Court Reopens Suit to Annul Marriage of Mrs. Taylor to Millionaire.

WOMAN SEEKS ALIMONY

Legal Battle by Former Wife to Compel Unwilling Spouse to Pay Her $2500—Monthly Maintenance to Follow.

OREGON CITY, Or., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Circuit Judge Eakin today reopened the suit for the annulment of the marriage of Charles D. Taylor, the millionaire miner, formerly of Goldfield, and Minnie N. Taylor, who is seeking maintenance of $2500 monthly. The case will now be tried on its merits.

Attorneys Brownell and Stone, for the plaintiff, immediately filed notice that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court. Mrs. Taylor's attorney, Flegel & Reynolds, of Portland, filed an answer to the complaint denying most of the allegations made by Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Taylor, soon after selling his mine at Goldfield for $1,500,000, married the woman who now sues him. She alleges that he abandoned her while touring Europe, leaving her with only 40 cents. The annulment was obtained in the Circuit Court here last September, and soon afterward Mrs. Taylor filed suit for maintenance at her home in Sams, Ore. She alleges that at that time she did not know that her husband had obtained the annulment.

Intemperance is Denied.

In her answer she denies that she was not temperate and moral when she and Mr. Taylor were married in 1894. Unless the decision of Judge Eakin is reversed by the Supreme Court the case will be called for trial here at the September term of court and much sensational testimony is expected to be introduced. Mr. Taylor has announced that he will fight to the last to prevent paying the big alimony asked by Mrs. Taylor.

In giving his decision Judge Eakin said that the decree of annulment is still in force and will remain so unless Mrs. Taylor wins her suit for maintenance. Mrs. Taylor told recently that she was married in Portland in 1894 when she was 18 years of age. She was heavily in debt, but had mining prospects. She denied that her husband had given her a mansion as a wedding present and declared that he spent little money on her. She admitted that he gave her $4000 with which to build a home for her mother.

Honeymoon Days Recalled.

"That was in our honeymoon days," she said. "But soon after I found that Mrs. Mounsey Smith, alias Mrs. Palmer, was living in a real mansion for which she paid $10,000. She also paid $10,000 for furniture in Bristol, England, with which to furnish this mansion. Taylor, I found, was heavily in debt. I lived in immediately after deserting me in Munich, Germany, where he left me with no money. On receiving money from America I went to investigate the cause of this desertion, and found he was infatuated with another woman. "Charlie Taylor swore that I am a drunkard. That would be a joke were it not so cruel in him to say this about one whom he knows so well never tasted a drop of liquor until her marriage. Even after our marriage I was never intoxicated. I am a very temperate woman."

Mr. Taylor, who has lived in Clackamas County for some time, declines to make any statement regarding his marriage, other than that he wants the matter settled in the courts.

POLICE SAVE MOB VICTIM

Rope Tied About Neck of Negro Insulting Springfield Woman.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—As a climax to the excitement that prevailed in this city last night after the threatened mobbing of Charles Hardin, who was found beating his wife earlier in the evening, a negro accused of insulting a woman was taken to the crowd shortly after midnight and marched down the street with a rope about his waist toward the river. The mob was intercepted by the police, who induced them to release the negro, who left only a streak of dust in the middle of the road as he disappeared in the darkness. The negro was from Eugene, where he had worked as a window washer for several months. He has insulted women in this city several times, and was found in the city after the mob had finished handling the wife-beater rather roughly.

Conroy lived for about 12 hours after the accident, and for part of that time he was able to converse with those about him. He said that he was standing on the log and started to set the gun on the ground, when the explosion hit him and his face nearly off. An inquest will be held tomorrow, but suicide is not suspected. Conroy was 27 years old. It is believed that his father lives in Portland, but his address is not known here.

OREGON HAILED BY CALIFORNIA SONS

Train Bearing Big Astoria Delegation Arrives in City Early Today.

TRIUMPHAL TRIP MADE

Leaders in Panama Exposition Tell Harvest of Goodwillship in Pacific States—Co-operation to Mark Advancement of Event.

HORN BROOK, Cal., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—On board Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco's special train en route to Astoria Centennial—Headed by Captain William Mason, president of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, under whose auspices the Panama Pacific International Exposition excursion to Astoria's Centennial celebration, is given, four directors of the exposition company and leading representatives of civic organizations of San Francisco, are journeying to the north and are scheduled to arrive in Astoria at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Prominent Men Coming.

