

FACES MUST FIT TINY 'CREATIONS'

Fall Millinery to Be Small and Fair Features Are to Be Molded to Match.

FASHION'S DECREE MADE

Such Trifles as New Style Not Being Becoming to Some Women Is Easily Overcome, Says Mr. Cne, Who Knows All About It.

CHICAGO, July 31.—(Special).—Making over a customer's face to fit a diminutive hat and then slipping the underlined headgear on with the aid of a shoe horn and soapstone, like Cinderella's slipper, are among the simplest things that the milliner will be compelled to do this fall.

The milliner who hopes to keep all of her patrons beautiful through another season need only to be a magician to accomplish her purpose.

The secrets of the future, as far as they concern the millinery world, were whispered into the ears of a select few Chicago women this afternoon by Ora Cne, man milliner. Mr. Cne, who has just returned from a trip to the style factories of Paris and London, held a conference with the seekers after things modish in bonnets in the parlors of Madame Hunt, Western fashion oracle.

Few Rules Laid Down.

Here are just a few of the arbitrary rules laid down by Mr. Cne. Hats will be extremely small this fall.

They will consist, chiefly, of the "sugar loaf" cube, the "steep crown" and the "piquet" cap.

The hats will follow the Egyptian styles and hair must be dressed down over the ears to conform to the style. Crowns will be high, some of them reaching 30 inches from the "foundation."

"But some of the women just can't wear small hats," suggested one of the timid milliners to the audience. "They're not becoming to everybody."

"Very simple," replied the resourceful Mr. Cne, "will make the face over in order to make it becoming. Try on the small hat first, then make the face conform to the remainder of the picture."

Question Is Anticipated.

"How," thought the questioner, "how was that to be done?"

Mr. Cne anticipated this question. The reason big hats are becoming to some women is that they need shadows to throw over their faces," he said. To supply this need when small hats are worn, dark shadows may be drawn in with a delicate brown powder wherever they are needed, chiefly under the eyes. Then, in order that they may not be too striking, they must be rubbed over lightly with common face powder. The result will be that the face will fit the small hat."

But the desired husbands congratulate themselves over this dwindling in the size of hats, feeling that the prices will take a tumble also, let the truth be told, what is striking in quantity of hat will be made up in "class." Eyes will retain their old mammoth proportions.

50 STEAMERS IN MERGER

Canadian Companies on Great Lakes Form $26,000,000 Combine.

DULUTH, July 31.—Plans for the consolidation of the great shipping corporations on the Canadian side of the great lakes, which have been in progress for nearly a year, have been completed. Working arrangements have also been entered into between the merger and the Manchester Lines, limited, of which Lord Christopher Furness is chairman.

The Canadian companies concerned are among the largest of the navigation companies on the great lakes, representing a capital of $28,000,000. The merger will have a fleet of about 50 steamers plying on Lakes Erie, Superior, Michigan, Ontario and Huron, with the port of Montreal as a point of trans-shipment to ocean ships.

MAN IS STILL ENTOMBED

Diggers Misjudge Location in Mine and Begin Rescue Work Again.

JOPLIN, Mo., July 31.—With nearly one-third the depth excavated, the men who last night began digging in an effort to rescue Joseph Gray, imprisoned in a mine near here yesterday by a cave-in, were relieved today by other volunteers.

Gray, who is 21 years old, the son of a prominent mine operator, is believed to be alive in a runway 70 feet below the surface. Over a hundred men and boys engaged in the digging were aided by women who kept them supplied with food and water.

When an opening had been made to the runway this morning the rescuers found that they had misjudged Gray's location and that he was in some other chamber of the mine. They immediately began to drill another hole to locate the entombed man.

TOBACCO IS ACTRESS FAD

Girls Say Aroma of Weed Will Make Complexion Bloom.

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn., July 31.—A large company of young women from New York, including several actresses, are living in tents on the Summit Tobacco Company's plantation on the Suffolk Plains, here.

Wonderful stories are current concerning relations complexion treatments which have been wrought by the aroma of green tobacco leaves in conjunction with the sun's rays. The atmosphere of the growing tobacco is said to clear the skin of many imperfections and leave it white and smooth.

Dakota's Engine Sticks.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The top of the big turbines of the battleship North Dakota is stuck so tightly to its casing that the New York Navy-yard workmen have been working in vain five weeks in the effort to pry it off. The engine has been working badly, and it is necessary to get at the interior mechanism. No one can tell when the ship will be ready for service again.

SANTA MONICA SOCIETY FOLK EXPECT TO SEE BALTIMORE BEAUTY BECOME NAT GOODWIN'S FIFTH WIFE.

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—(Special).—Society folk in and about Santa Monica who enjoyed the pleasure of meeting the beautiful Baltimore girl, Miss Marjorie Moreland, who recently, with a chaperone, was the guest of Nat C. Goodwin at his bungalow there, are positive in their belief that she is soon to become wife No. 5 to the well-known actor-miner.

