HIRD POLICEMAN IN INQUIRY'S NET

Name of Accused Patrolman and Nature of Charge Are Kept Secret.

MANY OF FORCE TREMBLE

Most Recent Peace Guardian to Face Complaint Engages Lawyer to Defend Him in Graft or Inefficiency Charge.

Charges of either graft or inefficiency have been preferred against another patrolman in the police department as a result of the investigation being made of that branch of the municipal government by Mayor Rushlight. Chief of Police Slover and Police Commissioner Coffey. The name of the patrolman and the nature of the charge against film are being withheld.

That charges have been brought egainst another member of the department is known, however, from the fact that the same attorney, retained to defend Patrolman Williams, charged with accepting a $25 bribe from a poolroom proprietor, has been employed to defend the second patrolman against whom charges have been preferred.

Many on Anxious Scat.

Many on Anxious Seat. Many on Anxious Scat.

Decidedly pronounced is the feeling of unrest and worry on the part of a great many members of the police department over the impending shakeup. This evidence of alarm is by no means confined to the patrolmen. It extends to some of the "higher-ups."

When the scandal in the department first appeared with the suspension of Sergeant Cole. It was predicted that the investigation would involve some of the detectives, police captains and sergeants.

"I have nothing whatever to say at this time." said a police captain yes-terday, who is known to be among those members of the department clasthose members of the department tas-sifted by Mayor Rushlight as "unde-sirable." "If the Mayor or the mem-bers of the Police Committee have any charges against me, let them present them. I will then have something to say in my defense and it will be in-teresting, too."

Civil Service Not Liked.

Aside from ridding the department of a number of its members, who are regarded as crooked or inefficient by Mayor Rushlight, there are good reasons to suspect that one of the real purposes of the investigation is to axious the rolls department from c.vii. purposes of the investigation is to axempt the police department from civil Branch From East Eightieth to Mount Hood Road Asked.

Construction of an electric rallway branch between East Eightieth street and the Mount Hood Railway Company's line along Villa avenue, con-necting the Mount Hood Railway with the Montaville branch of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, is urged by the Montavilla Board of Trade and residents along Villa avenue. Petitions have been signed rapidly by residents of Montavilla and on the avenue asking the City Council to grant the franchise for the connecting track between the street railroad systems. The Montavilla Board of Trade in-dersed the movement at its last meeting and appointed a committee to ap-pear before the Council committee having the subject in charge and urge favorable consideration of the fran-

Last Sunday more than 1990 tickets were sold for the excursions to Buil Run over the Mount Hood Railroad, and most of the passengers walked from East Eight'eth street to the depot at East Eighty-ninth street. Mr. Searies said that the extension of this branch would be a great benefit to the territory east of Montavilla.

L. F. Weaver, Stockholder Sued for $1000 by Hotel Company, Makes Reply.

PLEDGE BROKEN, ALLEGED

Defendant Declares He Promised to Pay, Belleving Annex Was to Be Built and That Manager Was to Stay at Post.

In reply to the plaintiffs in the suit recently brought against him for his alleged failure to pay for his stock subscription in the Bowers Hotel Company, L. F. Weaver yesterday declared that he did not solicit H. C. Bowers for the purchase of stock, as Mr. Bowers declared, but that Mr. Bowers came to his office and asked him to buy, that promises were made that an eight or nine-story annex was to be erected to the hotel, then known as the Nortonia, that he was made to believe that Mr. Bowers was to continue in the management of the hotel for at least seven years and that soon after the stock had been subscribed Mr. Bowers signed a contract to manage the Multnomah Hotel, now being built. Furthermore, Mr. Weaver asserted, that in his opinion the lease of the Nortonia to the Bowers Hotel Company was incidental to the sale of the building.

"If Mr. Bowers was correctly quoted in The Oregonian of Wednesday, he said that my investment in the Bowers Hotel Company was not solicited, but that it hunted him up and solicited and subscription in the Bowers Hotel Com-

Hotel Company was not solicited, but that I hunted him up and solicited an opportunity to invest in the corpora-tion, and that I did so with the full knowledge of its affairs." declared Mr.

Weaver.

"The facts are that about February 25 last, Mr. Bowers called on me at my office on East Morrison street, but not at my invitation. He had with him the subscription list for the capital stock of the Bowers Hotel Company and asked me to become a stockholder. He told me that he had been looking for a hotel of his own, and had finally made arrangements that suited him, and had entered into a contract as manager of the new hotel for a term of years, and I think he told me it was for seven years, or may have been ten years.