In the party are M. H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and vice-president of the exposition company and Directors Frank L. Brown, M. J. Brandenstein and Charles S. Pea, general passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific company and other representatives of the 1915 exposition.

"The Panama Pacific International Exposition which will be held in our city in 1915," said Captain Mason today, "will not only have a tendency to develop the West, but cement the friendship now existing between the states of the Pacific Coast. Our people are intensely interested in the coming exposition and we expect the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and other western states to be represented by exhibiting their products to the world, through the medium of the 1915 International Exposition."

Train Attracts Crowds.

M. H. DeYoung, as vice-president of the Exposition Company, extended the following greeting to the citizens of the Northwest: "Keen with anticipation of enjoying every minute of our stay in our sister state and among our friends, the San Francisco delegation is speeding on its way northward. We all feel that we are under a great obligation to the people of Oregon for their continuous interest in our great exposition. The officers of the board of regents in celebration at Astoria for the event it celebrates one of the great milestones in the development and acquisition of the Pacific Coast."

Shipping Factors Touched.

"The Astoria celebration and the Panama Pacific International Exposition commemorate historic events. The future importance of Astoria as a shipping port for the commerce of the Pacific Ocean will be better understood as a result of the Astoria celebration. This celebration should attract general interest toward the tremendous possibilities of the Columbia River region. The product of this vast country will naturally find its way to the sea through Portland and Astoria. As Oregon has always co-operated with California in all her undertakings and responded nobly to San Francisco's appeal for help at the time of our great disaster in 1906, California is glad now to co-operate with Oregon in celebrating this great Centennial, knowing that Oregon will take as deep interest in the California celebration of the completion of the Panama Canal in 1915."

Prisoner Admits Murder.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 17.—Mike Carino, who is charged with having shot and killed his brother-in-law, Antonio Lorenzo, in this city, yesterday admitted the crime. Carino was arrested today at Everett by two Tacoma city detectives and brought to this city. Carino admitted his identity and told the officers that he had intended giving himself up as soon as he had earned enough money to employ an attorney to defend him. He admitted the crime, but declared it was done in self-defense. A two man had quarreled over a debt of $40 which Carino owed Lorenzo.

several other prominent Astorians and San Franciscans. Later in the day the Californians will be taken on chartered steamers for a cruise about the harbor and to the mouth of the river. The programme for the evening will include an illuminated historical parade, depicting the discovery of the Golden West, when a number of floats, illustrating incidents in connection with the early history of the West will be in line. Following this the visitors will be guests of honor at informal receptions at the Irving and Elks' clubs.

The programme is being arranged with the idea of showing Astoria's sincere appreciation of the visit from so distinguished a body of Californians and to also voice her hearty co-operation in support of the coming Panama Exposition in 1915.

This was Salem and Southern Oregon day at the Centennial and the Capital City was represented by a delegation of fully 350 persons who arrived on the steamers Hassalo and Harvest Queen and by train. At 10 o'clock an informal reception was held at the Centennial headquarters in honor of the visitors. Mayor Henderson welcomed the guests.

Following the reception the visitors were escorted to the exposition grounds and after viewing the Makon on chartered steamers for a cruise about the lower harbor, including a visit to the jetty and to Sand Island, where the "Four-Flusher" sailing operations. During the afternoon there were kite-flying contests on the hill adjoining the City Park in which there were a number of entries.

The prize for making the highest flight was awarded to Joe Anderson, the height being 2000 feet.

Husband's Lawyer Calls Wife "Four-Flusher," and Her Attorneys Respond by Praising Man.

BAKER, Or., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—The argument in the divorce suit of Sidney C. Love vs. Marjorie Burnes Love began before Circuit Judge William Smith today. John L. Rand, of Baker, opened the argument for the city in 1915, said that some of the proceedings under the name of "Four-Flusher," and admitted that the evidence tended to show that Love—first, because he had lost his fortune and second, because of his physical condition was such that she never could be a wife, except in name.

The opening argument for the defense was made by the attorney for Hyland, who took much time in the explanation of minor details and the domestic life of the couple. He praised Love's good ability and admitted that the evidence tended to show that he had been a good husband in his home. He questioned Love's veracity, and said that some of his testimony seemed far from the truth. It is expected that Attorney Mallory, of Portland, will take up the argument for the defense this morning, and attorneys for both sides said tonight that the argument would be finished by tomorrow night.
