MADERO CONFERS WITH REBELLIOUS

Disgruntled Insurrectos Waited On by Mexican Ruler Near Tehautepec.

HUERTA'S PLAN DELAYED

Leader Declares Zapata's Men in Yautepec Agree Not to Resist Peaceable Occupation of Town in District.

TEHAUTEPEC, Morelos, Mexico Aug. II.—Again Francisco I. Madero has induced Zapata and his rebels to prepare for discharges. He arrived on a special train yesterday, passed the afternoon conferring with the disgruntled insurrectos and is awaiting the result of Lieutenant Gonzales' conference with General Huerta, into whose camp Madero had sent lym.

Rebels brought the assurance of Huera, whose troops are encamped one hour's march from here, that he would make no immediate movement on Madero announced that the Zapatas in Yautepec had agreed not to resist the peaceful occupation of the town, which will be garrisoned for the present by General Almas' rurales and probably by a battalion of Zapadores. He declared that Zapata's men would be mobilised in Cuautla and its environs at once and that mustering out of the forces would be begun imme-

Before leaving, Madero made arrangements for the commissary department of Hueria's forces to obtain needed supplies. Colonel Casso Loper's column remains at Jonacatepec.

MORELOS REBELS ARE CURBED

Mexican Government Stations Soldiers in All Towns.

MEXICO City, Aug. 21.—Order will be re-established in the State of More-los before the federal troops are withdrawn. They are to occupy the various towns now held by the Capatistas. The government intends to follow a definite outline in dealing with Zapata and his rebels in Morelos. The upris-ing must sud even if it becomes necessary to populate the state with sol-diers, it is said. Madero's intimations that General Macero's intimations that General Huerta treacherously moved forward his column, are regarded as unfounded and little attention is paid in official circles to the suggestion that General Bernardi Reyes is conniving with army officers to bring about unnecessary strife. The imputations are indignant-ly denied by General Reyes.

SPRINGFIELD HAS PLAN

City Engineer's Scheme Would Prevent Settling of Car Tracks.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., Aug. 31.—(Spe-cial.)—In the plans and specifications of the City Engineer for the paving of Main street with hard-surface pavement, presented at the City Council meeting tonight, a novel plan was included for preventing the settling of the streetcar tracks and the separation of the rails from the pavement with the usual warping and disfiguring of the surface. The Engineer proposed to lined with a concrete box. In this the tracks and ties will lie. A drain in the hottom will carry away the water. In this way the rails can be kept in permanent contact with the pavement.
It is the invention of the City Engineer,
He has also prepared the specifica-

Apparatus was sent to the Taylor-street dock, but there was no fire. A few minutes later the same man telephoned headquarters and asked man telephoned headquarters and asked why the department had not responded to his call. He was told a company had been sent out on the call to Taylor-street dock. The man then said he wanted the department at the Alderstreet dock. The department was then sent to Alder street, but there was no fire.

The matter will be turned over to the police department for investigation, and if the person who turned in the alarm can be found, he will be vigorously prosecuted.

Hillsboro Citizens Voluntarily Build

Cement Sidewalks

HILLSBORO. Or. Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Hillsboro has undertaken to build cement sidewalks on what is probably a more extensive scale than any city in the state outside of Portland. A novel feature of the movement is that it is entirely voluntary, and not the result of condemnation of old walks. The work has been in progress little more than a month, and much new walk more than a month, and much new walk has been laid and a considerable area staked out or under construction contractors have one stretch of 400 feet to lay for E. B. Tongue, which will be taken up when the work now on hand is completed.

NEAR-GENERAL ALARM TURNED IN FOR BEDDING BLAZE.

One Chief, Three Assistants and Every West Side Engine and Truck Respond to Frenzied Calls.

Pifteen fire companies, the entire quipment of the West Side, and one equipment of the West Side, and one company from the East Side, were called out last night because a bed quilt was on fire in a residence at 231 Caruthers street. Three fire boxes were pulled and there was one telephone call for the department besides. The telephone call came in first. Then an alarm rang in from box 75, at Second and Sheridan streets, followed to boxes 31 at First and Meade, and 124 by boxes 31, at First and Meade, and 124 at First and Hall. Fire apparatus from all parts of the West Side dashed at top speed to the different boxes and then wandered about in the streets,

IT'S A REAL BOYS' BANK

New York Evening Post.
On the walls of a school bank in Manhattan, may be seen the signs. "Don't spend, but save," "Don't let your money burn a hole in your pocket—put it in the bank," "A penny saved is a penny earned," and many other thrifty mottoes.

The bank is situated in a reconstructed basement lumber room. From its

From its iron-grated windows and its adding machine to the certified stamp of the New York Clearing-House, this schoolboys' bank presents the exact reproduction of a well-organized metropolitan banking house. All the officers iron-grated windows and its adding machine to the certified stamp of the New York Clearing-House, this school-boys' bank presents the exact reproduction of a well-organized metropolitan banking house. All the officers and directors are boys all less than 15 years old. Yet they carry on the management of the bank with the effici-

Abraham Mandelstam, departmental instructor in mathematics in the school, founded and organized the bank, with the assistance of Edward Page, the principal of the school. Mr. Mandelstam first conceived the idea as a practical efficiency aid to the theoretical study of banking. The concrete working out of the principles of banking was intended to supplement his teaching of that part of mathematics. Now that the pupils have mastered all of the mechanical details of the workings of a bank, his aim has changed. Now he seeks to accomplish two things: first to satisfy the play instinct of the boy, through the actual pleasure which he gets in depositing his pennies. The boy feels willing to part with his pen-he gets in depositing his pennies. The boy feels willing to part with his pennies because he "gets his money's worth" of pleasure by the experience which he gains in the process of depositing them.

In the second place, the boy is taught to form the habit of saving, not for the miserly habit of hoarding, but that a larger sum may be invested for better returns than can be obtained for scattered pennies. Thus they learn the lesson that present deprivation pays, when it is the price of greater future satisfaction.

Several boys have saved enough pennies to buy themselves a new suit of clothes. The bank has its own stationery, showing the officers, and a capital of $200. The system of the bank is as follows: A boy brings his money to the bank (perhaps it is only a cent), and receives a regular bank book and a light brown deposit slip. The cashler takes the money and enters the amount in the book. The depositor passes in his deposit slip. The amount is entered in his book and the slip is passed on to be entered by the bookkeeper on a ledger card. The withdrawal slips are light green in color.

At the present time there are in the bank more than 300 depositors, or 40 per cent of all the boys in the school. This number is constantly increasing. When any boy's account reaches $5 he may transfer it, if he chooses, to the Yorkville Bank, where it draws the usual rate of interest. Several boys have saved snough pen-usual rate of interest.

Money is lent to depositors at the rate of 6 per cent per year. Many a boy, temporarily embarrassed, gives a promissory note, indorsed by some depositor, and tides himself over a threat-positor, and tides nimself over a threat-ened financial panic.

The bank has been so successful and has given so much valuable training to the boys that there is a movement to organize a chain of pupils' banks and perhaps a bank in every school.
