Eaton Favors System.

"I am a friend of the Oregon system, as my record plainly shows," said Mr. Eaton, "and in suggesting the change I have in the method of securing sig-natures to initiative and referendum petitions, I do so as a friend of that system. The Oregon system has only two enemies; thuse who have no use for it at all and those who, while pro-fessing to be its friends, will not con-sent to any changes that will make its andication more safe and guard the application more safe and guard the people against the abuses to which it is now subjected. Of the two enemies, latter class is the more dangerous to the permanency of the initiative and referendum."

Mr. Enton said yesterday that the friends of the University of Oregon ex-pect some, time this week, to institute the civil suit that is being prepared to annul the referendum movement against the University appropriations. Among the minor details to be decided upon is the taxpayer whose name will appear as plaintiff in the proceedings which will be instituted in the Marion County Circuit Court.

He said in part: "The average preacher knows a great deal about poverty and very lit-tic about wealth. In Pennsylvania glaciers on the sides than on any other peak.

Many Plan Vacation.

"The average preacher knows a great deal about poverty and very lit-tle about wealth. In Pennsylvania years ago I mined my first ton of coal and was paid 65 cents for it. Four years later I received only 35 cents for the last ton I mined. "But while it is difficult for the rich man to see anything in the poor man's contantion, it is equally difficult for the mass of the poor men to see the rich man's position. Neither the rich nor the poor will ever see the ques-tion of capital and labor from Jesus' point of view until they receive Jesus' spirit. "Present conditions are responsible for a large part of the unrest in the world today. Christ reproved the Pharisees because they deserved it, not because they were Pharisees, and he would reprove the rich men, not because they were rich, but because they had secured their wealth dishon-ently, and were making a wrong use of it."