"He also said that negotiations were about completed for the erection of an eight or nine story annex on the 100 by 100 space immediately south of the hotel building and fronting on Washington street; that the negotiations were being held up on account of a lease on the corner held by a salcon which occupied the premises, but that this would in a short time be out of the way. He further said that he expected to make the Bowers Hotel the leading hotel of the city, and that when his annex was completed he would have his annex was completed he would have as fine a hotel as there was in Port-land. He told me that the stock would pay 10 per cent dividends, and called my attention to the list of stockholders, which I agreed with him, was as good a list of names as could year well be which a agreed with mim, was as good a list of names as could very well be got together. "On June 1, Mr. Bowers wrote a let-ter to his stockholders, one of whom called my attention to it. This letter set forth that the Multnomah Hotel Company offered him a position as man-ager of the new building being con-structed and said that all of the stock-holders of the Bowers Hotel Company holders of the Bowers Hotel Company to whom he had talked and explained the situation were perfectly willing that he should accept the proposal made, and that he was anxious to place it before those with whom he had not had an opportunity of talking to personally, that they would understand his disposition to co-operate with them and his disposition not to have so large a personal advantage lost (meaning by this, I suppose, the advantage of the Mult-nomah Hotel Company). The letter further said that the contract offered was to continue for 10 years, and was a very desirable one, much more de-sirable than could ever be expected from the Bowers Hotel Company, even "Failing to find any substantiation of the statement made to me by Mr. Bowers that the eight or nine-story annex was to be built, and his contract of managership, which was to be for a term of years seeming to be likely to terminate, I did not feel that my subscription to the capital stock bad here obtained properly, and on the my subscription to the capital stock had been obtained properly, and on the advice of my attorney I refused to make payments.

Street Committee to Hear Property Owners First.

$1.85 PRICE IS OPPOSED

C. A. Bigelow Would Throw Out Offers Unless Landholders Demand Work at High Cost. Tuesday Meeting Called.

The street committee of the Executive Board decided at its meeting yesterday to defer awarding of several contracts for street property owners in the districts affected are heard.

C. A. Bigelow, a member of the committee, objected to awarding any contracts where the price is $1.85 a square yard, as he said he considers it exorbitant. He would be in favor of resetting the bids, and recommending to the Council that new proceedings be started, he said, unless the property owners demand the improvements at the prices quoted by the contractors in the blds. This meeting, when property owners will be given a hearing, will be held in the Council Chamber at the City Hall next Tuesday night.

One of the streets to be improved is Clackamas, from the east side of Hol-laday Addition to East Twenty-first street. The Pacific Bridge Company bid $418 for this work, the base price being $1.85 a square yard.

Kellaher Is Opponent. Dan Kellaher, who has property in this section, entered a protest against the awarding of the contract. "I want the committee to reject that bid and have the City Council rescind the improvement," he said. "The conthe improvement," he said. "The contractors are getting entirely too much money for laying pavement. The bid is excessive. This pavement should be laid for $1 a square yard. People are waking up to the fact that it is the man with the patented pavement that controls the bid. It is up to the City Engineer to figure on this. Let him fix a price that will show a fair living profit and save the property owners 50 per cent. The property owners don't per cent. The property owners don't want to be kangarooed. The low cost of asphalt and crushed rock will sur-prise you. It is to be hoped that we will have better bids under the new paying law. If the City Engineer figures out the cost of the asphalt, crushed rock and labor, this administration will surprise the city by the saving in paying."

Many Improvements Listed.

The improvements which will be discussed Tuesday night are:
East Yamhill, from East Forty-second to East Forty-fifth streets, lowest bid, Consolldated Contract Company, 47,377; Division street, East Forty-first to East Sixtieth streets, Pacific Bridge Company, 41,414; Denver Streets to East Sixtieth streets, Pacific Bridge Company, $6,1414; Denver avenue, Brainard tract to Killingsworth avenue, Pacific Bridge Company, $16,1812; East Forty-fourth, Forty-fith, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Lincoln and Harrison streets; East Thirty-second street, from Hawthorne to Market, Consolidated Contract Company, $6,351; Borthwick street, from Russell to Stanton, Warren Construction Company, $9,141; Brooklyn street, from East Twenty-sixth to East Thirty-first streets, and others streets in Waverleigh Heights, Warren Construction Company, $8,725; Thurman street, from north boundary Willamette Heights to east boundary of Blythswood; Corbett street, in Terwilliger Homestead, fill of guleh in South Portland, Portland Concrete Pite & Equipment Company, $24,452.90; Clackamas, street, from east line of Holladay Addition to East Twenty-first street, Pacific Bridge Company, $4,181.

Big Sum Set Aside.

The street committee decided year terday to award $118.274.69 in contracts for street improvements. Part of this is for grading, and part for hard-sur-face pavement. The bids for the im-provement of East Flanders and other streets were rejected. The Pacific

Bridge Company bid $21,781 for this Bridge Company bid $21,731 for this work.

The Oregon Independent Paving Company put up a fight to obtain the contract for putting down hard surface pavement on Garfield, Mallory, Emerson and Sumner streets, saying that the property-owners are demanding pavement at once. The bid was $21,645, the base price being $1.85 a square yard. Mr. Day, representing the paving company, consented to a reduction to $1.75 a square yard, although remarking that he did not approve of the "coercive" methods of the committee. The contract calls for finishing the work in three months from the time the contract is signed.

The delay occasioned by the street tract is signed.

The delay occasioned by the street car company failing to lay its tracks and thereby preventing paving was an object of complaint. Members of the committee thought the traction company ought to be forced to put down the tracks so as not to hinder pavents. ment of the streets. It was explained that steel rails cannot always be ob-tained in the quantity demanded on short notice.
