Dr. Wiley left the Agricultural Department one day at 4 o'clock to go to Boston. As soon as he returned to Washing ton and learned of the action, Dr. Wiley said he wrote to Secretary Wil-son appealing to him from the decision and declaring that the health of the people, particularly invalids, to whom food juices are often prescribed, was seriously threatened by the decision, and that the Board of Food and Drug Inspection had no right to overrule the three Secretaries.