Though called to her home back East last week by the death of her father, Miss Moreland, it is believed, will soon reappear here, and, after the period mourning has passed, it is believed she will be led to the altar by Mr. Goodwin. Miss Moreland's family is said to be wealthy and prominent in Baltimore society.

IDAHO TRIP REWARD

Mrs. E. H. Harriman to Give Student Son Outing.

Young Man Finishes Term at Yale at Head of Class—Miss Carol Harriman, Disdaining Hobbles, Has Dresses Cut Full.

SNAKE RIVER OBJECTIVE

San Francisco, July 31.—(Special).—Mrs. Mary W. Harriman, widow of Edward H. Harriman, the late railroad wizard who has been in San Francisco since last Friday, left here today for Del Monte, accompanied by her family.

The party will remain at Del Monte until the end of the week, then return to this city for a brief stay before departing for Orrin Park, at the head of the Snake River in Idaho.

Mrs. Harriman, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Carol Harriman, and her two sons, W. Averill and Edward R. N. Harriman, motored yesterday to Burlington and passed the day at the summer home of R. P. Schwerdt, general manager of the Pacific Steamship Company.

During her stay here Mrs. Harriman has remained as much in seclusion as possible, taking her meals in her suite at the Fairmont. Miss Carol Harriman, more restive than her mother, who came West for quiet and rest, was seen several times in the foyer and courts of the hotel. She invariably wears black, in mourning for her father, and women of discriminating taste noted that her skirts were built in full lines, falling in billowy folds about her feet. In contradistinction to the hobbles of local vogue.

Mrs. Harriman is always gowning in black crepe or crepe de chine. During her stay here Mrs. Harriman has escaped the avalanche of begonia letters which deluged her mail every day in the East, several hundred being the usual daily budget. Her mail here has been very light, not more than five or six missives reaching the Fairmont, and they are chiefly business communications.

The party will enjoy an outing of several weeks in Idaho, the trip being in the nature of a reward to Mrs. Harriman's youngest son, who is a student at Yale and who ended his term this summer at the head of his class.

CITY'S PROGRESS IS GREAT

vigor for the next five months, completing a year of construction progress and surpassing the banner year of 1910 when permits were issued representing a total cost of $20,604,957.

Next in importance to the building record was the showing made in Post-office receipts. According to estimates the total receipts for the month will approximate $79,000. For the corresponding month last year, the postal business amounted to $70,334.50. The gain will therefore be more than $8000 or about 11 per cent. The substantial increase in Postoffice receipts is considered one of the strongest indications of Portland's growth and prosperity. It is the belief of Postmaster Merrick that at the present rate of increase, the year will close with receipts totaling over $1,000,000. Compared with other cities in the Northwest, Portland is making by far the best showing in its postal returns.

Bank Clearings Keep Up.

Considering the financial situation, Portland will in all probability be the only city on the Pacific Coast, with the exception of Los Angeles, to show a substantial increase in bank clearings. While the gain is less than 2 per cent, it demonstrates that business remained good throughout the month despite the fact that July was one of the hottest months experienced in many years. The total clearings for the month were $44,174,322, compared with $43,446,929.91 for July, 1910. The clearings show a gain of $727,392.31.

In contrast with the totals for July, in 1909, two years ago, it is interesting to note that a gain of $14,074,486.56 was made, the total clearings for that year being $30,105,122.83.

Money Outlook Roseate.

With the banner wheat crop now being harvested, it is the belief of Portland financiers that money will be more plentiful this fall than in several years and accordingly much larger increases are looked for during the last part of the year than have been so far recorded.

The month closed with a big gain in four shipments, there having been dispatched from this port 28,213 barrels valued at $152,854. The increase in shipments over the business for the corresponding month of last year was 12,057 barrels. Lumber shipments for the export trade amounted to 6,880,263 feet. Coastwise shipping amounted to 7,701,300 feet.

The past month was a busy one at the Portland Stockyards. The total receipts aggregated $30 cars, an increase of 130 cars over the receipts in the same month last year. In all lines except hogs and draft animals, the arrivals were larger than a year ago by 16,513 head.

Portland is rapidly developing into a great sheep market, as was shown by the export trade, which was valued at $2,644 head. This is a gain over last year of 16,130 head. There was also a large increase in the receipts of cattle.

The hog movement was small in all the leading livestock markets of the country last month, and as a consequence hog prices advanced materially everywhere. The cattle and sheep market held fairly steady.

Receipts of all classes of livestock at North Portland in the past month compare with the same month last year as follows:

Cattle	1911	1910	Incr.
	1,229	821	408
Hogs	4,480	6,228	1,748
Horses and mules	28	15,453	15,425
Cars	550	306	244

WILDE IS ON LAST LEG TO PORTLAND

Indicted Capitalist Surrenders to Oregon Officers in San Francisco.

