rates between Wallowa County and Union county towns. Committees of business men were appointed to visit the towns of Joseph, Wallowa and Lostine and enlist the citizens of those places in a general protest against the action of the company.

When the company entered the two counties, promises were made by the promoters of the return of the old rates. These promises have been a gradual raise in telephone rates. Resolutions of protest have been circulated in Enterprise and other towns of Wallowa County, demanding the return of the old rates. The resolutions also threaten that if the former rates are not restored, the signers will order their phones removed by August 1. Every subscriber in Enterprise, with the exception of two or three, has signed the resolutions.

FLORENCE PLEASURES MANY

Bright City by Sea Attracts Home-Seekers and Business Men.

FLORENCE, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—Two new store buildings, a wooden building for Thomas Saubert and a concrete structure which is to be the new store of F. K. Morris, are nearly ready for nearing completion. Captain John Bergman, of the Umpqua Life-Saving Station, has lumber ready for a new residence, which he will occupy when he retires from the Government service. Several other residences are also under construction.

Every day people arrive who are looking for locations and many of them are well pleased with this little city by the sea, remain. P. W. Dennett, of Seattle, recently visited Florence and will return soon to put in a plant for the manufacture and repair of shoes. A. Stenson and E. H. Flag are here from Portland seeking a location for a salmon cannery, which they purpose building on a site to be ready for this season's run. The run of Chinook salmon has already begun and fishermen are out every night with boats and nets.

HIGH VOLTAGE NOT FATAL

Fellow-Workman Resuscitates Man Caught by Current.

MEDFORD, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—Saved from electrocution by a fellow workman who beat him upon the chest until he was loosened from a wire carrying 2300 volts of electricity, Ed Sheets, an employe of an electrical company here, is now recovered, except for his badly burned hands. Mr. Sheets was trying to connect two high tension wires when his climbers slipped from the pole and he grabbed at the crosspiece. Instead he took hold of the two ends of the live wire and for 15 seconds the current passed through his body. When he was taken from the pole he was blind, but has completely recovered his sight.

LAUNCH RUNS AWAY TO SEA

Little Craft Travels 10 Miles on Ocean Without Shipping Drop.

FLORENCE, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—A small gasoline launch belonging to John H. Morris broke loose from its moorings at the city dock Saturday night and drifted to the mouth of the Siuslaw and out across the bar. It was found on the beach by the driver of a passing stage, after having traveled about 15 miles, about 10 miles of this distance being on the open sea.

EUGENE PLANS APPLE FA'

Packing of Fruit to Be Important in Consideration of Exhibits.

EUGENE, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—Plans are being formed for a second annual apple show under the auspices of the Eugene Commercial Club. The success of last year's fair, though made on a small scale, encourages the growers to try again, and they are ready to co-operate with the club.

Awakening of growers to the importance of learning the commercial packing of apples was brought about by the show last year, and one of the conditions this year will be that the fruit shall be packed as for sale.

WILDE TRAVELS IN STYLE

(Continued From First Page.)

I prefer to stand or fall on the Governor's wishes.

"I have no fault to find with the treatment accorded me by the officials of Oregon, as they have permitted me on my word of honor to meet them in San Francisco on Monday morning next. My friends need not worry, because there is nothing to it except a combination of enemies who have threatened me for money consideration."

Lipman Wolfe & Co. Merchandise of Merit Only. The Greatest Economy Event of the Year. A Sample Line Fresh, Snowy Undermuslins HALF PRICE Selling from 75c up to $10.00

MEN IN DIET FUED Editor Doubts Subscriber's 26-Cents a Week Theory.

CRACKERS ARE CHIEF FOOD

Wiry Athlete, 73 Years Old, Declares He Can Prove Person May Wax Fat on Frugal Fare. Long Walks Taken.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 30.—(Special.)—Doubt, expressed by the editor of the New Britain Herald, as to the truth of a statement made by George H. Ward, a 73-year-old athlete, of Middletown, Conn., that he (Ward), had been maintaining a constitution resembling whiptoad for the last quarter of a century at an expense of food averaging 26 cents a week, has embroiled the editor in difficulties.

Mr. Ward in his challenge to the editor laid out the expenditure for the seven days as follows: Oatmeal, 12 cents; crackers, 5 cents; peanut butter, 4 cents; flour, 2 cents; tea, 2 cents. Total, 26 cents.

"That pesky editor will like it and get fat on it," says Mr. Ward. "So'll anybody else. I'm 73. Lots of boys would like to have cheeks as rosy as mine. I'm going to live to be a hundred—perhaps more."

SALEM, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—Looking ahead to the days when the opening of the Panama Canal will bring thousands of immigrants to the Pacific Coast, A. F. Hofer, member of the State Immigration Commission, will ask Governor West to call an early meeting of that commission to the proposition of bringing the acceptable class of such immigrants to Oregon may be considered.

Mr. Hofer, who is secretary of the Salem Board of Trade, says that his plan is to start a campaign in Europe of advertising Oregon, leading up to the time when the Panama Canal will turn forth its thousands on the Pacific slope from European countries.

Citizens Bank "On the right side of the River" 4% Interest on Savings Capital $100,000.00 Surplus 10,000.00 120 Grand Ave.

PREMO For Light Weight For Compactness For Splendid Results Let us show you a FILM PREMO CAMERA 3x4, $10; 3x5, $12.50; 4x5, $12.50 The lightest and most compact of all cameras for picture of these sizes. Step in and look over our complete line of cameras. We carry everything for the amateur photographer, including films, papers and all kinds of accessories. We maintain an expert department for developing and finishing. All work handled promptly and with great care. Columbian Optical Co. 145 6th Street, Selling Building Bet. Alder and Morrison Sts.