TO FIGHT, DETERMINATION

"Prisoner" Is Sanguine as to Outcome of Trial and Shows Emotion Only When Speaking of Family—Party Due Tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(Special).—Louis J. Wilde, the San Diego capitalist, who was extradited to Oregon by Governor Johnson, to stand trial upon an indictment charging him with the embezzlement of $40,000 of the funds of the Oregon Trust & Savings Company, gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Leonard and District Attorney Cameron of Portland, at the Palace Hotel today at noon.

Wilde made an appointment with the Oregon officials to meet them in the lobby of the hotel at 10 o'clock this morning, but owing to the late train was not able to be on time. He seemed to be in good spirits and laughed and joked over the matter of the indictment now pending against him.

Wilde Shows Emotion.

He showed emotion only when he was telling of the "injustice" of the Oregon proceedings and speaking of his family and friends in San Diego. Wilde left in company with his attorney, Charles E. Sumner, of San Diego, and Deputy Sheriff Leonard and District Attorney George J. Cameron, at 4:30 o'clock tonight for Portland.

Wilde said he was glad that he was going to Portland so that he could clear up the matter of his alleged wrongdoing, but on the contrary it would give him an opportunity to prove to the people of Portland and of the State of Oregon that he was the main instrument in securing them in the matter of their deposits, which were in the defunct Oregon Trust & Savings Company.

To Fight, Is Determination.

"I did not want to leave my business and see the business of many of my persons who were interested with me go to smash on my account," said Wilde. "I am going back to Oregon, and as long as I have a drop of red blood in my veins or a cent in my pocket I am going to fight the elude that are attempting to degrade me before the public. The better element of the people of Portland is with me and understands the inner workings of the gang that is trying to ruin me."

"This indictment of the work of hungry grafters and blackmailers, I have arranged my business so that I can remain away from home for some time, and when I come back I will have shown to the people of the State of Oregon the real character of Stow and of those whom the newspapers have been calling the 'higher ups' whom I call the 'lower down'."

Prisoner Proud of Record.

"I have been in California for the last 15 years, the past nine years of this time I have lived at San Diego and no man, woman or child, I do not care what his station of life may be, will say one word against me or my mother or dealing with the public."

"I am proud of my Portland record and have not done anything that I would not do again. I am not trying to find fault and I do not want to throw any mud, because I am going to win out on this case on the facts and facts alone. I am ready to go to trial today, if I can be granted that privilege."

Wilde's voice broke and tears came to his eyes as he talked of his wife and family in San Diego.

Wilde said that he expected to be served with several civil suits as soon as he arrived in Portland by Stow and several of the directors of the German-American Bank. He says he does not fear the outcome of the civil suits.

WILDE DUE HERE TOMORROW

Indicted Banker Will Probably Be Arraigned as Soon as He Arrives.

Louis J. Wilde, in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Leonard and District Attorney Cameron, will arrive in Portland on the Shasta limited at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

In the opinion of Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald, it will be impossible to arrange for the trial of Wilde before the first of September and possibly not until October.

Following his arrival in the city, it is likely that Wilde will be immediately taken before the State Circuit Court for arraignment. If he declines to plead to the indictment, his bail will be fixed and the customary time allowed in which to plead or to move against the indictment by demurrer or otherwise. If the indictment is eventually found unassailable, a date is fixed for the trial.

"This is vacation season with the Judges of the Circuit Court," said Mr. Fitzgerald yesterday, "and regular terms of court will not be resumed until September. There are in the County Jail a great many people under indictment who will come up for trial at the September term. It always has been the policy of the District Attorney's office to try first those accused persons who have been spending some time in jail because of their inability to furnish bonds. Those persons are given the preference. Those who are able to give bonds are permitted to wait their turn unless there is some especially good reason why they should be tried in advance of the other cases."

The next term of court does not convene until September and it will take virtually all of that month to try the cases now pending and in which the defendants are in jail.

COPPER MERGER DELAYED

Court Temporarily Restrains Proposed Michigan Consolidation.

LANSING, Mich., July 31.—In granting a temporary injunction today to Charles H. Turner and other minority stockholders of the Osceola Mining Company, to prevent the consolidation of that and nine other copper mining companies of Michigan, Judge West of the Ingham County Circuit Court held that the state statute relative to such consolidations is a bar to the completion of the organization in its proposed form. Other points he deems too important to be decided without a full hearing and examination of witnesses.

Besides the Osceola Company, these are involved in the proposed merger: The Calumet & Hecla, the Amnisk, Laurium, La Salle Copper, Seneca, Superior, Alouay, Centennial Copper and the Tanarack.

The court declared that if the Michigan state law, which limits the amount of capital stock of such mergers to $10,000,000, allows the proposed merger to be completed with $10,000,000 capital stock and $2,000,000 in capital, the company simply operates to save the corporation from paying a franchise fee on all above $10,000,000 and prevents its true capital and capital stock from being disclosed.
